Wipe Out 14,000 Japs in Guinea Drive

AUSSIES BATTLE 5 MONTHS; JOIN YANK INVADERS

Drive for Madang Believed Next.

ALLIED HDQ. IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Feb. 11 [Friday]—(AP).—Victorious conclusion of a rugged New Guinea jungle campaign which trapped 14,000 Japanese and wiped out the "great bulk" of them was announced today by Gen. MacArthur.

Australian veterans of African battles climaxed a five months' drive over the Huon peninsula's treacherous terrain by effecting a juncture yesterday morning with American invasion forces near Saidor—putting both in position to thrust toward Madang.

The Aussies and Yanks joined forces at Old Yagomi, 14 miles southeast of Saidor. The Aussies had pushed 150 miles since the capture of Finschhafen last Oct. 2, fighting over towering mountains and fording 60 streams.

The Americans landed from the sea at Saidor on Jan. 2, thereby squeezing the Japanese between them and the Australians, who were then about 50 miles away. Many of these Japanese were drowned when PT boats sank the barges on which they tried to escape. Others fled into the mountains and starved to death along the jungle trails.

Drive on Madang Likely.

The juncture of the forces probably signalizes a drive on the coastal base of Madang, about 60 miles by coastline north of Saidor. Flyers already have reported indications that the Japanese may have abandoned that coastal base.

Headquarters, in announcing the ground success today, also reported air blows at Japan's two principal southwest Pacific air bases of Rabaul, New Britain, and Wewak, New Guinea.

An air raid also was made on Alexishafen, air support base for Madang and Kavieng, New Ireland, staging depot for Rabaul.

No Interception at Rabaul.

In reporting the new strike at Rabaul, headquarters said the 13th airforce met no interception. On other recent raids upwards of 60 Japanese planes have challenged the Solomons based attackers.

Avenger torpedo planes made the attack before dawn on Tuesday against Lakunai airdrome. It was the 9th raid on Rabaul in 11 days. On the same day Catalinas destroyed 14 enemy supply barges near Wewak.

The New Guinea developments were the latest of a series indicating that Japan's defensive positions are crumbling on the southern flank of the ocean corridor leading from the Bismarck sea to the Philippines.

FEAR AIR LINER DOWN WITH 24 PERSONS ABOARD

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 11 [Friday]—(AP).—An American air liner, carrying 24 persons, is overdue from Little Rock to Memphis and "we're assuming it's down," Station Manager J. O. Conner reported early today.

The plane left Little Rock at 10:50 p. m. Chicago war time and was due here at 11:38 p. m. Aboard were 21 passengers, Conner said, and three crew members.

Conner added: "We think it's in the Mississippi river 15 miles south of Memphis. A man who works for the United States engineers just gave us this report." The plane was last heard from at 11:31 p. m. and, Conner said, "no trouble was reported then."

The coast guard is being called in to search for the plane.

Calls in Vain for $11,000 Winnetka Snow Shoveler

At a recent war bond auction in Winnetka, William B. Watkins, attorney living at 381 Elder lane in the suburb, bought $11,000 worth of bonds for the privilege of having his walks cleared of snow by Perry Dunlap Smith, headmaster at North Shore Country Day school. At the height of yesterday's snowstorm Watkins telephoned Smith's home. Smith, he learned, is in New York.

Lt. Col. W. A. Miller.

AN AMERICAN BOMBER BASE, Somewhere in Australia, Feb. 5 [Delayed].—With tears in his eyes, a young Indiana aviator, a member of a bombing force flying the longest missions in the world, today told a story which his commander said was the epic of the southwestern Pacific air war. It included a gunner's reading from the Bible over the intercommunications system—a reading punctuated by bullets that finally silenced the gunner.

"Extreme bravery, gallantry far beyond the call of duty, and heroism beyond the normal conception of human endurance" were the words the commander, Lt. Col. William A. Miller of Chicago, a former American Airlines pilot, used to describe the flight in which seven of 11 men died.

The target was Pomelaa, a nickel producing town far up in the Celebes. It meant a 2,100 mile flight, an almost unheard of distance in other theaters of war, but easy for this bomber, which has made raids up to 2,800 miles.

Only Four Planes Get Thru.

The Indianan, Lt. Robert Jones of Fort Wayne, was navigator on the Golden Gator, a four motored Liberator bomber.

"It was our 16th mission, and we had a nice ride to Pomelaa," said Jones, "except that only four planes got there. Mechanical trouble turned the others back.

"Our skipper, Capt. Frederick S. Hinze Jr. of San Francisco, Cal., picked out a 4,000 ton ship in the harbor. We made two runs at it. On the second we scored a direct hit and Bob, the tail gunner [Staff Sgt. Robert Wolf of Centerline, Mich.], saw it catch fire. Three other planes raked mine equipment and docks and we took off for home, forming a tight diamond. We were the rear ship.

Meet a Flock of Japs.

"Then a whole flock of Jap fighters came up. They attacked the ship ahead of us on our left. One motor caught fire and the plane went into a steep dive. We followed it down to protect it from further attack. We sure hoped the pilot would pull her out. He was Capt. John Farrington of Denver, Colo. He was one of the best liked guys, running close to his navi-

ALLIES' ANZIO LINES HOLD IN 6 NAZI ATTACKS

ALLIED HDQ., Algiers, Feb. 10 (AP).—Superior German forces slashed with rising power at the 30 mile perimeter of the allied beachhead near Rome in the last 24 hours, apparently probing for a weak point against which they might throw an all-out assault on American and British troops who have been fighting almost continuously for 16 days.

The violence of the Nazi artillery fire was increasing and dispatches said advanced allied forces were being supplied only at great risk. Even tho the allied air force struck with overwhelming power at the enemy's immediate communications, with fighters operating from a landing strip on the beachhead itself, the Germans still appeared to be massing reënforcements of men and tanks.

Fight Off 6 Nazi Attacks.

There was no promise of relief for the landing forces from Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's main 5th army, which for a week has been stymied within the ruins of Cassino, 50 airline miles away. Bitter house-to-house fighting still is in progress there, with the Germans resisting to the death. Monte Cassino, northwest of the town and the key to its defenses, remained in the enemy's possession at latest report.

The Germans smashed at the beachhead at six points yesterday, with their fiercest attack aimed at British positions north and west of Carroceto [Aprilia], 10 miles north of Anzio. Three thrusts were made against American positions west of Cisterna, Nazi strong point on the Appian way 13 miles northeast of Anzio. For the first time, the enemy also probed allied defenses near the extreme ends of the beachhead, both north and south of Anzio.

Altho the attacks were fought off without serious loss of ground and the Americans gained some ground west of Cisterna, an allied spokesman said the position of the beachhead was a defensive one at present.

Bombers Nip Nazi Attack.

In one of yesterday's most spectacular blows at German forces investing the beachhead, a group of American Boston bombers caught a large force of Nazis massing for an attack in a ravine near the front and did terrible execution with fragmentation bombs, effectively disrupting the incipient thrust.

Allied pilots reported, however, that Nazi troops in the area were showing an unusual disposition to stand and fight attacking planes instead of fleeing.

As the fighting inside Cassino went into its seventh fiery day, American and German tanks engaged in duels at street intersections and doughboys used knives, tommy-guns and grenades in close combat with Nazis concealed in dugouts and ruined buildings. The Germans still cling to approximately three-fourths of the town, tho dispatches reported slight American progress inside Cassino.

British Score Slight Gains.

The Nazis counter-attacked both north and south of Cassino, but were repulsed.

The British reported slight gains three miles northeast of Castelforte, on the Garigliano river front.

On the 8th army front [along the Adriatic] a strong enemy patrol advanced in the Guardiagrele area and was beaten back only after hours of fighting.

The allied air forces, in addition to supporting the beleaguered Anzio beachhead forces, hit three merchant vessels near Corsica and one in the harbor at Nice, southern France.

EXPECT STORM TO TAPER TODAY

8 Inch Snowfall Likely; Near Zero Tonight.

Heavy snowfall which swept into Chicago yesterday in the teeth of a driving wind is scheduled to reach a depth of between 8 and 10 inches by noon today before tapering off, H. A. Downs, weather forecaster, predicted last night.

The official weather bureau reading at 7:30 p. m. showed 3 inches of snow, but Downs said the actual fall probably was closer to 4 or 5 inches. He explained that the high wind prevented an accurate measurement on the airport instruments.

Near Zero Tonight.

The temperature, which had been expected to drop to 5 above by this morning, probably will go no lower than 15 degrees, Downs said, but it will get no higher during the day. Temperatures near zero are scheduled tonight. It will be continued cold tomorrow, with slowly rising temperature Sunday.

Hundreds of automobiles were stalled along north shore roads. Seventy-three stalled cars were counted along the Outer drive between Oak street and Foster avenue, a distance of five miles, shortly after midnight. Park police closed the Outer drive from 23d st. to 53d st. because of drifts, rerouting traffic to Michigan av. and South Park way.

Seven pupils at the village and farm school on Saunders rd. near Willow rd., ranging in age from 7 to 12, were compelled to spend the night in the school last night when the school bus broke down. Twelve other pupils, who left the school at 6 p. m. in a station wagon, reached home hours late after the vehicle stalled in drifts on Saunders rd. and then was caught in a traffic jam on Waukegan rd. near Willow rd.

Sisters at the Holy Ghost convent at Waukegan and Willow roads offered refuge to women and children among passengers of approximately 100 cars and trucks stalled in drifts on Waukegan rd.

County Schools Closed.

Authorities said Chicago schools will be open today but Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools, said county schools will be closed.

The Chicago Motor club reported it was swamped with calls for service, and warned motorists to leave cars in their garages and use other transportation facilities.

The surface lines had 240 pieces of equipment at work keeping the tracks clear. Principal delay to street cars was caused by trucks stalled on the tracks. Elevated trains ran several minutes late during the rush hour yesterday, but were reported on schedule last night. Chicago Motor coach buses were running behind schedule.

The entire middle west was in the grip of the storm which swept Chicago. The snow covered a broad area from Montana to Michigan, extending as far south as Kansas, and the cold wave was expected to extend into Oklahoma and Texas, with freezing weather as far south as the lower Rio Grande.

The snow, following a protracted drouth, provided a protective cover for winter wheat and will replenish subsoil moisture needed for the spring planting.

2 in Gas, Murder Get Life; Women on Jury Tell Why

Richard Austin.

The first all-woman jury ever qualified to impose the death penalty in Cook county yesterday turned down the plea of the prosecutors that it send Edward Damiani and Alvin Krause, each 29, to the electric chair. Last night the majority of the women said they did not order the defendants to the chair because the killers did not intend to commit murder when they went forth to rob.

The jury ordered the men sent to prison for life. Most of the women said they favor the death penalty but "not in this case." Nine of them explained they believed life imprisonment was all the crime—the poison gas murder of Miss Agnes Olsen in a currency exchange booth at 311 N. Pulaski rd. July 3—merited. Two held out until the final ballot for sending the men to the chair. Two others believed a life sentence was too great a punishment. On the final ballot the representatives of the two extremes capitulated to the view of the other eight who from the first argued for life sentences.

"Made to Order for Chair."

"All I want to say about the verdict is to repeat what I said last night when I told the jury that this case was made to order for the electric chair," said Richard Austin, assistant state's attorney. "The death penalty for these men was clearly indicated."

But the women — housewives, mothers, stenographers, war plant workers—disagreed. Some said they could not vote for a death sentence because the men had not intended to kill Miss Olsen, but merely to rob. Nine gave their views and all said they believed the punishment was fair. All agreed that Krause, husky, good looking gambler, was as guilty as Damiani.

Damiani, the short, dark former prize fighter who went to college and learned something of chemistry, confessed on the witness stand that he sprayed the lethal gas into Miss Olsen's cage. But he protested that he did not know it would kill. And he asserted that Krause was not with him.

Punishment Main Issue.

Miss Emily Kasch, 26, a stenographer who lives at 1039 N. Lockwood av., foreman of the jury, said there never was any question of the men's guilt and that the hours of deliberation Wednesday night and yesterday were concerned solely with the degree of punishment.

"We all thought that Krause and Damiani were equally guilty and that both should have equal sentences," she said. "On the first ballot eight of us voted for life, two for the death penalty, and two for punishment less than life. We stayed that way until the fourth and final ballot. It was the first time any of us had been on a jury, but we got along all right."

The views of the other jurors:

MRS. CAMILLE DAVIS, 53, of 6211 N. Mozart st.—I was opposed to the death penalty because I didn't think the crime of these men was vicious enough to warrant it. They didn't go there with the intention of killing Miss Olsen. I think it is a good verdict. It will give them both a chance to get out of prison in later years and make amends.

Never for Death Penalty.

MRS. BERNICE BARTOSIK, 27, of 938 W. 52d st.—It was the first time I had ever been away from my 5 month old baby and my husband, and while I worried about them, it didn't interfere with my deliberations. I think we reached a fair verdict, because the evidence all pointed toward a life imprisonment sentence. I never was for the death penalty because that would have been too severe under the circumstances.

MRS. EMILY KAMINSKI, 28, of 3046 N. Drake av.—We considered all the evidence very carefully and

Accuses Actor of Violation of Mann Act

U. S. Atty. Carr.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 10 [Special].—Charlie Chaplin, filmdom's dean of comedians, was indicted by a federal grand jury late today for his treatment of youthful Joan Berry, his former drama protege, who charged he "railroaded" her out of town when she was about to become the mother of his baby.

The white haired English alien, now 54 years old, was charged with conspiring to deprive Miss Berry of her civil rights and violating the Mann act. Six others were indicted with him in the alleged plot to get the girl out of California. United States Atty. Charles H. Carr presented the case to the grand jury.

Could Get 23 Years.

Chaplin faces a maximum sentence of 23 years' imprisonment and fines totaling $26,000 on five counts. As he never has become a United States citizen in the more than 30 years he has lived here, conviction also might lead to his deportation.

His attorney said the multimillionaire actor-producer would surrender to the United States marshal on Monday. Bond was set at $1,000.

Trip to New York Cited.

The Mann act indictment, naming only Chaplin, accused him of transporting Miss Berry from Los Angeles to New York and back—two counts—"with the intent and purpose of having her engage in illicit sex relations," in October, 1942.

The conspiracy charges revolved about allegations that Miss Berry, 23, movie-struck girl from Brooklyn, N. Y., who came to Hollywood seeking a film career, was "floated" out of town after Chaplin's affection for her had cooled.

Twenty-two men on the grand jury, which concluded its hearings last week, but was called back today to vote the indictments, had heard a tearful Joan tell the story of her association with the middle aged actor up to the birth four months ago of the baby she claims is his. A blood test to determine if Chaplin could be the father will be held.

Three Civil Rights Charges.

The jurors returned three individual indictments under the civil rights statutes naming Chaplin and various other defendants with having conspired to force Miss Berry into the custody of the Beverly Hills police department in a plot to have her arrested for vagrancy, given a suspended sentence, and forced to leave the state.

However, she went only as far as Omaha, then returned here. On May 7, 1942, Durant is alleged to have called police, at Chaplin's request, and asked that Miss Berry be arrested at the Chaplin home as a parole violator. She was rearrested but was released when it was learned she was pregnant.

Another count charged Chaplin, Capt. White, and Radio Announcer Arden with conspiring to influence Judge Griffin to impose the sentence on Miss Berry for the purpose of deporting her from the state.

Any evidence to support a possible deportation charge against Chaplin has not been officially discussed. The actor has denied that he is a Communist, the occasion being an address he made here last Aug. 23 when he attended a gathering in honor of Mikhail Kalatozov, visiting envoy from the soviet film industry. He spoke in Chicago on Nov. 25, 1942, at a rally to collect money for Russian war relief, at which time he lauded Harry Bridges, accused Communist and alien CIO leader, and commented that "no longer is the world shocked at the word 'communism.'"

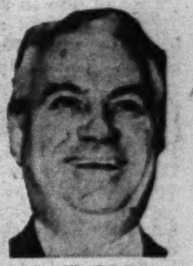
'44 DRIVE OPEN! G. O. P. VICTORY HAILED AS SURE

Bricker Prediction Brings Cheers.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



John W. Bricker.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Victory confident Republicans tonight formally launched their 1944 campaign at the first of some 2,000 Lincoln day dinners being held thruout the country this week-end.

More than 1,500 Republicans, constituting the largest and most enthusiastic G. O. P. rally held in the capital in a dozen years, widely cheered the prediction, made by Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, that the New Deal is headed for defeat in November.

Bricker, a leading contender for the Republican Presidential nomination, declared, in making the prediction, that he is more interested in defeating the New Deal philosophy of government than in occupying the White House.

Offers 6 Point Tax Policy.

He solemnly warned that the New Deal policy of spend, waste, borrow, and tax, if continued, will result in loss of autonomy by the states and the end of representative government and free enterprise, and will doom post-war reconstruction thruout the world.

At the same time he offered a six point program for a sound, constructive post-war tax policy as follows:

1. Simplification of tax laws and regulations.
2. Stability in laws so business need not fear changes and new theories.
3. Adherence to the principle that taxing power exists primarily to raise revenue and is not to be used as an undercover method of effecting social changes.
4. Leave adequate sources of revenue for state and local governments.

Encourage Private Enterprise.

5. Tax policies which will stimulate and encourage venture capital and private enterprise.
6. Reduction of taxes as soon as possible after victory.

The capital's observance of the birthday of Abraham Lincoln was held two days early to permit prominent Republicans to participate in the rally here and keep speaking engagements to address other party rallies over the nation on Feb. 12.

The dinner was held in the same room where apprehensive Democrats opened the fourth term drive almost three weeks ago at the $100 a plate Jackson day dinner. The price of the Lincoln day dinner was $5 a plate.

Rep. Robsion [R., Ky.] acted as toastmaster at the dinner, introducing Sen. Wallace [R., Me.] and Justice Francis E. Rivers, Negro jurist of New York, who delivered opening speeches extolling the life and policies of Lincoln and the policies of the Republican party.

Called Year of Decision.

The silver haired Bricker opened his address by asserting America faces a decision in this Presidential year more grave than at any time since Lincoln's day. A grave question confronts every voter and every legislative leader, he said.

"Shall we continue to march toward absolutism, or shall we preserve the free atmosphere which our people have breathed since our country was founded?" Bricker asked.

"In Lincoln's day the question was shall America remain a nation. In our day the question is shall the nation remain American.

"From the days of the ill starred NRA, our people have been bewildered and oppressed by the edicts and decrees of a power seeking government determined to be their master.

Asks Chance for All.

"The Republican party in the coming campaign will make its stand on a platform, 'to afford all an unfettered start and a fair chance in the race of life.'"

The governor, who cautiously avoided any semblance of seeking support for his own candidacy, defined the Republican party as the liberal party and the New Deal as reactionary, holding that the New Deal reaches back for century old foreign devices for extending its power and depriving the people of rights.

Bricker expressed resentment at President Roosevelt's effort to make "win the war" a political slogan, declaring the phrase became the watchword of every American after Pearl Harbor. He praised the Republican members for revitalizing congress during the war and for lack of partisanship in winning the war.

Fears Three Consequences.

In lashing New Deal philosophy, he said it is high time each citizen considers the three inevitable consequences of continuance of the present administration's loose fiscal policies.

"The first result," he said, "will be loss of autonomy of the state governments. This will occur when financial independence of state and local governments ends. The farther we follow the course of expanding federal expenditures and deficit financing, the less will be the resources available for state and local governments. There is a limit to the aggregate tax burden our economy can carry.

"The second result of continuing New Deal fiscal policies will be the loss of representative government and free enterprise. If we pursue deficit financing in the post-war period, we shall inevitably reach the point where, barring wholesale inflation, private enterprise will be unable to keep labor fully employed, making it necessary for the government to borrow more and more in the attempt to relieve unemployment.

Credit Ruin Predicted.

"But in that event those from whom the government must borrow will either be out of business or already taxed to such an extent that they will have no money to lend. Government credit will then be impaired. This happened in modern Italy and also in modern Germany. These Loreleized songs are invitations to ultimate national bankruptcy. This will mean an end to representative government and free enterprise in America.

"A third result of continuing New Deal fiscal policies would be the adverse effect on our participation in post-war international affairs. A nation which builds its own financial house upon the shifting sands will be too weak to help build an international house upon a solid rock."

11 HURT ON TRAIN HIT AS FREIGHT GOES BY SIGNAL

Pennsauken, N. J., Feb. 10 (AP).—A Pennsylvania railroad freight train crashed into a passenger train of the same line at a junction in Pennsauken township late today, injuring 11 persons.

Pennsylvania railroad officials said the 52 car freight "apparently went thru a stop signal" as it neared Hatch junction after crossing the Delaware river bridge from Pennsylvania.

The freight engine sidewiped the passenger locomotive, overturning it. The first coach of the three car Trenton to Camden local was also derailed.

TRUCKLOAD OF SUGAR STOLEN.

A truck loaded with 75 bags of sugar worth $400 was stolen from the rear of 115 N. Franklin st. while the driver, August Populorum, was making a delivery, he reported to police yesterday.

WARRIORS FROM CORREGIDOR JOIN DYESS IN PRISON

Fall of 'Rock' Crushes Hopes of Freedom.

This is the 13th instalment of the late Lt. Col. W. E. Dyess' story of life amid the barbarities of Japanese prison camps in the Philippines after the fall of Bataan. He was killed in an airplane crash on the west coast last Dec. 22 after his escape from the Japs and return to the United States.

BY LT. COL. W. E. DYESS,
As told to CHARLES LEAVELLE.

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

When the American officers and men who had been captured on Corregidor began arriving at O'Donnell prison camp in Tarlec province we learned the truth of what had happened on The Rock.

The Japs had retaliated swiftly when Maj. Gen. Edward P. King refused to surrender Corregidor along with Bataan on April 9, 1942. The general told the Japs that he did not have the authority. For almost a month the enemy gave The Rock a daily and nightly pasting.

Every day we could see and hear the bombers as they passed over O'Donnell camp on the way to and from Corregidor. The surrender came on May 6 and the Japs demanded of Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright that he also hand over the southern islands of the Philippines group, since, with the departure of Gen. MacArthur, Gen. Wainwright had become chief in command.

Massacre Thestened.

When Gen. Wainwright demurred, the Corregidor prisoners were massed in a seaplane hangar and the Japs let it be known they were being held as hostages; that they would be massacred unless all the islands were surrendered. Eventually, we were told, the general broadcast an appeal to the defenders of the southern islands asking that they lay down their arms "in the cause of humanity."

The prisoners were kept in their crowded and unsanitary prison 10 days. There was only one water hydrant in the place and no sanitary facilities. After Wainwright's appeal, all were loaded into boats and taken to the foot of Dewey boulevard, Manila.

When the boats still were in water shoulder deep, the prisoners were ordered to jump out and wade ashore. Thus bedraggled, they were forced to march thru the streets, exposed to the curses and abuse of Jap soldiers. One man, suffering from malaria and beri beri, died during the march.

Give Up Hope of Return.

The victims then were started on another march, to prison camps in the interior. When those of them destined for O'Donnell arrived, we bade farewell to our hopes of a return to the United States.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Mrs. Francis B. Sayre of Washington, D. C., a member of the organizing committee for the Bataan Foundation and Philippine Relief, referred to in a story from Washington in THE TRIBUNE yesterday, was incorrectly identified in one edition as the daughter of Woodrow Wilson. Her husband's first wife was Wilson's daughter.

During the last days at O'Donnell I was chosen to accompany a detail being sent to Clark field—the old home of the 21st Pursuit squadron. We were to clean up the wreckage in preparation for Jap soldiers who were to arrive later in the day.

When they [the Japs] came they let us pretty well alone. One officer, however, whose rank was equivalent to that of an American first lieutenant, seemed to take a liking to me and made me follow him around the rest of the day. He had fought at Singapore, in China, and on Bataan. He spoke some English and with the few Jap words I knew we could talk quite well.

Proud of His Sword.

He was proud of his sword which he repeatedly pulled half out of its scabbard. Each bit of conversation ended with this gesture. Then he would say:

I always would reply: "American soldiers on Bataan very, very hungry."

"Yaah!" he would say. "American soldier no good!"

Once I asked him what the Japs intended to do with all the prisoners they had taken in the islands. He laughed loudly, drew his sword and made a couple of decapitating motions with it.

He then asked me the value of various articles he had taken from American soldiers. While he was pulling them out I looked at one of his watches. It seemed familiar to me. When I got a better view of it I saw that it was mine—an air forces watch with a 24 hour dial I had bought on a flight to the island of Cebu. When he wanted to know how much it was worth I told him it cost only $10.

Takes Look at Map.

I kept up the conversation, however, because I wanted some news from him, having had none in six weeks or so. When he realized what I wanted to know he was eager to tell me his version of it. He grinned and pulled out a map. He said: "Japanese soldiers win everywhere. Very brave."

I almost fainted when I looked at the map. It showed the entire Pacific theater. Japanese flags had been drawn on Java, Sumatra, New Guinea, Australia, the Hawaiians, and the Aleutians. Knowing the enemy had crushed us by sheer weight of numbers and equipment on Bataan, I thought it possible they had taken the other possessions.

I must have shown my consternation because the Jap now grinned more broadly than before. And he added: "That not all."

"Japs Shell Chicago."

I wanted to know what else and was glad that I had. The answer dispelled all my doubts.

"Japanese submarines shell San Francisco," he said. "Japanese submarines shell Seattle. And, hah! Japanese submarines shell Chicago!"

I joined him in his laughter. It was the first real laugh I had had in what seemed like years. I was relieved.

The rainy season and I returned to O'Donnell camp at the same time. We welcomed the rain at first because it washed some of the filth from our prison and from the little stream that ran thru it. Many of us, however, had no shelter. Men huddled under buildings for warmth.

There was a series of deaths among those whose physical resistance had vanished. There were rumors that we were to be transferred to another camp about June 1, but we wondered if any of us would live that long.

Worried by Reports.

On the other hand the reports worried us. A few weeks before, all the generals and full colonels had been removed to Japan and Formosa, where they were slaves in factories and on plantations. We knew our hope of exchange or escape would be nil if we were sent to either of these places.

But it turned out the reports were true. It was announced officially we were going to Cabanatuan, Nuevo Ecija, a camp for Americans only.

We were told that this time we were to ride in trucks, but that men who were unable to walk would have to be carried by the others to the north barricade of the prison. There we were to meet the trucks.

We spent all afternoon and the following night carrying men from our quarters to the loading place. We slept on the wet ground until time to start. Then we were lined up in the sun. There were no trucks. We were ordered to march.

Jap Trucks Arrive.

Supporting those who were too weak to walk alone we straggled down the feeder road to the main highway. As we passed thru the gates and onto the hot highway I figured that we were on another death march and that we would lose about half our several hundred men.

Then the trucks came. They were Japanese army trucks, but they looked like home. There were Fords, Chevrolets, GMCs, and many others.

The Japs overloaded every one of them, packing prisoners in until there wasn't room to move. We didn't care, however. We were riding.

We probably wouldn't have been so cheerful if we had known what was in store for us at Cabanatuan. After two and one-half hours of jolting and jogging we were there.

BATAAN HEROES' KIN HERE ASSAIL MEMORIAL PLAN

Help for the living, not memorials for the dead! With those words, leaders of the American Bataan clan here yesterday echoed and applauded the stand of their representatives who shouted down a proposal made in Washington, D. C., Wednesday, to set up a national memorial to the heroes of Bataan.

"One doesn't bury the dead until they're dead," protested Mrs. William Vertuno, 909 S. 10th st., Maywood, secretary of the clan. "Anyway, what better monument could there be to those who gave their lives on Bataan than the rescue of those who survive?"

President Sent to Meeting.

The memorial plan was advanced by a group of New York and Washington residents, styling themselves the Organizing Committee for the Bataan Foundation and Philippines Relief. Their meeting preceded by one day a gathering of more than 100 wives, mothers, and fathers of Bataan heroes who had been summoned to urge rescue of Americans captured in the Philippines.

"We thought that the organizing committee's objectives might be the same as ours," Mrs. Vertuno said, "so we instructed A. C. McArthur, president of our Bataan clan, who went to Washington for our own meeting, to see what this other group had to say."

She said the so-called organizing committee had written the local group suggesting the committee would act to coördinate all Bataan relief activities and to undertake educational work.

Lt. John Peterson of the Maywood police department, former president of the clan, said yesterday he thought the aim might be "to educate us to forget Bataan."

"Well, we won't," Peterson added. "As for memorials, there'll be time for those when the war is over, and believe me, we'l ltake care of them."

Return "All That Counts."

From Mrs. Oscar Heilig, 2118 S. 18th st., Broadview, founder of the clan, came the opinion: "Those people can't have dear ones in Bataan or they'd know that getting them back — no matter what condition they're in—is all that counts."

In any event, Chicago relatives of the men lost or imprisoned on Bataan will have a report of Dr. V. H. Spensley of Albuquerque, N. M., president of the organization, on what happened in Washington when he appears as guest speaker at a meeting at 7 p. m. tomorrow in the American Legion Civil Service post hall at 155 N. Clark st.

BARES OWI STEP TO GAG LEADER OF BATAAN UNIT

34 Relief Groups Unite to Force Action.

Dr. V. H. Spensley.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—An attempt by the office of war information to muzzle Dr. V. H. Spensley of Albuquerque, N. M., fighting head of the Bataan Relief organization, was revealed today by Sen. Chavez [D., N. M.] at an organization meeting of Bataan relief representatives here.

"Somebody at the OWI telephoned me four or five months ago and asked me to keep Spensley quiet," Chavez said. "He said Spensley was hurting the morale of people in the southwest by attacking our war effort against Japan. I told the OWI I wouldn't keep any American from speaking his mind."

34 Organizations Merge.

Today's meeting resulted in the organization of a new federation of Bataan relief groups by representatives of 34 organizations from 16 states. Ignoring administration opposition to emphasis on the name Bataan, the representatives named the organization the Federated Organization for Bataan Relief. Invitations will be issued to 37 Bataan relief societies thruout the country to affiliate with the federation. Dr. Spensley was elected chairman.

"Bataan" has been the name given by Gen. MacArthur to his headquarters, wherever located, and his name and that of Bataan, the Philippine peninsula where Americans made their last stand, before Corregidor, have been linked since the surrender.

Albert McArthur, chairman of the American Bataan clan of Maywood, Ill., and Mrs. Cuyler Biggers of Atlanta, Ga., were named vice chairmen of the federation; P. W. McCahon, Albuquerque, was named secretary, and Mrs. Charles A. Cook, Atlanta, treasurer.

The meeting adopted resolutions directing the federation's executive committee to "bring pressure thru the proper channels" to increase the shipment of men and materials to Gen. MacArthur, to expedite relief shipments to American prisoners of war in the far east, and, if necessary, to send a representative to the South Pacific to obtain information about sending relief.

Suspect Administration Leaders.

The proposal to form a federation of Bataan relief groups was accepted unanimously by the 50 representatives at the meeting. The action was in marked contrast to a tempestuous meeting Wednesday night, sponsored by a group of eastern residents known as the organizing committee for the Bataan Foundation and Philippine relief, with backing of the President's war relief control board.

At Wednesday night's meeting, the same representatives who met tonight shouted down a proposal to form a Bataan relief foundation to erect memorials and conduct an educational program in the Philippines after the war.

Some of the Bataan group leaders said today they strongly suspect the memorial proposal was hatched by administration stalwarts in an effort to draw attention away from the Bataan groups' efforts to have additional aid sent to Gen. MacArthur.

D. M. Yap, native of the Philippines and publisher of the magazine Bataan, reminded the representatives that President Roosevelt had opposed congressional moves to make April 9, anniversary of the fall of Bataan in 1942, a national holiday. A national meeting of the new federation will be held on May 4, 5, and 6 in St. Joseph, Mo.

HUSBAND DOUBTS AMELIA DIED IN MARSHALL ISLES

Salina, Kas., Feb. 10 (AP).—Maj. G. P. Putnam, husband of the late Amelia Earhart Putnam, said today that the famed woman flyer, who disappeared on a round-the-world flight in 1937, "was heard from long after [there was] a likelihood of her being near the Marshalls."

Maj. Putnam, stationed at the Smoky Hill army air field near Salina, said he did not know Rep. Heffernan [D., N. Y.], who proposed yesterday that the army and navy search for possible evidence that Mrs. Putnam landed in the recently conquered Marshalls and that the Japanese had concealed her fate.

Putnam said that the "last word from her came from a point apparently near Howland Island and stated she had half an hour of gasoline left. There is every logical reason to feel she perished somewhere near Howland."

TRIBUNE HAILED FOR RIPPING VEIL FROM DYESS EPIC

Other Papers Cheer Its Service to Nation.

Tremendous reader response to the late Lt. Col. W. E. Dyess' story of Japanese barbarism and murder in the Philippines is reported in a flood of telegrams from newspapers thruout the country which are associated with THE TRIBUNE in publication of the Dyess epic. Many of the telegrams, congratulatory in nature, give THE TRIBUNE full credit for obtaining release of the Dyess story to the nation. The following messages are typical:

THE KANSAS CITY STAR [Roy Roberts, managing editor]: The Dyess story, with its horrible details, has made a tremendous impression thruout our territory. We feel that without the insistence of THE TRIBUNE this story never would have been given to the American people. In presenting it you are performing a real service to the war effort.

AKRON BEACON JOURNAL [James P. Rosemond, managing editor]: Dyess series the most powerful documents we have ever carried.

One of War's Best Stories.

ST. LOUIS STAR-TIMES [Ralph M. Blagden, managing editor]: We have had a definite increase in the sale of papers since we started the Dyess stories and some of that increase is traceable directly to them. In our opinion it is one of the best narrative stories of the war and makes absorbing reading.

PROVIDENCE [R. I.] EVENING BULLETIN [W. A. Bromage]: Consider Dyess report important historical document. Readers profoundly affected by details of Death March and highly interested in account of events immediately preceding fall of Bataan. While details of atrocities were horrifying, many people felt it their duty to read them in full.

Story Magnificent.

THE WICHITA EAGLE [Sam Kiefner, managing editor]: The Wichita Eagle wishes to congratulate THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for furnishing the American public with the greatest story of the war. Reader interest is immense.

FORT WORTH STAR TELEGRAM [James R. Record, managing editor]: Dyess story is as magnificent as were your untiring efforts to win its release to the American people thru the daily newspapers. We are proud to be associated with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in this patriotic enterprise and to be the medium of telling Col. Dyess' West Texas neighbors of his valor and true greatness. Charles Leavelle has turned out a masterpiece of writing.

TAMPA MORNING TRIBUNE [Virgil M. Newton Jr., managing editor]: Dyess story is remarkable job. Congratulations. It is a smash in Tampa.

MINNEAPOLIS STAR JOURNAL AND TRIBUNE [Basil L. Walters, executive editor]: One real value of series will be to give people a true picture of sacrifices being made by our boys on the fighting fronts and to bring home the fact our home front sacrifices are trivial.

Hail Great Work of Tribune.

FARGO [N. D.] FORUM [H. D. Paulson, editor]: The Dyess story unquestionably ranks every story of the war and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has performed a tremendous service in presenting it. American newspapers owe THE TRIBUNE a debt of gratitude for its initiative in obtaining the story, thus preserving the Dyess record, and in successfully fighting for its full and free publication. The Fargo Forum never has experienced such favorable reader reception. Our readers can take the facts, however gruesome.

THE CINCINNATI ENQUIRER [E. M. Boyd, managing editor]: What a pity the Dyess story could not have been released five months ago! More power to THE TRIBUNE for making public this tragic chapter of the war.

WOMAN REVEALS HORRORS OF LIFE IN A JAP PRISON

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 10 [Special].—Horribly vivid recollections of life in a Jap prison camp near Hongkong haunt the memory of Gwen Dew, Detroit newspaperwoman, and now she is free to tell them.

Released from censorship restrictions, she today described a "march of death" after Hongkong surrendered.

"Two hundred of us were marched 10 miles over the mountains," she said. "The oldest was an American, 83, and the youngest was a baby, two months. Periodically we were forced to stop and watch the torture of Chinese and Indians on barbed wire fences. We saw them bayoneted.

Sees Soldiers Clubbed.

"We saw British soldiers paraded before Chinese civilians so the Jap conquerors could boast of the fall of the white man. We saw the surrendered soldiers clubbed down and bayoneted in a broiling sun."

The Japs had no regard for humanities or decencies, Miss Dew said. When their 50,000 troops overwhelmed the 10,000 British at Hongkong they surged into St. Stephen's Emergency hospital, beat down a guard, and killed a hospital chief.

"They weren't content to kill," she added. "They ripped the bandages off 60 wounded Britons and Canadians and let them suffer before bayoneting them. Then they raped many nurses time and time again."

No Fruit or Vegetables.

As a prisoner, Miss Dew lived for a time in a house with 18 men at Camp Stanley, a home filled with centipedes, scorpions and spiders. She said most of the prisoners at the camp slept on the floor with gunny sack blankets.

In six months she had no fresh fruit, green vegetables, or milk, and only three eggs.

"Forty per cent of the prisoners had beri-beri, scurvy, or pellagra," she said. "They generally lost 25 to 100 pounds. I ate out of a tin can from a garbage heap. In my six months at the camp the menu of rice, worms, weevils, water gravy and a stew made from fish heads never varied."

Points Out Jap Gains.

Miss Dew, who was repatriated on the exchange ship Gripsholm, pointed out that Japan now is the second largest empire, "probably the wealthiest the world has known," with almost a monopoly on quinine and rubber and control of 500,000,000 slave laborers.

She urged that American civilians help hasten the release of 280,000 allied war prisoners, but warned:

"Don't forget, the Japs have taken 1,000,000 square miles in two years of fighting from the Arctic to the Equator and we've taken back only 1,000 square miles."

BRITISH RETAIN PASS AS JAPS DRIVE ON LINES

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 10 (AP).—British troops supported by tanks still clung tonight to the vital Ngakyedauk pass thru which the Japanese have been attempting to crash to cut communications of the British operation in Arakan on the northern end of the Bay of Bengal. The drive for the pass was launched by a force of Japanese who looped around the east end of the British defenses on the Mayu peninsula.

Fight Suicidal Actions.

WITH CHINESE-AMERICAN FORCES in NORTHERN BURMA, Feb. 7 [Delayed]—(AP).—Japanese troops backing out of the Hukawng valley are now fighting suicidal delaying actions, which are slowing a few units of Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese forces slightly, but are costing the Japanese a tremendous toll. The Chinese already have captured two key points, Taro, a Chindwin river village, and Taipha Ga, a village on the Tunas river from which a motor road connects with the Burma railway to Mogaung.

CUT THRU ROOF TO LOOT STORE.

Maurice Kolman, manager of a liquor store at 7714 S. Halsted st., reported to police yesterday that burglars had cut a hole thru the roof and stolen a revolver, a radio, and a quantity of liquor.

LABOR POLITICS OF F. D. R. BLAMED FOR WORK WARS

Hoffman Urges New Law to Protect All.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Placing the blame for strikes on New Deal labor policy and the President's desire for political support, Rep. Hoffman [R., Mich.] today urged adoption of a new labor law to protect workers and employers, as well as union leaders.

Hoffman told the house it is often said the President has no labor policy, but this is erroneous.

"His policy is to placate labor leaders and to grant labor organizations special privileges," Hoffman said. "In return, the President has received the political support of all but one of the outstanding labor politicians.

Stems from Wagner Act.

"That policy has failed to end strikes, slowdowns, and work stoppages, or to bring peace between employers and employes. This has been the result of the administration's failure to adopt and adhere to fundamental principles and to recognize that the bosses, the labor politicians, neither think nor act as do the overwhelming majority of American workers who have sons, brothers, and husbands with the armed forces."

The congressman charged that much labor trouble stems from the Wagner labor relations act of 1935, which he described as "lopsided" in favor of union leaders, and from its maladministration by the New Deal.

Hoffman proposed that the law be amended as follows:

1. Give an employe the right to join or not join a union, as he chooses.

2. Protect employes from coercion by union officials as well as employers.

Disputes and Strikes Gain.

3. Provide secret employe elections on union membership, to be conducted by impartial public officials.

4. Provide court appeals from all decisions of the national labor relations board.

5. Retain rights to picket, strike, and bargain collectively, but prohibit violence and jurisdictional strikes, and make unions, their officials and members, liable for damage from violence or contract violations.

"Much of the present trouble is due to the policy of the President of trading special privileges in return for political support. That is a serious charge. Unfortunately, the facts support it," Hoffman said.

"The CIO has officially indorsed the President for a fourth term. Both the CIO and AFL supported him in his third term drive. Both have reecntly engaged in a nation-wide effort to prevent the reëlection of members of congress who have opposed the President politically."

Seven finalists in the contest for Radar-Radio queen of Chicago, to be named tonight at a patriotic rally in the Stadium, met yesterday in the Morrison hotel to inspect the crown the lucky girl will wear. The winner will be chosen by a committee of service men—a sailor, soldier, marine, coast guardsman, and army air corps member. The judges are to consider the candidates' records for efficiency, nonabsenteeism, and loyalty.

The finalists, representing seven of the 40 companies competing, are: Ina Staniec, 1802 N. Wolcott av.; Mary Moreschi, 2123 Grenshaw st.; Eleanor Rau, 8400 S. Carpenter st.; Rose Mary O'Keefe, 2242 Monroe st.; Eileen McCarthy, 1303 Foster av.; La Verne Kleinow, 2953 N. Kedzie av., and Betty Cichon, 3005 S. Pulaski rd.

Maj. Gen. William Henry Harrison and Rear Adm. Claude A. Jones will be here from Washington, D. C., to speak at tonight's rally. Mayor Kelly and Dean William H. Spencer, regional director of the war man power commission, also will appear. Ralph A. Bard, assistant secretary of the navy, will be a special guest and also will be asked to address the assembly of 18,500 radar-radio plant workers. As the evening's finale, there will be entertainment by Hildegarde, Joe E. Lewis, Gracie Barrie, the Abbott dancers, and Lou Diamond's orchestra.

SUGGEST BRITISH RAISE RECRUITS TO FIGHT JAPAN

Liberal Group Calls for Early Demobilization.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Demobilization of British forces at the end of the war in Europe with the recruiting of volunteers to fight Japan was recommended by a Liberal party committee in a report today. The committee suggested, if volunteers are few, the new army should be supplemented by young conscripts.

The report, sent to Prime Minister Churchill and other ministers, rejected Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin's "first in first out" demobilization scheme. The committee urged an "all out at once" program be followed closely.

Call for Youth Training.

Other recommendations included universal military training for 18 year old youths for three months and attendance at drills for seven years; three months full pay and allowances for all soldiers on demobilization in addition to adequate provision for civilian homes and local medical treatment. Men abroad three years, the committee urged, should be replaced by home units.

The committee recommended women's services be voluntary, after Germany's defeat, and no woman be retained against her will. Priority in demobilization should be given to women with children and disabled or demobilized husbands.

The committee urged civil defense services be demobilized on the same basis.

Would Demobilize in 6 Months.

The report proposed demobilization of soldiers, sailors, and airmen should be completed within six months after the war against Germany. To encourage volunteers for fighting Japs, it suggested improved pay allowances. If conscription is necessary, the committee advocated it apply to 18 to 22 year old groups.

John Stewart-Wallace, head of the committee, in a foreword said: "As far as can be foreseen" large forces will be needed to defeat Japan "which the British public rightly regard as being as vital as the total defeat of Germany," and admitted volunteers may be insufficient.

BIDDLE ORDERS PROBE OF PRISON BRUTALITY TALE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10 (AP).—Atty. Gen. Biddle today ordered an investigation of charges that prisoners at the medical center of the federal bureau of prisons at Springfield, Mo., have been subjected to brutal treatment by guards and other institutional personnel.

The investigation, Biddle said, will be conducted by James V. Bennett, director of the bureau of prisoners, and a representative of the public health service.

The charges were transmitted to Biddle today by Norman Thomas, Socialist party leader, and were based on documents reportedly sent to his brother, Evan W. Thomas, chairman of the War Registers' league, by Lewis Krawczyk, an inmate of the medical center. Biddle said Krawczyk, who is serving a term on charges of violating the selective service act, has informed institution authorities that he has no knowledge of the documents.

BRITISH MYSTERY FORCE FIGHTING WITH TITO'S MEN

LONDON, Feb. 10 (AP).—British forces were declared tonight to be fighting with Jugo-Slav partisans against Germans on the island of Hvar off the Dalmatian coast. How they entered the struggle was a mystery. A report from partisan headquarters of Marshal Josip [Tito Broz described them only as "British units." The implication was that they were commandos or amphibious forces.

Marshal Josip Broz.

Tito said they were operating at Veliko Braglye on Hvar, one of the biggest islands off the Jugo-Slav coast. With Brac, just above it, the island commands the southern approaches to the German held harbor of Split. Tito said British units sank four German sailing vessels off the Dalmatian coast and captured 85 Germans in the operation.

3D RAID BLASTS SITE OF POPE'S SUMMER VILLA

LONDON, Feb. 10 (AP).—The Vatican radio tonight said Castel Gandolfo, site of the pope's summer residence near the allies' Anzio bridgehead in Italy, has been bombed for the third time, causing "many casualties."

Indicating the papal villa itself escaped damage, the broadcast said: "Three bombs fell on the college adjacent to the villa."

The Vatican did not identify the raiders, but indicated a papal protest, asserting that "we are informed that as the area enjoyed extraterritorial rights [freedom from local or state jurisdiction] the Holy See did not fail to express concern over such an attack."

The Vatican radio said more than 15,000 refugees are at the papal villa and the adjoining buldings belonging to the Holy See.

The Nazi controled Rome radio said that "waves of enemy bombers this morning attacked Castel Gandolfo." There was no confirmation from any source of this assertion that allied planes had been involved.

AMERICAN BUILT BRITISH CARRIER SINKS 2 U-BOATS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10 (AP).—Sinking of two U-boats and attacks upon five others by H. M. S. Biter, one of the first American built escort carriers of the British navy, were announced by the British information service today.

The Biter, designed originally for a banana boat and converted into an aircraft carrier, has steamed 45,000 miles on Atlantic convoy patrols in the last eight months, the announcement said.

On one occasion the Biter sighted eight U-boats and attacked at least five of them before the wolf pack broke off the engagement. In addition to convoy duty, she helped cover landing operations in North Africa.

WHEN WILL I GET SYNTHETIC TIRES?
s-s-s-
POLYMERIZED
Phillips 66

Facts on the rubber situation by
Phillips Petroleum Company, operating a 90,000,000 pound butadiene plant, for an annual production of rubber equivalent to 11,000,000 tires

THE RACE FOR RUBBER is right now entering the homestretch. Swiftly and surely, the nation's synthetic rubber plants are approaching peak annual production of 850,000 tons.

Despite this record-breaking achievement, the next six months are the time of crisis, because the full fighting power of rubber is needed for war: Tires for planes, and combat trucks and cars . . . rubber for life rafts and landing boats . . . rubber for bullet-sealing tanks and electrical insulation . . . rubber for a thousand and one victory needs.

This is why only the most essential civilian drivers can be supplied with new tires of synthetic rubber, at least until late in the year. The rest of us must continue to save miles and rubber, and recap in time to keep rolling.

As a major producer of butadiene (the chief ingredient in synthetic rubber) and 100 octane aviation gasoline, the Phillips Petroleum Company presents these facts as a contribution to general understanding of the present transportation problem.

With us, as with every American motorist, the needs of war come first. But when victory is won, car owners will begin enjoying the benefits and product-improvements flowing from Phillips gigantic chemical plants, devoted to producing new and better things from petroleum gases as well as petroleum.

GIANT BARRAGES POUND GERMANS MENACING ANZIO

BY HOMER BIGART.
presenting the Combined U. S. press.]
[Distributed by Associated Press.]

WITH 5TH ARMY IN ITALY, eb. 10 (AP).—A shattering barrage sounded from guns of every caliber early today after the Germans gained control of a little hilltop village that overlooks allied positions along the northern sector of the Anzio beachhead.

The tremendous rain of explosives came down on the unsuspecting Germans at 6:30 a. m. after a fairly quiet night in which the beachhead situation changed only slightly.

It was what the British call a "timed crash" and had the effect of a highly concentrated bombing raid. In a very few minutes hundreds of shells exploded on a compact little community that probably covers less than 100 acres.

[The dispatch did not identify the village, due to censorship. A "timed crash" is a method by which hundreds of guns may be concentrated upon a single target almost simultaneously.]

Blast Building Seized by Nazis.

A little building at the edge of the village vanished under clouds of smoke and debris.

Until early last night there had been fighting inside the building. A small group of British soldiers and possibly an American anti-tank crew were making a last stand. Then the firing ceased.

This thunderbolt of shells was prepared in a hurry. The Germans were building up a powerful force and something drastic was needed. British units worn by days of bitter fighting were in danger.

All the guns again went into action against a German assault force coming down the hill toward the village station, where the highway passes beneath an abandoned railway. Until they have secured this pass, the Germans cannot commit the full force of their heavy tanks.

British Force Trapped.

Now it may be revealed that a German counter-attack on the night of Feb. 3 succeeded for several hours in trapping thousands of British troops in a salient that then existed north of Carroceto, below Rome.

Fortunately, the enemy was able to interpose less than 1,000 troops between the isolated British spearhead and the main allied force. These troops were, however, supported by six or eight 60 ton Tiger tanks that appeared near a highway which was the only escape route.

The remarkable work of the American tank destroyers in knocking out four Tigers helped restore the situation.

DESTROY NAZI GARRISON

BY REYNOLDS PACKARD.
[Representing the Combined U. S. Press.]
[Distributed by the Associated Press.]

AT THE ANZIO BEACHHEAD, Feb. 10.—Fifth army troops on this beachhead assaulted a town well within the Germans' lines last night and wiped out the entire German garrison, killing 60 Nazis, wounding scores of others, and taking nine prisoners.

The raid, a swift moonlight attack during which hand grenades slaughtered most of the enemy, started at 8 p. m. and ended at 2 a. m., when the 5th army assault forces withdrew according to plan—and without interference.

NAZIS POUR IN MEN

BY KENNETH L. DIXON.

AT THE ANZIO BEACHHEAD, Feb. 9 [Delayed]—(AP).—Adolf Hitler, throwing the book at the 5th army's beachhead, is rushing in troops from everywhere available and putting them into the battle raging here.

Troops from northern Italy, southern France and even Germany are being rushed into the fighting.

Hitler has called top notch pilots from other theaters in his bid to knock out the allied threat to Rome. He has massed armored strength unparalleled in this theater for an attempt to crash into the beachhead's defenders from the north, hoping to cut off the allied forces from the sea.

Both Sides' Losses Heavy.

Probably the most pertinent indication of the importance placed on this beachhead by the German high command is the calibre of Nazi pilots now being met in the skies over the landing zone. Allied pilots term them the toughest they have met in the entire Mediterranean campaign.

Despite terrific losses, German planes are being thrown at the beachhead again and again.

More Nazi Attacks Beaten Off

Developments on the Italian fronts yesterday.

Of Italy, yesterday's German war bulletin, as broadcast by Berlin, said:

"In the Aprilia [Carroceto] area [of the Anzio beachhead] grim battles continued all thru the day. Captured territory was cleared of British nests of resistance. An enemy tank attack against Aprilia was dispersed by German artillery fire. Seven enemy tanks were knocked out in that action last [Wednesday] night. The air force attacked enemy barracks near Anzio with good success.

28 COPIES OF TRIBUNE GREET CHICAGOAN ON NEW BRITAIN FRONT

[By Staff Sgt. Gerald Waindel of 2809 E. Oklahoma av., Milwaukee, Wis., a marine corps combat correspondent.]

CAPE GLOUCESTER, New Britain [Delayed].—The mail reached the front lines today, and most of it appeared to be for Marine Pvt. Bernard J. Fliss, 22, of 5243 Schubert av., Chicago. Fliss had been out on patrol beyond the lines. His mail had piled up. There were letters, but mostly there were newspapers.

Pvt. Fliss got in today. He opened the newspapers. There were 28 copies of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Issue by issue, in daily sequence, they were passed along the lines.

"War or no war," explained Fliss, "I'm going to get caught up on Skeezix!"

A 1939 graduate of Lane Technical High school, Fliss enlisted on Aug. 28, 1942. He specialized in tank ordnance before assignment to a scout unit overseas.

ALLIES RESTORE SOUTH ITALY TO BADOGLIO RULE

NAPLES, Italy, Feb. 10 (AP).—The allies tonight restored to Marshal Badoglio's government the administrative authority over southern Italy, including Sicily and Sardinia, but on condition that all officials be of allied sympathies and that the allies have no commitments to the Badoglio-King Victor Emmanuel regime after the capture of Rome.

Thus the allies are not bound to support the present Italian administration and have taken note of Badoglio's pledge to surrender his powers to another government if Italians so desire after Rome is freed.

Jews' Rights Restored.

Transfer of the administration below a line drawn from Salerno to Potenza to Bari was announced by Lt. Gen. Frank N. Mason-Macfarlane, deputy president of the allied control commission.

Earlier he had announced that by Italian royal decree all anti-Semitic and other racial restrictions imposed by the Mussolini regime in Italy had been abrogated and that full civil and political rights were to be restored to Jews.

The decree annulling more than a dozen anti-Semitic acts of the Fascist rule will immediately affect not more than 1,000 Jews, as the majority of Italy's Jewish population—never as much as 100,000—lives in the German occupied north.

AMG to Advise.

Mason-Macfarlane said that allied military government personnel would be reduced and would change "from executives to advisers," except in combat zones and three strategically important islands—Pantelleria, Lampedusa, and Linosa.

'BIG MAMIE' REVEALED AS ONE SHIP FLEET OF CASABLANCA BATTLE

Boston, Mass., Feb. 10 (AP).—Within 60 days of commissioning, the mighty battleship Massachusetts stormed into Casablanca Nov. 8, 1942. She sank the French battleship Jean Bart and two destroyers, damaged two others and silenced a shore battery in a six and a half hour fight.

This was disclosed today by the navy department when the shrapnel torn smoke stained flag of the Massachusetts was presented to Gov. Saltonstall.

The secret of the $75,000,000 ship's heroic action was told over a nation-wide radio hookup from a report written by War Correspondent John Henry, only reporter aboard the "Big Mamie," as she is affectionately known by navy men.

5 BRITISH SHIP LINES BID FOR NEW AIR ROUTE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 9.—A new air company, formed by five British shipping lines with assets totaling millions to operate airways to South America, will be known as the British-Latin American Airlines, Ltd., it was announced today. The companies are the Royal Mail, the Pacific Steam Navigation, Blue Star, the Booth Steamship, and Lamport & Holt.

With their network of agencies thruout South America these companies believe they are in an "excellent position" to foster development of British air services. So far the government has refused licenses to the companies to operate air lines from this country, but negotiations are said to be going on.

Owners of 100 airdromes are planning to ask the government to announce a policy regarding air transport. They are interested in learning whether post-war civil aviation will be operated thru the British Overseas Airways corporation or whether private enterprise will share.

J. Ure Primrose, former chairman of the Airdrome Owners' association, said: "There is a definite danger of burocratic control. We want healthy competition under regulated licensing authority."

YANKS FELL 84 NAZIS BUT LOSE 29 BIG BOMBERS

Liberators in 2½ Hour Fight; Rip Brunswick.

LONDON, Feb. 10 (AP).—United States Flying Fortresses, Liberators, and long range fighters smashed 84 German aircraft from the skies today during coördinated raids on the Nazi manufacturing city of Brunswick and the Gilze-Rijen airbase in Holland, from which 29 of the heavy bombers and eight of the fighters failed to return.

Fighters Bag 55 Nazis.

Mustangs, Thunderbolts, and Lightnings of the fighter escort were credited by a United States army bulletin with destroying 55 of the German interceptors which rose to challenge the raiders—a new record for a single day—and bomber gunners accounted for at least 29 more.

Thunderbolts screened the Liberators on the Gilze-Rijen raid, designed to lay out the extensive runways, hangars, and repair shops of that major German base and keep its swarms of pursuit craft grounded.

Battle for 2½ Hours.

The first of the returning crews said the Fortresses and their long-range escort battled it out for two and a half hours in a running conflict.

"I saw a whale of a dogfight," said Sgt. Peter F. Dewolf of 1601 Harman ac., Evanston, Ill., radio operator on the bomber "Dog Tired."

Tech. Sgt. H. Bieze, 1340 Newport av., Chicago, radio operator on another bomber, said the fighters kept lining up and making head-on attacks, one after another.

LEADER OF RAID ON MARSHALLS TO BE ADMIRAL

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10 (AP).—Vice Adm. Raymond A. Spruance, 58, who commanded the assault force sent against the Marshall Islands, was nominiated by President Roosevelt today for promotion to admiral. Rear Adm. Richard K. Turner, 59, one of the top commanders under Spruance, was nominated for vice admiral.

Spruance, who has participated in many naval engagements, holds the distinguished service medal for his command of a task force which turned back a Japanese fleet at Midway in 1942 with heavy losses to the enemy. Spruance lists Indianapolis, Ind., as his residence.

Turner directed amphibious operations at Guadalcanal, New Georgia, in the Gilbert Islands, and Munda before going into the Marshalls. In 1939 he commanded the U. S. S. Astoria, which went to Japan with the ashes of Hirosi Saito, Japanese ambassador who died in the United States. From Guadalcanal he saw the Astoria sunk by Japanese fire.

BALTIMORE WOMAN 1944 NAVY MOTHER; MATE, SIX SONS SERVE

The Navy Mother of 1944 is Mrs. Nellie H. Twele of Baltimore, Md., succeeding Mrs. Irene Shafer of Glendale, Cal., who held the honorary title in 1943.

The selection was made by a committee of officers' wives at Great Lakes Naval Training station, headed by Mrs. Dorothea Freeman, wife of Capt. James Freeman, executive officer. Mrs. Twele was chosen from more than 17,500 nominations of mothers with sons and daughters in the navy, marine corps, and coast guard.

The selection of Mrs. Twele was announced by Capt. Robert R. M. Emmet, commanding officer at Great Lakes. The new Navy Mother has four sons and a husband, Chief Electrician's Mate Frederick W. Twele, in the navy, as well as two other sons in the army. She is 45.

Mrs. Twele will be a special guest at Great Lakes all next week, reviewing navy activities at the station. She is scheduled to make a radio report to the nation's navy mothers Feb. 18.

YANKS HAMMER WAKE; RIP NEW MARSHALL ISLES

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Feb. 10 (AP).—The twelfth raid of the war on Wake Island, 2,000 miles west of here, and continuing attacks by American warships and planes on unidentified Japanese held atolls in the Marshall Islands were announced today by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

The new blows in the Marshalls carried the sustained assaults on Japanese positions thru Thursday, the fourth consecutive day of the post-invasion campaign to clear that archipelago of the enemy.

While fighters and medium bombers of the 7th army air force and Coronados of the navy's air arm dropped 114 tons of bombs on three consecutive days in the Marshalls, surface units of the Pacific fleet shelled two "enemy filled" atolls. No planes were reported lost in the operations, nor was there any report of ship damage.

Atolls Not Identified.

The bombed atolls in the Marshalls were not identified in accordance with the navy's new policy of keeping the Japanese high command guessing as to the direction of the attacks.

The attack on Wake, made last Tuesday night, was by navy Coronados of fleet air wing 2. Bomb hits were scored on the airdrome and barracks area, the announcement said. All planes returned from this air assault on Wake, captured by the Japanese on Dec. 24, 1941.

The last previous strike at Wake was the night of Feb. 4, also by Coronado bombers.

There was a possibility that the Wake raid sprang from Kwajalein atoll in the Marshalls, conquered last week by American doughboys and marines. Adm. Nimitz remarked at a press conference two days ago that we would be able to raid Wake from Kwajalein "now."

The chief value of Wake to the enemy, Nimitz said at that time, is as a base for air reconnaisance and attacks on our newly won bases in the Marshalls.

105 JAP SHIPS SUNK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Japan's merchant fleet took its most punishing blows of the war in January, a tabulation of official reports disclosed yesterday.

Air and undersea warfare combined to sink 105 cargo ships, tankers, transports, and coastal vessels in that month.

Fifty vessels were sunk by air action in the Central, South, and Southwest Pacific. Allied aircraft accounted for 19 off the China coast. Thirty-six were destroyed by United States submarines.

The enemy also lost 215 barges in January in the South and Southwest Pacific, the largest number reported for a single month.

The number of Nipponese merchant vessels damaged in January also was high, reaching 52. In addition, 131 barges or other small craft were damaged.

DRIVER INJURED BY TRUCK.

Frank Stoehr, 58, of 3317 Jackson blvd., a driver for the Jackson Storage company, 5951 Madison st., suffered a fractured collar bone and lung injuries yesterday when his electric truck started suddenly and crushed him against a wall at the rear of 3311 Jackson blvd.

REPORT ACCUSER OF WAC OFFICER LOSES COMMAND

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10 (AP).—James J. Laughlin, attorney for Lt. Virginia Wight in a hearing before a special army board on unfitness charges, said tonight the accuser of the pretty 24 year old Philadelphia WAC had been relieved of her command.

The Washington lawyer said he was informed by "war department official sources" that Capt. Evelyn Rothrock, the commanding officer of the WAC detachment at Fort Myer, Va., of which Miss Wight was a member, had been succeeded by a member of the reviewing board.

Miss Wight said thru her attorney, however, she has received no official war department word of the outcome of the secret hearings on Capt. Rothrock's charges, which included accusations that the lieutenant associated with enlisted women, appeared on the post in slacks and sweater, and refused to obey an order asking for a statement of her finances.

CHICAGO HEROES WRITE HISTORY IN FIRE ON ROI ISLE

With Grenade and Gun, They Wipe Out Japs.

BY HAROLD SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON ROI ISLAND, Kwajalein Atoll, Feb. 6 [Delayed].—Looking back over my notes on the 4th marine division's invasion of this part of the Marshall Islands now held by American forces, I find these personal highlights which are indicative of the spirit of the attacking Yanks:

As Pvt. Andrew P. Lynch of 21 E. Delaware pl., Chicago, son of Joseph and Virginia Lynch, reached the north shore across the bullet swept air field he saw a highly prized Jap officer's sword in a dugout and went for it. Just then a nearby Jap started firing at Pvt. Lynch, who eliminated him with a hand grenade—which also eliminated the sword. [P. S.: Pvt. Lynch says he joined the marines to "escape" the draft.]

Corp. Louis R. Elizelde, 23, of 4634 S. Drexel blvd., whose wife is Mary Louise, admits he owes his life to Pvt. Robert Clark, 20, of Bradford, Pa. As they passed a foxhole Clark saw a Jap drawing a bead on Elizelde. He killed the Jap with a grenade. Elizelde boxed in the 1941 Golden Gloves tournament of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE as Tony Amato.

One of the fightin'est officers of the outfit is Capt. John J. Padley of Dayton, O. As he was leading his men across the airport he bayoneted an oncoming Jap. One of his men yelled a warning that a second Jap was sneaking up behind him. Disengaging his bayonet from the first Jap, Padley pivoted and caught the newcomer thru the chest with its dripping point.

Pvt. Robert K. Madden of Providence, R. I., 18, and 5 feet 4 inches tall, got his first Jap without firing a shot. Madden, nicknamed Chicken, is the youngest and shortest member of his outfit.

Hitting the beach in the dense smoke of the merciless preparatory barrage, Madden and his companions charged to the air field, where crack Jap troops waited. A Jap over 6 feet tall bore down on Chicken's squad leader. Madden hurled a grenade which failed to explode. The Jap, rushing on, stumbled and fell. Like a panther, Madden jumped on him, dispatching him with a bayonet.

Pvt. Bernhard Day, 22, of 9241 S. Essex av., Chicago, son of Reno H. and Thelma, halted a charging Jap with a hand grenade. "I joined the marines because I thought they would be a rugged outfit. Well, by golly, they are," he said.

Pvt. Robert McKnight, 22, of Newark, N. J., and his girl, Ida Mae Weins, of Rochester, N. Y., agreed they would be engaged automatically when he killed his first Jap. Well, Miss Weins, you've been Robert's fiancee since noon of Feb. 1. Just to make certain, he got two Japs.

Corp. R. L. Bazine, 23, of Bastrop, La., carrying a light machine gun in company with his squad leader, was pinned down by a knot of Japs.

"Corp. Zlates and I flipped a coin to see who would go at them," he said. "I won and, by golly, I shot the first one nine times before he stopped quivering."

The navy seabees are noted for their building skill, but they fought and bled beside the marines at Kwajalein. One who earned a fighting title was Seaman Andrew A. Domanski, 19, of Finderne, N. J. He saw three Japs wound a marine, and with his light machine gun mowed down the Japs. The grateful marine tossed his bayonet to Domanski as a souvenir.

BUNDESEN SUES FOR REFUND ON FEDERAL TAXES

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the Chicago board of health, yesterday filed suit in federal district court against Carter H. Harrison, district collector of internal revenue, seeking to recover $1,767.09 paid as income taxes for the calendar year 1938. Dr. Bundesen contends that he sustained a loss of $52,681.25 in a real estate transaction. His claim for a refund was filed Feb. 28, 1942, and rejected by the government Nov. 12, 1943.

In a suit in the state courts to recover the $52,681.25, Dr. Bundesen lost in the Illinois Supreme court after having won a decision in the Appellate court. He had sued his brother-in-law, Peter A. Karambelas, as an agent of the A. A. Lewis Realty association, whom he accused of receiving secret commissions, M. P. Kaplan, a salesman for the firm and the Lincoln and Main Grosse Point Realty trust.

ESCORT REPLICA IS CHRISTENED AT GREAT LAKES

WE BOMB BUDAPEST NEXT, SOVIET WARNS; NEW THREAT TO FINNS

LONDON, Feb. 10 (AP).—The Moscow radio warned tonight that Budapest is next on the Russians' bombing list and asserted it would "share the fate of Helsingfors if Hungary continues to fight."

An informed source here said Premier Marshal Stalin has "outlined the Russian viewpoint" on the soviet-Polish dispute in a message to Prime Minister Churchill.

Finland Seeks Way Out.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 10 (AP).—Finland, caught as a German ally in a war she never wanted, was reported seeking a way out today on the basis of an American warning to act now or take the consequences.

A Helsingfors dispatch said there was "possibility that preliminary decisions were taken" at a cabinet session.

STORE FAILURES LAID TO PRICING RULE PASS PEAK

Food distributors are operating under the lowest profit margins in history as the result of government price ceilings, but there are indications that the peak in failures and voluntary discontinuances of food businesses has been passed, Andrew Duncan, managing director of the Cereal institute, said yesterday.

To offset these low margins many food distributors are considering the sale of related lines such as cooking utensils to bolster their profits, he told the Chicago Federated Advertising club in the Hotel Sherman. Duncan advised more emphasis in advertising on the nutritional value of foods and similar factual data.

BULLET RIDDLED PILOT SAVES HIS PALS—THEN DIES

gator, Lt. William McFerren of Hoopstown, Ill.

"Farrington called to us over the radio: 'Go ahead home! You can't do us any good!' We counted as seven men crawled out of hatches and saw their chutes open. Seconds later their plane exploded. The men dropped into the sea. We never knew what happened to them.

"All this time the Japs had been attacking us. As we began to climb one scored a hit on an engine and set the wing on fire. The skipper dived into a cloud. The engineer and his assistant squirmed into a narrow opening with an extinguisher and put the fire out.

Down Go Eight Zeros.

"When we lost the Japs in the clouds we thought our troubles were over and that the Golden Gator might again see the Golden Gate for which she was named. She was spelled Gator because she had a golden alligator painted on her side.

"But little we knew. Separated from the other two planes, we got jumped by more Zeros—at least 10 of them—and maybe 12. Our gunners really went to work and such shooting you never did see. In 40 minutes I saw three Zeros explode and five more crash into the sea.

"We had lost another motor and the third was stalling. The skipper put the plane into a deep dive to try to windmill it back into shape. We were over a tiny island at that time and the skipper didn't pull the plane out of the dive until he skimmed the tree tops. The tail hit a tree and a chunk of limb lodged in it. It took all that the skipper and the co-pilot, Flight Officer Francis Harres of New London, Wis., could do to hold the ship level.

Orders Everything Dumped.

"'Dump everything,' the skipper ordered. We threw overboard everything we could get our hands on, even guns and ammunition, all except the top turret gun. Gradually the plane began to lift, but 500 feet was as high as she'd go. Home was still 800 miles away. We chugged along at 120 miles per hour on our engine and a half. We knew we'd never make it.

"We tried to skirt Timor to the east. The skipper said he would put her down on Moa, a little island off Timor. But two Jap fighters changed his mind.

"All we had was our top gun and 25 rounds of ammunition. Sgt. Johnny Wine of Caney, Kas., used that in one burst. We were a dead duck. The Japs settled down to kill us at their leisure.

"A bullet got Wine in the head while he was still at his gun. A .20 mm. shell laid open the skipper's cheek. The nose gunner, Sgt. Mark A. Mitchell of Oakland, Cal., came back to help in the plane, but a bullet hit the generator and it exploded and he died in the arms of Sgt. Howard Collett of Thompsonville, Conn., a waist gunner. Collett got out his Bible and read it over the intercommunication system.

Shot Stops Bible Reading.

"'God so loveth—wham!—that He gaveth—wham!—His only' . . . words that sounded strange mixed with gunfire. Then a bullet hit Collett in the stomach.

"Our photographer, Corp. Aldo Bottiglio of Somerville, Mass., kept snapping pictures until machine gun fire slashed across his hips.

"I was between the skipper and the co-pilot. The cockpit was a mass of gore. The co-pilot was hit in both legs, and while I was applying tourniquets to him a .20 mm. hit the skipper in the left ankle and carried away his foot. But the co-pilot's controls had been shot out, so the skipper had to fly her with one foot.

Lands Ship—Then Dies.

"The skipper said he was going to set her down on the sea; for me to open an escape hatch. A Jap came in again. His guns blazed. A bullet hit the skipper in the chest. But still he kept the plane under control—'quite dead in everything but spirit,' is the way the official report described him.

"Yet somehow, with one foot shot away, part of his face blown in, his hands a mass of bloody flesh, and a hole straight thru his chest, he did set the Golden Gator down on the water. Just before we hit I stood up to open the hatch and the force of the landing threw me down. I picked myself up and reached for the skipper. But he was dead. His job was done.

"The ship was sinking fast. The engineer had gotten out somehow and was sitting in a life raft he had freed. The radio operator, Sgt. David Statland of Buffalo, N. Y., who had kept sending S. O. S. signals, tied his jacket around the radio key so it would keep sending and, altho his leg was broken in the landing, he crawled up thru the hatch.

Three of Crew Vanish.

"Collett, the man who had been reading the Bible, bobbed to the surface and Harres went after him. He reached him but then both of them went under and I never saw either again. The tail gunner was lost when the tail broke off in landing.

"I inflated the raft and Lt. Eddie Green of Brookline, Mass., the navigator; Tech. Sgt. William Fansler of Amarillo, Tex., and I crawled into it. It was then five minutes after eight and growing dark. The Jap planes came down and gave us a final burst. A bullet creased Green's forehead. Then they went away.

"Fansler, who had fractured a vertebra in his neck, paddled over and we tied the rafts together. Green got in with Fansler. All night we lay in agony. Next day we saw three Liberators hunting us, but they passed us by.

"On the second morning the coast of Moa Island was in sight and we were about to start paddling toward it when three more Liberators came over. They spotted us and a Catalina flying boat picked us up.

"And that's about it. Fansler and Statland are already on their way home. Green and I are awaiting orders to return home."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—The international character of the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration which will spend American money for global war relief was explained to the senate foreign relations committee today by Herbert H. Lehman, UNRRA's director general.

In response to a question by Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], Lehman said he was testifying as a spokesman for an international authority, and not as a representative of the United States.

"The majority stockholder usually has some voice," Chairman Connally [D., Tex.] commented.

Lehman told the committee, which is considering the senate bill permitting the United States to participate in UNRRA to the extent of 1 billion 350 million dollars, that he believed UNRRA should be "truly international in character."

Names Foreigners to Posts.

For that reason, Lehman said, he has appointed foreigners to a number of major posts. Among his executives are British, Russian, Czech, and Chinese officials.

Foreign countries have been represented in previous discussions as ready to swell the American contribution to 2¼ to 2½ billion dollars, but Lehman indicated today that he does not expect the fund to exceed 2 billion dollars.

Committee members, pointing out that the United States will furnish the lion's share of the money, altho outvoted 43 to 1 in the spending, asked Lehman if his will would prevail against that of the UNRRA council delegates. He replied that he was bound to be influenced by the council.

"Is there any relationship," asked Vandenberg, "between 2 billion dollars and the job to be done? Or does that figure just represent what you could get?"

Santa Hasn't Arrived.

"There is no way of estimating the cost," replied Lehman.

"I'd hate to have the UNRRA pattern mislead any of our friends around the world," said Vandenberg, "into thinking that Santa Claus has arrived."

UNRRA critics in the house sought in vain to authorize the government to spend its own money on foreign relief thru the Red Cross and other organizations. House nationalists, succeeded, however, in passing a recommendation that UNRRA admit starving India to its benefits.

Edgar G. Brown, director of the national Negro council, protested today that UNRRA excluded India because the Indians have not been overrun by the Nazis but are "only dying as usual."

CONGRESS TACKLES NEW PROBLEM: THE LADY WRESTLERS

Their public performances, a congressional committee was told, are nothing less than burlesque shows and should be stopped.

The witness, the Rev. Oscar Fisher Blackwelder, was one of four Washington clergymen who testified before a committee on causes of juvenile delinquency in the capital.

"All wrestling bouts should be placed under control of the boxing commission," Dr. Blackwelder asserted. "Then only professionals would wrestle—and there are no professional women wrestlers.

"Walkathons upset a lot of juveniles and also should be eliminated. I wish I could put an I. Q. test on the crowd that goes to see such things. I am sure all of them would be morons."

LAUDS LINCOLN FOR JUDGMENT AS ARMY CHIEF

A relatively little known aspect of Lincoln's greatness—his ability to exercise his power as commander in chief of the armies wisely and discriminatingly—was discussed yesterday by Joseph Davis, Chicago lawyer and Lincoln authority, at a luncheon of the Kiwanis club in the Hotel Sherman.

"Lincoln was not a military genius like Alexander the Great," Davis said. "His endowments were judgment, patience, and determination. He forged victory with the grand strategy of his tireless mind."

Davis quoted from numerous letters from Lincoln to his generals and showed how unerringly the President judged their virtues, drawbacks, and temptations, and how frankly he addressed them. To the indecisive McClellan he wrote: "Are you not overcauptious when you hesitate to do what the enemy is constantly doing?"

With Grant, Davis said, Lincoln adopted a "hands off" policy, for he understood that he had at last found the military genius for whom he had been looking.

2 PAIRS A YEAR SHOE RATION TO STAY, SAYS OPA

A serious shortage of leather will continue to restrict the civilian shoe supply to an average of two pairs a year to an individual, the office of price administration announced yesterday in Washington, D. C. The OPA began rationing shoes one year ago.

Fathers will have to sacrifice one of their stamps to give their children an extra pair, and all members of the family must use care to preserve their footwear, an OPA official said.

The OPA has not set expiration dates for the shoe ration stamps currently valid—No. 18 in book 1, and airplane stamp No. 1 in book 3. Each is good for one pair until further notice.

TWO GUERRILLA BANDS END CIVIL WAR IN GREECE

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 10 (AP).—Cessation of fighting between two leading bands of Greek guerrillas—in effect putting a lid on the main part of the German-fostered civil war that has been raging in that country—was announced officially today.

The announcement said a truce had been declared between bands under Col. Napoleon Zervas and the ELLAS, thru mediation by the Greek government and allied general headquarters in the middle east.

Zervas, a former infantry officer and revolutionist with real military ability, recently formed a new guerrilla organization after breaking from the old EDDES underground. His guerrillas were the only ones known to be actually warring against the Germans in Greece.

[ELLAS is translated "Greece"; EDDES is made up of the initial letters of a secret slogan of the guerrillas and the word itself is freely translated to "forward." ELLAS, a political and military organization, has opposed the king's return. EDDES was solely a military outfit.]

WITHHOLD NAME OF ROOSEVELT FROM PRIMARY

Mayor Kelly yesterday confirmed the report that the Cook county Democrats will not place President Roosevelt's name in the April 11 preference primary. Indications were that downstate Democrats will go along with this reversal of plans.

On Tuesday 60 downstate party leaders and several from Cook county voted unanimous approval of the proposal to put Roosevelt on the ballot. In 1936 and 1940 F. D. R. rolled up huge votes in the Illinois primary. Republican leaders had been eagerly awaiting proof of a decline in the 1944 primary.

"As I understand it, the President doesn't want to become mixed up in politics until it is absolutely necessary," Mayor Kelly said. "What difference does it make whether his name is in the primary or not? When the time comes, there won't be a vote against him in the convention. You won't have to campaign for Roosevelt."

Physician Gets 2 Years as Seller of Narcotics

Dr. Oscar F. Roberts, Negro physician of 5914 S. State st., was sentenced to prison for two years by Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday on a charge of selling narcotics to addicts and peddlers. Asst. United States Atty. Mary D. Bailey said he made a profit of 1,000 per cent on his sales. Dr. Roberts contended he was entrapped by government agents.

REDS PUSH 6 MI.; TIGHTEN NET ON 100,000 NAZIS

Herd Enemy Into Area 20 Miles Across.

LONDON, Feb. 10 (AP).—Russian troops hastened the doom of a trapped German force originally estimated at 100,000 men by smashing six more miles today thru crumbling enemy lines near Korsun in the Ukraine and capturing 10 localities.

A broadcast war bulletin recorded by the soviet monitor said the Russians closing on Korsun, on the Ross river 25 miles south of the middle Dnieper river, had taken villages seven miles southeast and seven miles northwest of the town. Other soviet units on the north and east also are within artillery range of Korsun.

Pocket 20 Miles Across.

The capture of Korsun would lop off a big segment of the 400 square miles of the pocket. So confident were the Russians of an early liquidation of the survivors of the 10 German divisions that the soviet press published a map showing the outlines of the pocket and how it is being attacked by seven soviet columns backed by increasing artillery fire.

German troops inside the trap, which is 150 miles northwest of imperiled Krivoi Rog, now hold an area approximately 20 miles in depth and the same distance in width. Some of the supplies dropped by parachute from German planes were reported falling behind the swiftly advancing Russian lines.

In the battle for Krivoi Rog, Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 3d Ukraine front armies captured several more villages beyond Apostolovo in a westward sweep which is outflanking the big iron city.

Seven Miles from Luga.

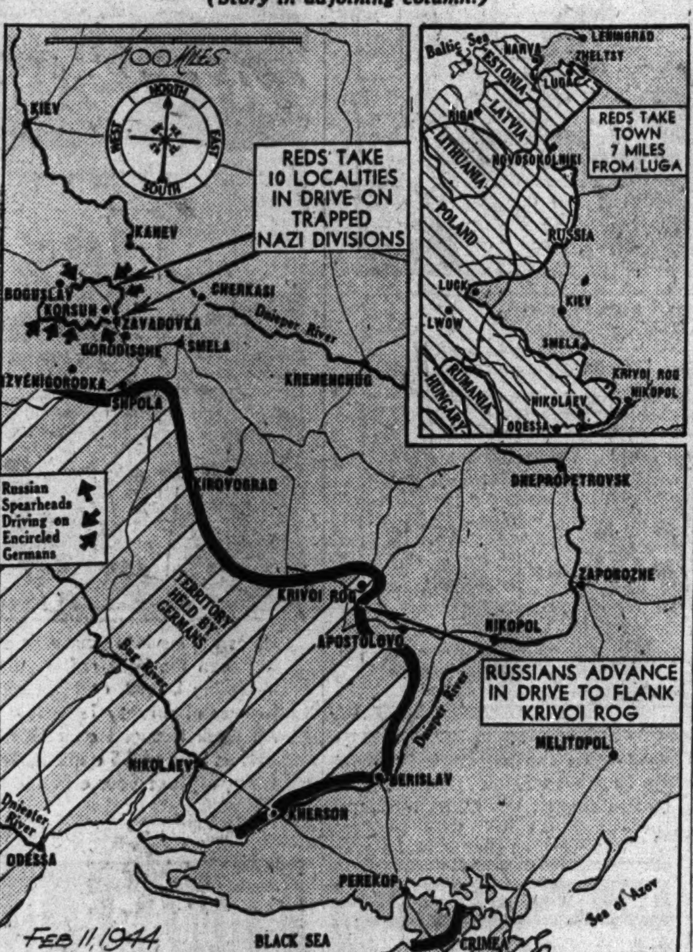
On the northern front the Russians said their Leningrad troops under Gen. Leonid A. Govorov had taken a number of localities, including Zheltsy, only seven miles northeast of Luga, a rail junction on the Leningrad-Pskov line 70 miles east of Lake Peipus.

Zheltsy is on the highway leading into Luga, and the rail station of Tolmachovo, 13 miles north of Luga.

The Russian report, one of the shortest in weeks, made no mention of the progress of soviet attacks inside Estonia between Lake Peipus and the Gulf of Finland, and gave only meager information about the drive below Krivoi Rog by troops which aided in the recapture of the manganese center of Nikopol.

Tighten Pressure on Trapped Nazis

(Story in adjoining column.)



War developments reported yesterday from Russia.

Following is the German war bulletin from a Berlin broadcast recorded by the Associated Press:

"Yesterday enemy attacks and renewed breakthru attempts failed west of Nikopol, south of Krivoi Rog, in the area west of Cherkasi, east of Zhashkov, south of Berezina, in the Vitebsk area, north of Nevel and in the area between Lake Ilmen and Lake Peipus.

"There was brisk local activity in the Polonnoe-Lutsk [Luck] area. German formations in some sectors withdrew according to orders in order to shorten their front line."

FREE COLOMBIAN SENATOR; FAIL TO HALT DISORDERS

BOGOTA, Colombia, Feb. 10 (AP).—Sen. Laureano Gomez, whose arrest on contempt charges yesterday led to clashes between his Conservative party followers and members of the Liberal party which had resulted in a government threat to proclaim martial law, was released from jail tonight.

[At Palm Beach, Fla., President Alfonso Lopez of Colombia, who has been in the United States for several weeks, said he would return to Colombia Saturday.]

The release of Gomez did not immediately stop the public demonstrations precipitated by his arrest. In a clash in front of the congressional building between groups of Conservatives and Liberals one demonstrator was fatally wounded by a bullet. Street fighting continued in the vicinity of the building despite the efforts of hundreds of police to restore order.

CLINIC RESTORES BOY, 12, AFTER SEVERING TWIN

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 10 (AP).—The Winnipeg Tribune said in a copyright story today that Ernie Defort, 12, of Winnipeg had become a normal school boy as a result of an operation which removed him from a parasitic twin.

Born with extra arms, extra legs, and two extra kidneys, but with a single head and one heart, Ernie was taken by his mother to the Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn., where the delicate operation was performed, the newspaper said.

The Tribune reported that when the bandages were removed, Ernie was normal except he appears to have the intelligence of a youth of 18 or 19.

Train Demolishes Auto, Breaks Driver's Finger

Altho his automobile was demolished last night when he drove against the side of a moving Indiana Harbor Belt line freight train at the crossing on 95th street near Harlem avenue, Oliver Dorn Jr., 24, of 7400 W. 95th st., Oak Lawn, escaped with a fracture of his right index finger. He said his vision was obscured by flying snow.

11 ARE INDICTED BY GRAND JURY IN PANDER CASE

Eugene Sullivan, 36, of 737 Pennsylvania st., Gary, who once served part of a sentence for robbery in the Indiana reformatory at Pendleton, and 10 other persons were indicted yesterday by the Lake county grand jury at Crown Point, Ind., on charges of conspiracy to pander and to commit acts of perversion.

A 20 year old unwed mother of Elton, Wis., who accused Sullivan of enticing her into a house of prostitution in Gary when she was 16, is the complaining witness, Prosecuting Atty. Charles W. Gannon said.

Besides Sullivan, who is married, the others named in the indictment are Miss Dena Coffman, 21, route 2, Gary; Ira Caesar and his wife, Helen; Jack Nichols, alias Murphy, and his wife, Marge; and Rocco Pacione and his wife, Helen, all of Gary. The Caesar and Nichols couples and Rocco Pacione were released on $10,000 bond each. Sullivan and Miss Coffman were jailed. Names of two others indicted were suppressed pending their arrest.

Sullivan was released from the reformatory last December after Pvt. Charles Drake was found shot to death at Fort Sheridan and an unsigned letter declared to have been written by Blake indicated Sullivan was innocent.

CORPORATIONS TOP WAR BOND CAMPAIGN GOAL

Announcement that 4th war loan bond sales to corporations had passed the quota of $469,950,000, and a plea to professional financial men to put their weight into accelerating lagging sales to individuals were made yesterday by Frank McNair, county drive chairman.

Corporation sales, latest available figures disclose, total $476,239,000, McNair said. Sales to individuals total $115,652,000, only 46 per cent of the individual sales quota of $251,959,800. The drive began Jan. 18 and was to close Feb. 15. It has been extended, however, to Feb. 26 for individual sales.

"Make the lights go on again all over the world" will be the theme of the Edison day bond rally at Treasury center, 72 W. Adams st., at noon today. Maj. A. A. Gray, secretary-manager of the Electric Association of Chicago, who as a newspaper reporter more than 40 years ago frequently interviewed Thomas A. Edison, will take part in the ceremonies. Pvt. John M. McKee of the marines, who was wounded at Tarawa, also will be present.

Sales of war bonds thru the six Wieboldt department stores total $4,604,300, Werner A. Wieboldt, chairman, announced last night.

More than half of the 700 seats for the dinner for $1,000 bond buyers in the Stevens hotel Monday already have been sold, the committee of chefs and headwaiters sponsoring the event has announced.

BROOKLYN MAN NAMED REVENUE COMMISSIONER

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10 (AP).—Joseph Nunan Jr. of Douglaston, N. Y., was nominated by President Roosevelt to be commissioner of internal revenue.

Nunan, who has been internal revenue collector in Brooklyn, will succeed Robert E. Hannegan, who resigned to become chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Nunan, 46, practiced law in New York City from his graduation from Fordham university in 1922 until his appointment as collector for the Brooklyn district in 1941. He served as a 2d lieutenant in World War I.

BOOKS FROM TRIBUNE AID PUBLIC LIBRARY'S CAMPAIGN FOR YANKS

The Tribune book review department yesterday sent 1,000 new and nearly new books to the Chicago public library to be used as Valentine remembrances for soldiers and sailors in the 6th service command area and overseas. Polly Goodwin, assistant to Fanny Butcher, Tribune literary editor, helped forward them. THE TRIBUNE sent a similar number last year.

The 900 staff members of the Chicago library and branches also are making a drive this week for Valentine books, and the general public has been invited to participate. Miss Mildred Bruder of the library staff said Yanks in service are crying for every possible book, since a national book campaign was discontinued recently. Illinois is the only state continuing the campaign, she said.

Most of the Tribune books will be sent overseas, Miss Bruder said. The popular pocket size volumes are especially welcome because they are light in weight.

WOMAN JURORS VOTE 2 GUILTY OF GAS MURDER

Verdict Sets Punishment at Life in Prison.

returned the only fair verdict. Two of our number were for the death penalty, but we finally compromised because we felt that life imprisonment was sufficient punishment. We all agreed that Krause was just as guilty as Damiani.

Tells of Nerve Strain.

MRS. LILLIAN KLEIN PLOWMAN, 50, of 644 State Line st., Calumet City—We were nervous and jittery all the time because we took the case so seriously. One of the jurors broke down and wept unrestrainedly while we were balloting. The thing we all thought so terrible was that these men, sworn to tell the truth, lied repeatedly. I think the death penalty would have been too severe because they didn't actually go into the exchange to commit murder, but I was for life imprisonment.

MRS. CLARICE MITCHELL, 29, of 969 Spruce st., Winnetka—We had a very important job to do and I think we did it well. I worried some about my two small children, but I didn't let that interfere with my judgment on this case, nor in seeing the job thru. Both men were guilty, but I felt that the death penalty was too severe, since life imprisonment, after all, is quite harsh.

MRS. ETHER ROMER, 29, of 1611 N. Richmond st.—The men didn't intend to kill when they walked into the exchange. If they had I would have voted for the chair. They went in for money. The woman could have avoided the gas if she had left the cage immediately.

For Life Imprisonment.

MRS. AGNES WOGNUM, 31, of Warsaw av., South Holland—I voted for life imprisonment all the time because, after hearing all the evidence, I thought it was the right verdict.

MRS. ALICE R. TRELOAR, 53, of 917 Chicago av., Evanston—I stuck to my request that they get life imprisonment because the murder was intended. They went into that place to rob, but it turned out to be murder. I thought for a time of asking for 99 years, but then we didn't think there was very much difference between 99 years and life imprisonment. We helped swing the two jurors who were holding out for shorter terms by convincing them that maybe the men could get out after 20 years of good behavior.

Three jurors declined comment. They are Miss Mary L. Sarnecki of 2157 North av., Mrs. Lilas C. Crothers of 2016 E. 68th st., and Mrs. Alvina Wageman of 2151 Berteau av.

William Olsen of 4445 N. Mango av., a brother of the slain woman, found no fault with the verdict.

"At first I thought only of the death penalty for the men, but, now that they have been ordered to spend the rest of their lives in the penitentiary, I'm satisfied," he said.

Damiani Appears Stunned.

Krause and Damiani, their hands cuffed before them, each guarded by three bailiffs with a dozen more ready for any emergency, were seated when the verdict was read in Criminal court. Krause, showing no emotion, leaned over and whispered something to his attorney, Harold Levy. Damiani seemed stunned, but his attorney, Leonard Steiger, was patently pleased that his client had escaped the chair.

When Judge Harold G. Ward called for motions, Levy moved for a new trial and Judge Ward said he would hear it Feb. 23. Steiger asked for time to confer with Damiani, but the judge ordered him to confer immediately and make his decision. As the attorney huddled with his client it was apparent that Damiani was insisting on a motion for a new trial. Steiger finally made it and then turned from the bench.

"That's what you want, isn't it?" he asked.

"That's right," replied Damiani.

Other Cases Against Pair.

Austin and Alex Napoli, another assistant state's attorney, asked Judge Ward to set down the other cases against the pair for Feb. 23 so that trial dates can be set then. The men are charged with robbing a currency exchange at 4744 Fullerton av., where gas also was used, a short time after the Pulaski robbery. Krause also is charged with murder in the shooting of Walter Bush of 5847 S. Sawyer av., in a currency exchange robbery at 5151 S. Kedzie av., June 18.

8 CONVICTS TURN LAWYER, PLEAD CASES IN COURT

Charge Trial Errors, Ask Freedom.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 10 [Special].—Eight convicts serving long terms in the Indiana state prison appeared today before Federal Judge Swygert and, displaying their prison-acquired legal knowledge, personally argued petitions designed to show a miscarriage of judgment in each of their cases.

But only one of them was successful in winning court approval. Judge Swygert took the one case under consideration but dismissed the remaining seven petitions.

Four of the felon-lawyers are lifers, two are murderers and others were convicted for such crimes as rape, kidnaping, assault with intent to kill, and banditry.

All earnestly explained to the court that they were unjustly convicted, all but one asserting that they did not commit the crimes attributed to them, and without exception complaining that they had not been properly represented at their trials.

Pound Table, Raise Voices.

Some of them pounded their fists on the table before them and raised their voices in Websterian style as they argued for their freedom on writs of habeas corpus they had prepared, but most of them talked rapidly in the prison mannerism of barely opening the mouth.

"I wasn't even there, judge," argued Frank Potts, 22, of South Carolina, who is serving a life term for the rape and murder of a woman whose body was found in a burning house in Warsaw, Ind., in 1939. "I was in jail in Wabash, Ind., at the time of this crime," he declared.

Charles Potter, 45, of Muncie, Ind., serving life for raping his 12 year old stepdaughter in 1939, declared he was innocent and that "the prison is holding me a slave."

He contended that he was kidnaped by authorities, arrested without a warrant, beaten by police, forced to sign a confession.

One Admits Crime.

Only one man admitted the crime attributed to him. Earl Watson, serving a term of 1 to 10 years for assault with intent to kill, admitted he slashed a man with a knife, but claimed the other man assaulted him first.

The successful convict was Winston Posey, a Negro, serving a life sentence for kidnaping. He contended that he was the victim, not the perpetrator, of the kidnaping. Armed only with a toy pistol, he entered a car in Lake county in 1936 with the intention of stealing it, but was taken for a ride by the unnoticed driver who did not stop until he found a patrolman, he related.

Judge Swygert heard the cases in series of four. Each convict was permitted to argue his petition, then the four were called to the bench and told seven of the petitions were dismissed on ground that remedies in state courts had not been exhausted before appealing to federal court.

In addition to those mentioned, the convicts were four Negroes: James I. Garrett, serving life for second degree murder; William Watkins, 20 years, burglary; George Sneed and Robert Foxall, each 10 years, auto banditry.

Gets 90 Day Suspension on Wire Priority Charge

F. D. Hollister of Batavia, a sales promotion manager and expediter in the purchase of steel wire, was suspended from business for 90 days yesterday by the war production board for allegedly buying and selling 26,000 pounds of wire for florist supplies.

CIVILIANS VIEW MOBILE WEAPON AGAINST PLANES

Cleveland, O., Feb. 10 (AP).—Already a veteran of three major campaigns, the army's "wasp wagon" took its first public bow today. The newest mobile anti-aircraft weapon, known to ordnance as the M-16, is a swift half-track vehicle carrying a cluster of four .50 caliber machine guns geared together for a firepower up to 2,000 shots a minute.

Capt. Robb W. James of the Cleveland ordnance district fired several bursts. The turret can be operated in all directions and from vertical to 10 degrees below horizontal.

Col. H. M. Reedall, ordnance district chief, said the weapon can be fired while the half-track is traveling 50 miles an hour. Especially effective against low flying airplanes, the car is credited with shooting down 14 German planes at Salerno.

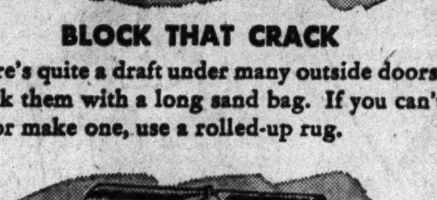
HOW TO SAVE COAL
-and Keep Comfortable!

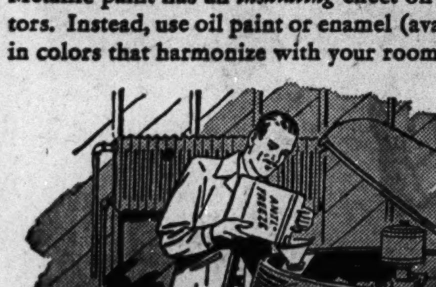
The war-vital coal industry beat all production records in 1943. Regardless of strikes and the manpower shortage, it surpassed 1942's coal output by a wide margin. But there's no margin for waste with America at war, so add the following suggestions to your coal conservation program!

BLOCK THAT CRACK
There's quite a draft under many outside doors. Block them with a long sand bag. If you can't get or make one, use a rolled-up rug.

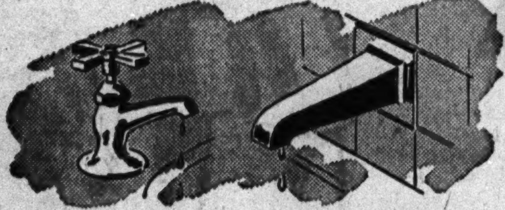
METALLIC PAINT WASTES HEAT
Metallic paint has an insulating effect on radiators. Instead, use oil paint or enamel (available in colors that harmonize with your rooms).



INSTALL BAROMETRIC DAMPER
The barometric damper, manufactured by permission of WPB, cuts coal consumption 5% to 25% by reducing chimney drafts. 100% automatic.



DON'T HEAT YOUR GARAGE
A heated garage is a luxury we can forego this winter. Anti-freeze will protect your car adequately, and for considerably less money.



HAVE LEAKY FAUCETS REPAIRED
Drops of hot water from leaky faucets add up to gallons wasted—and that means precious coal wasted, too. Have repairs made without delay.

BACK OF YARDS MOVE EXPANDED BY U. S. GRANTS

Reputed Head Refuses to Discuss Finances.

BY GORDON SCHENDEL.

The expansion of the Back of the Yards Neighborhood council's activities after it gained access to federal and state funds was disclosed yesterday from records in the office of W. A. Stolte, federal supervisor for Illinois of the food distribution administration.

The disclosure followed opening of an investigation by the citizens' committee of criticism of Chicago Park district policies. The citizens' committee is a nonpartisan body of leaders of civic, business, labor, and welfare organizations. Max Murdock, attorney and committee chairman, said the investigation was inspired by the controversy between Robert J. Dunham, president of the park district, and the Back of the Yards Neighborhood council, and that the committee intended to investigate the council's activities.

Alinsky Directs Manuevers.

The "man behind the scenes" in the yards council setup is Saul Alinsky, listed in council records as its technical consultant and strategy committee chairman. Alinsky, a 35 year old promoter, within a brief time has set himself up in a Michigan av. suite of offices from which he reputedly directs those council maneuvers which have expanded its activities within a few months to where it now spends approximately $10,000 monthly in federal and state funds.

Alinsky, in addition, has set up organizations similar to the council in South St. Paul, Min.; Kansas City, Kas., and Cleveland, O., thru his executive directorship of the Industrial Areas Foundation, another little publicized but well subsidized product of his promoting ability.

Alinsky has a University of Chicago education and calls himself a criminologist. When questioned yesterday regarding finances of his organizations he refused information, parrying with, "What's the pitch, Bud?"

No Subsidy Available.

Organized by Alinsky, the BYN council began serving free milk and hot lunches to neighborhood children in the Davis Square park fieldhouse the summer of 1940. Food supplies were obtained free from the federal surplus foods corporation, on the representation that relief needs existed in the neighborhood. But no cash government subsidy then was available.

The council slowly widened its program to include a half dozen other neighborhood schools. But as recently as June, 1943, three years after it started its free milk and hot lunch programs, the BYN council was sponsoring only seven such programs.

Surplus Foods Ended.

In the spring of 1943, congressional criticism of the administration for simultaneously rationing food and giving away so-called surplus foods forced an end to the surplus foods corporation program.

The United States department of agriculture, however, insisted on finishing its fiscal year, ending July 1, 1943, by substituting cash subsidies for the free foods it had been supplying schools for low cost milk and hot lunch programs. The subsidies were based on the number of pupils participating.

The Back of the Yards Neighborhood council sent in a claim for the proffered federal cash on the basis of the seven milk and hot lunch programs it was sponsoring during April, 1943. It received a federal check for $1,313.12.

Begins New Campaign.

Immediately Saul Alinsky got busy. Organizing an impressive delegation, he led it to Washington, not once but several times, for a campaign that finally resulted in the federal cash subsidies for low cost milk and hot lunch programs for school children being retained in the department of agriculture's 1943-'44 budget. Fifty million dollars was appropriated, of which $2,040,000 was allocated to Illinois.

Then Alinsky led his lobbyists to Springfield. A bill was sent thru at 6 a. m. of the final day of the session which appropriated $1,500,000 for supplemental state aid for school milk and lunch programs for two years.

Million Dollars Annually.

The federal and state measures together made available more than a million dollars annually in such subsidies in Chicago alone. Both provided that not only any school or child care center, but also any service club or similar organization, could apply for the aid, as sponsor of an individual program.

Immediately, after three years of quiescence, the Back of the Yards Neighborhood council aggressively began to seek out schools for which it could sponsor milk and lunch programs. Going far wide of the "back of the yards" neighborhood, it signed them up in all sections of Chicago, as well as in Cicero, Riverside, Blue Island, Chicago Heights, and Berwyn.

A few days ago it sent to County Supt. of Schools Puffer a bill for the 54 school milk and lunch programs in 44 Chicago and Cook county schools which it sponsored during January. The claim totaled $9,573.06, for which amount the BYN council shortly will receive federal and state checks. When the council turns in its February bill a half dozen additional school programs which it has just started is expected to swell its monthly federal and state checks to $12,000.

DRAKE VICTIM'S DAUGHTER GETS NEW SUMMONS

Reports of Plans for Journey Denied.

A coroner's subpena was delivered yesterday to the apartment of Mrs. Patricia Goodbody calling for her apearance at the next session, March 3, of an inquest into the death of her mother, Mrs. Frank Starr Williams, who was murdered in her Drake hotel room more than three weeks ago.

Mrs. Goodbody is confined to the apartment of her aunt, Mrs. Robert A. Roos, in the Ambassador East hotel, suffering from exhaustion as the result of her appearance at an inquest hearing Tuesday. Two days ago it was reported that she was planning to go with her sister, Miss Elizabeth Born, to California for a rest. Then yesterday Coroner Brodie issued his inquest subpena.

"It speaks for itself," said Brodie. He declined to make any further comment.

Too Ill to Accept Subpena.

The subpena was sent to Capt. Frank Reynolds of the Chicago avenue station, and later delivered to the Roos apartment by Sgt. Cornelius Moynihan. Mrs. Goodbody was too ill to accept the service personally, and the summons was handed to her aunt.

Mrs. Roos explained that Mrs. Goodbody is under the care of a physician and a nurse, and added that because of her condition the proposed west coast trip had been canceled. Her condition was described by Dr. Morris W. Lev, 104 South Michigan avenue, as somewhat serious.

"Mrs. Goodbody has suffered a collapse from exhaustion," Dr. Lev said. "Her temperature is over 100. She must stay in bed, and can have no visitors."

Denies Trip Planned.

Dr. Lev observed also that Mrs. Goodbody cannot go to California, then added that she never had made plans for such a trip. Max Bloomstein Jr., a family lawyer, also asserted no plans for the trip had been made.

"Mrs. Goodbody is certainly interested in seeing the case solved," said Bloomstein. "So far as the coroner's subpena is concerned, it was completely unnecessary."

During the day Detective Chief Sullivan received a call from a man, who refused to give his name, saying he had vital information on the Drake case, and would see Sullivan at the Chicago avenue station. The chief waited three hours until the man telephoned again, explaining he could not keep the appointment because of the storm. In another phase, police were reported to have questioned two men, but denied doing so.

KIDNAP THREAT CHARGE HEARING OF BOY DELAYED

Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday continued until March 17 the hearing on a criminal information against David Joseph Hearne Jr., 15, of 8218 Woodlawn av., charged with juvenile delinquency based on an allegation that he sent a threatening letter thru the mails. Atty. Herbert J. Deany, retained by the boy's father who is assistant general passenger agent of the Illinois Central railroad, said the boy was innocent and asked for time to study the juvenile delinquency statute. The lawyer said a jury trial may be asked. Young Hearne is alleged to have sent a letter to Raymond W. Steffen, now of 7014 Kimbark av. demanding $100 under threat of his 7 year old son being kidnaped. The letter was signed "The Spider."

FINANCE COMMITTEE OF COUNTY TO SCAN 1944 BUDGET TODAY

Members of the finance committee of the Cook county board will meet this morning to study the proposed 1944 budget. The meeting was scheduled for yesterday afternoon, but was postponed because printers had not finished their work.

Several commissioners reported they had not seen the budget figures, and hoped to study them before giving approval. Most of the work has been done by Commissioner Daniel Ryan, acting finance chairman, and county staff members.

It is expected the budget, exclusive of a 4 million dollar deficit contracted in 1943, will be about $20,348,000. This is only a half million more than original conservative estimates of revenue.

I'm Cured!

Some day, when I find time, I might write a little book entitled "Over-heard by a commuter." Be sure you read that correctly; I said over-heard not "overhead." The latter might be a subject for another book.

The other day I over-heard a very interesting conversation between two fellow commuters in the seat just behind me. Odd, isn't it, how hard it is to resist listening to conversations when it's none of your business; or looking over a fellow's shoulder while he is reading something. Sort of draws you like a magnet. Well, what I started to say was, both of these chaps were griping and grousing about their high income taxes, and rationing, and about a lot of other inconveniences that are a part and parcel of wartime conditions.

Now, really, these two guys aren't bad fellows—they were just blowing off steam. In a pinch they'd sacrifice a lot more than they are giving up now... they'd give their "shirts," if necessary, to help win the war! After all, griping is one of the privileges of a free and articulate citizenry. And just listen to a good soldier's gripe, sometime, or talk to a seasoned, old top-sergeant.

This writer happened to be cured of "grousing" in a rather peculiar manner. He was privileged to read a letter, sent to a neighbor, from a boy who is somewhere in the South Pacific. The boy wrote of the many hours he was spending in fox holes dodging Japso's bombs; how he and his buddies had to dive into these holes "in the middle of the night." Then he wrote in his letter, "I understand some of the folks back home are griping about their ration cards. Tell them for me—I'll trade my fox hole for their ration card—even!" Well, it takes a jolt like that, once in a while, to bring you to—and to shame you, too. In that case what do you do? You just stop griping.

Well... this war—this job we're doing costs a lot of money—our money. We're paying for it... but it's worth the price. It's durable goods we're buying! And what good would our money, or anything else, do us if we lost all of the things that are worth so much more, to most of us, than all the money in the world? You see, I really am cured!

THE ECLIPSE OF THE LABOR DEPARTMENT

As head of the metal trades department of the American Federation of Labor, John P. Frey is spokesman for that sector of AFL membership most directly connected with war industry. Since the war started he has found himself at the head of a procession of these war workers, leading them thru a picket line into a plant that had been struck against the pleas of AFL leaders. That is not an easy thing for a man to do who has spent his life in the union movement, but the fact that he did it may be taken as a gauge of Mr. Frey's sincerity when he speaks on the problem of war time strikes.

"In the industrial field," noted Mr. Frey, "there are groups and individuals who, because of differing viewpoints, are now accusing each other of giving assistance to the enemy. In the heat of accusation men who should know better are attacking symptoms instead of sanely examining the facts and then dealing with the causes."

Pausing to comment that "legislation and its administration never have and never will make men brave, patriotic, or self-sacrificing or united," he proceeded to analyze some of the strike symptoms to find the causes behind them. He discussed two cases, the recent railway wage negotiations and the 1942 shipyard wage agreement.

The railroad unions went to an established federal agency, the railway mediation board, presented their case, and accepted the award of the board, which was less than they had asked. Then the award was canceled by another federal agent, Stabilization Director Vinson.

In the shipyards, said Mr. Frey, a million organized workers accepted a reduction of a wage rate approved and granted by the government the year before, on the assurance that the wage would later be adjusted to compensate for any increases in the cost of living. But when such increases were sought the authority of the national shipbuilding stabilization committee had been transferred to another federal agency which had held that it was not bound by the committee's 1942 pledge. Hereafter shipyard workers, as Mr. Frey suggested, may well look askance at other promises and pledges of the administration.

"There was within our government," he said, "a well established agency, a clearing house thru which all questions affecting labor were considered and passed upon. That agency is the federal department of labor. Unfortunately for the nation and the war, the labor department was not strengthened when the war came. Instead it was shorn of many of its important bureaus which were divided among other federal agencies created for war purposes.

"Lacking this central clearing house, labor is now compelled to go from one agency to another and not infrequently understandings and agreements reached with one federal agency are afterward thrown out of the window by another agency. Our government-labor relationship is the very opposite of that existing in Great Britain, where matters affecting labor must go thru the clearing house of the minister of labor."

There is a temptation here to expand upon the inadequacies of the secretary of labor. But that forlorn and forgotten lady, who must on some days wish that she was away from it all, is herself only a symptom. The disease that Mr. Frey is attacking, which is a genuine grievance to labor and a great handicap to the war, is Mr. Roosevelt's administrative incompetence.

He took functions away from the department of labor because its secretary was incompetent to handle them and because he refused to replace her with a competent person. But when he transferred the functions he failed to define the duties or to give the men to whom he entrusted them a clear grant of power. Everything is still channeled over his desk. Mr. Roosevelt must have a finger in every pie, which is why the New Deal kitchen is a shambles.

There is a better basis for understanding between management and labor in the United States today than at any previous time in its history. Not only has the idea that labor unions can be broken been stamped out almost universally but most managers of industry are also becoming convinced that it is to their advantage to deal with well disciplined unions. Labor leaders are in many instances showing a sense of the responsibility that goes with their power.

But management and labor have less freedom today to deal with each other than they have ever had before. They must deal thru the government broker, a broker who is often confused, frequently incompetent, and in too many instances mischievous. The New Deal rode into power on class hatreds, which it has assiduously cultivated since. If management and labor learn to get along without its interference the New Deal will lose its principal political asset. It is unwilling to yield that advantage for any such trifle as winning a war.

THE WILLKIE RING.

The interrelationships which exist among the business giants of the country are achieved by the device of interlocking directorates, often condemned as contrary to the public interest. When X, an active man, is a director of both company A and company B, coöperation in numerous directions is possible. Many is the deal that is worked out at, before, after, or as a result of board meetings. The late Judge Gary proved that to stifle competition it wasn't necessary to have anything more than a friendly dinner.

Wendell L. Willkie serves as an intermediary for a wide range of business. He is the head of one of the big motion picture companies and is a member of the board of directors of a Wall street bank, an insurance company, and an investment trust sponsored by a firm of investment bankers. He is associated in the management of these companies with the head of the telephone monopoly, the big boss of the steel trust, the heads of two of the three largest banks in the country, the heads of two of the four largest life insurance companies, the head of one of the big three whisky companies, and the president of one of the big railroads and the principal stockholder of another. The assets represented by the corporations thus interlocked thru Willkie exceed 25 billion dollars.

Big business would like to interlock the biggest business of all into this combination thru the election of the barefoot boy from Wall street as President. And it would be worth a lot of money to bring that result about.

THE APPROACH TO THE FOURTH TERM.

As in preparation for the third term, Mr. Roosevelt's approach to the fourth is flippant. For the third nomination the White House tenant assumed the attitude and countenance of a man longing for the peace of his ancestral acres and for relief from the cares of state, while at his behest the phony reformists and the machine politicians herded the bondsmen toward the Chicago Stadium, where in due time the third termer was to appear by telegram, grabbing the crown he professed to push aside.

All the proceedings were in the glow of high hypocrisy, with Mr. Ickes, Mr. Hopkins, Mayor Hague, and Mayor Kelly among the boys in the control room. The convention itself was dumb and when Mr. Wallace was produced as a must for second place the delegates were disgusted, but nevertheless helpless.

All the time Mr. Roosevelt was pretending that he was loath to remain in office he was striving at the top of his bent to make certain that he would be the first President to break down the limitations of office and insure his appearance in the war he knew was to follow his election to the third term, a knowledge he tried to conceal from the people all during the campaign. Now Mr. Roosevelt seeks a fourth term, having established the precedent that tenure in the White House is limited only by the success of the tenant's ambitions and manipulations, but he tries to carry it off with a jocose coyness regarding his intentions.

It has been assumed heretofore that the ambitions of a suitable man for the Presidency were honorable and could be honest. If a man felt justified in offering himself as a candidate he announced himself. If he was in office and wanted a second term, as was in the nature of things, that desire was known. Men did not approach the White House as a chicken coop in the dark. Four years ago it may have been that Mr. Roosevelt felt that an avowal of his intentions would be dangerous. Therefore Hopkins and Hague went to work at his bidding, but without his spoken consent, permitting him to hold back as a man reluctant to be pressed into continued service.

Now we have it all over again with a touch of comic relief this time. Mr. Roosevelt will exchange pleasantries on the subject when he feels that he must keep the people thinking of him as the man who has a lease on the White House. Failure to continue in office would wreck him. Reëlection is his passport to the glories of world settlements. Everything has been preparatory to this great act of the show. If he missed it he would be distracted. Apparently he hasn't enough respect for his office to make a plain statement that he wants a fourth nomination and is seeking it.

If there were nothing discreditable in his ambitions and nothing disreputable in his political methods he would be honest in his dealing with the people. He is a candidate. The Democrats have no other. What stops the candidate from announcing himself? Is straight dealing too foreign to his temperament?

THE ENGLISH RIGHT TO VOTE.

A deputation from the Manx house of keys, parliament of the Isle of Man, has demanded home rule from the British ministry of home security, declaring that the citizens of the Isle of Man are tired of being tied to the apron strings of the present British government.

Similar signs of unrest are developing in other parts of the British Isles. There is a separatist movement in Scotland. In England itself, the government indorsed coalition candidate in Brighton and Hove, one of the strongholds of the Conservative party, slid into parliament by only the narrowest of margins in a recent by-election. This candidate had the indorsement of Prime Minister Churchill, who even went so far as to characterize his opponent's bid as "an attempted swindle."

All of these incidents are the characteristic reaction of free men who find that their freedom has been sold out. The present English government has been in power for nine years, held there under the guise of war emergency thru a coalition of party leaders who do not submit their stewardship to the people in a general election.

There probably are not a great many Englishmen who, as long as the war lasts, wish to replace Mr. Churchill as prime minister, but there are a lot of them who resent the fact that the franchise, the right to vote for which they and their ancestors fought thru many years, has been denied them by Mr. Churchill's government. Resentment against government by decree and especially against imprisonment without trial is strong.

The English people find themselves fighting a war for freedom while their own government is a virtual dictatorship which refuses responsibility to the people and maintains itself thru the dodge of postponing elections. They see no freedom for themselves in this setup, or in the tyrannous security acts and other dictatorial fiats under which they are now forced to live.

BROKEN BUTTERFLY.

Memories of Lina Cavalieri, reported dead by bombing in Florence, return vividly to many who followed the Chicago opera seasons before and after the First World war. She was an unforgettable figure of the lyric stage because of her beauty, which was of the dark, classical Italian type. The debutantes and dowagers in the audiences were slightly catty about her because they were all in long-distance love with her handsome husband, Lucien Muratore, but their dress-suited escorts were worshipful slaves of the Roman enchantress.

When Cavalieri made her Chicago debut she was 40 years old, but she looked like a girl. This column's last glimpse of her was 10 years later, when she had crossed the 50 mark, and it was at fairly short range, for she was in a stage box in a Paris theater, without the heavy makeup of operatic disguise. She was still with Muratore, and she still looked like a girl—or a woman for the ages.

* * *

The major successes of Cavalieri's operatic career were before American audiences, at the Metropolitan and Manhattan Opera houses in New York, and at the Auditorium in Chicago. The stage upon which she sang in sumptuous productions is now a service men's bowling alley, and somewhere in Florence there is a smudged erasure from a casual bomb. For her and the world of her brilliant past the last line of "I Pagliacci," in which she often appeared, may be whispered: La commedia è finita.

"CALL ME EARLY, MOTHER DEAR."

You wake with a start—it's a quarter to five—
And you're not really sure if you're dead or alive;
It's cold as the arctic; Fate's up to his tricks,
And reveille comes at six.

You jump into clothes that are chilly and damp—
The washroom seems full of the whole blessėd camp,
You scrub in cold water and feel twice as dirty
—And now it's five-thirty.

You look at your bed, tho its outlines may faze ya
(It looks like a relief map of North Central Asia),
You tug and you pull just to straighten the mess
—It's five forty-five, I guess.

Now shelves must be dusted; the floor must be mopped;
The windows all shined and the pillows all whopped.
Somehow you finish, tho breathing quite heavily—
And then it's reveille!

But don't cease your labors—don't stop for a rest,
Don't heave a deep sigh, tho you've given your best.
There's this to consider, if you feel in clover:
Tomorrow you do it all over!

The Philosophy of Noodles.

The boys and girls in the backroom at Matt Schulien's place of refreshment at Willow and Halsted streets got into a hot argument the other night and have referred their problem to the Line o' Type research department. The debate raged around this question:

"Where was the noodle invented—in Austria or Bavaria?"

The dictionary and various works on gastronomy attribute the origin of the noodle to Germany without going into regional details. The rivalry between Bavaria and Austria over this matter suggests a post-war plan: Let them be united, at the peace treaty table, into a South German republic and live happily ever afterward, sharing the fame of noodle invention.

At its next meeting, the Willow Street Debating society might turn to the auxiliary question: "Who invented the spaetzle?"

Naval Maneuver on Madison St.

The 50 cent piece was new and shiny, but to the consternation of its owner, a small boy, it lay far beyond reach at the bottom of a sidewalk well in West Madison st.

Pedestrians stopped to offer advice. "Get a magnet and a string," some one suggested. "Try putting a wad of gum on a pole," another volunteered. "Tear up the grating," a third recommended. Most of the crowd simply stared down at the coin and then at the boy.

A trio of sailors stopped, surveyed the scene, and considered. The treasure was sunk all right and no gear was on hand to raise it. But it took the navy just three seconds to solve the boy's problem.

From one of the sailor's pockets, another shiny 50 cent piece popped into the lad's hand. The sailors strode on before the boy could speak. Then he took one last look at the coin in the pit and hurried off, smiling. Newcomer.

Hies off to town on a shopping browse
(Tho where, the Lord only knows!).

While her face wears a whimsy wrinkle,
She pulls some sort of a paradox
Wrapped 'round with tissue and crinkle.

And lo!—what a frilly,
Quite frightfully silly,

FEW NEED SUPPLEMENTARY VITAMINS.

THE other day a letter came from an intelligent correspondent inquiring about the so-called deficiency diseases. He closed his letter with the paragraph:

"In all your discussions you seem to take the ground that not many individuals require additional vitamins—that is, if they employ standard diets. Perhaps this is true, but there must be certain maladies that are due to poorly balanced menus which this widespread vitamin propaganda will correct."

My reply reiterated the statement that few of us will need supplementary food accessories if we will see to it that our meals are reasonably well planned.

It must be admitted, however, that a goodly number of our population lack calcium, while a much smaller group do not receive enough vitamins B and C. It would be wonderful if each home in the land could become a study group on nutrition. There is enough available information so that every one can be well informed.

What are some of the frank deficiency states which may give us trouble? Now and then, a case of pellagra will be encountered. As a rule, the victim will be one who has ignorantly or stubbornly neglected his body; or who has been unable to obtain essential rations. Several years ago, in certain areas of the country, this condition was far more common than it is today. The generous feeding of yeast—plus dietary instructions—has brought about a sharp reduction in the number of cases.

In some communities, nearly 2 per cent of all patients admitted to hospitals will be below par because of a nutritional failure. Unless the manifestations are acute, the answer does not lie in administering pills or concentrates. Natural edibles will bring the most satisfactory type of recovery.

Most of us have learned the significance of a tender, swollen tongue, diarrhea, inflammation of the skin, and sore lips. These symptoms usually indicate that the menus should be rechecked for the presence of the basic ingredients.

All too often, the one who is addicted to John Barleycorn has for years substituted the satisfying effects of alcohol for substantial meals. This may result in changes in the liver—cirrhosis. A starved structure cannot function efficiently and, when called upon to metabolize a large amount of alcohol, it will rebel.

If the nutriments which are absorbed from the digestive tract are wholesome, cirrhosis will not appear. On the other hand, the signs of a deficiency which come with a damaged liver may be due to the fact that the organ is unable to handle nourishment in a normal fashion. The cause may be largely poor selection, finicky appetite, or an actual disorder within the digestive tract which interferes with solution and assimilation.

These few examples do not mean that any large percentage of our citizens suffer from malnutrition. We do need to understand, however, the make-up of a sensible food program. Furthermore, we can stop spoiling good dishes in their preparation.

ICE HUNGER.

Mrs. M. C. writes: I have a craving for ice and some days I can't endure unless I have six or eight cubes. Why is this?

REPLY.

You are lucky that you do not live near the equator. Apparently you are merely satisfying thirst. Don't shock your stomach by swallowing unmelted fragments. And don't take enough to establish a chilly disposition.

THROAT DISCOMFORT.

O. B. writes: Can the lining of the throat be strengthened? Popcorn, or any rough food, causes distress in this region.

REPLY.

Yes, by getting rid of infection. You probably suffer from chronic irritation which will yield to mild antiseptic gargles. Occasionally, the parts will need to be cauterized if swollen areas of lymph tissue are present.

INUNDATION.

N. L. P. writes: Is it true that drinking two quarts of water at one time can drown the heart?

REPLY.

Not a chance. The organ is too good a swimmer. The stomach will become overdistended, however, and the ensuing pressure may give rise to considerable discomfort. What is the occasion—a wager?

NORMAL DIET.

Mrs. T. H. writes: What vitamins should I give my family? They are never sick but every one tells me we should employ one of these preparations for good health.

REPLY.

The common sense vitamin. This is found in well cooked food and balanced menus, served attractively and in sufficient quantities.

Washington Conundrum: Congresswoman Jessie Sumner of Illinois was in a house of representatives elevator ascending to the house floor when the elevator boy, a newcomer, turned and said conversationally: "Well, what is it today? Another sufficiency bill?" "You mean a deficiency bill," Rep. Sumner returned promptly. "There's never a sufficiency here, but always a deficiency."

Delayed Sorrow.

Then there was the man from Arkansas, a writing man, who had persistent wires from his congressman asking him to come to Washington to take an information [pressagentry] job. He didn't want to go, but at last he did. He had gotten as far as St. Louis, as he relates it, when he knew he wasn't going to take the job, but it was too late to turn around. In Washington he was introduced to the official who wished to hire him. The man did all but cry on his shoulder in gratitude. "We're in a pinch," he kept saying, "just a pinch. Every time I get a good man, he goes in the draft."

The Arkansan heard him all the way thru and was politely solicitous, but it only confirmed him more in his decision not to take the job. "But you know," he said of it later, "he was so pitiful I didn't have the courage to tell him face to face I wouldn't take it. He looked so sad and reproachful, anyway, that it would have been just like slapping a cocker spaniel. Now I have to go home and wire him that I've changed my mind."

February on an Illinois Farm.

It is such a lovely day out here on the farm. The hens all came out and hurried to the front yard. There is still a bit of green grass down under the brown, and they pick for that. They sing so happily, prima donnas trying to outdo each other in their arias. The outside wash room door was ajar, and all at once a strident, triumphant cackling came from out of its stillness. I peeked in, and there was an old yellow biddy broadcasting her lay. She had laid in the clothes basket. My hens are all gentle, and as I picked her up, she said, "Cur . . . cur . . . cur . . ." to me and tried to peck off my buttons. If one will just look around, farm life is crowded with both interesting and beautiful little things. They lighten the work and make one feel farm life is not a drudgery. I wouldn't trade with any one—not even for the swankiest brownstone front on 5th avenue, for there I wouldn't have an old wash room for biddy to sneak into and lay her prize egg.

THAT NEW DEAL SPREAD.

Newark, O., Feb. 1.—Looking thru some old papers we found that in 1919 hogs sold here from 20 to 22½ cents, while smoked hams were advertised at 38 cents. Today hogs sell at from 10 to 13½ cents and smoked hams are advertised at 35 cents. Why so much difference in the spread between live hogs and cured pork?

Short hours, high wages, union dues, workmen's compensation, social security, old age pensions, idleness insurance are paid by all employers after the hogs leave the farm. Then added to that is the cost of the present rationing system; all the extra help needed to collect, sort, convert, and bank all these ration coupons, and the consumer pays. Unless the packer and retail meat dealer can pass these costs onto the consumer they go out of business.

The effort of those in authority is to place all the blame for high meat prices on the farmer, with the result that a lot of farmers are going into war work, where they find the hours shorter and the pay better.

There will not be so much pork and poultry next year. Grain is too high in price to risk feeding it to meat animals, the ceiling price of which may be lowered. Too much WFA and OPA.

HE SAYS "NUTS."

Chicago, Feb. 8.—May I have a word to say about C. M. Marquiss' article on sales tax. First, I will start off with the vernacular—nuts.

Why, if you advertise an article for 98 cents, when I come in to purchase the advertised article, should you say, "I am adding 2 cents, so that you can help defray my real estate, personal property taxes, etc?"

Set your prices, based on your overhead, and the profit you desire to make, then sell at that price—and, Mr. Marquiss, there will be no misunderstanding. C. M. Butler.

VOICE FROM THE ARMY.

OAHU ISLAND, Feb. 2.—I have just read the views expressed on the wet and dry question by Joseph C. Yemm in The Tribune of Jan. 17. So he would have prohibition forced down our throats again? While the man in service is giving up his luxuries, pleasures and, even freedom, temporarily, to make this world a better place to live, people of his ilk would bring back the bootlegger. He, and others like him, make me wonder if the man in service is being sold out once again. It should be called "Wartime Cycle Temperance Union."

PLACING THE BLAME.

Chicago, Feb. 2.—The stories of Jap atrocities should defeat Franklin D. Roosevelt in his coming campaign for reëlection.

The source of these reports is military information, recently released, yet it is obvious that the President has had the knowledge of these incidents almost as quickly as they occurred. Still he has withheld aid to the Pacific defenders, preferring to court Joe Stalin's favor by sending Russia materials that should have served to liberate suffering Americans.

Bickering, strikes and idling have undermined our maximum efforts on the home front. Men and materials have been diverted so that Gen. Douglas MacArthur could have no opportunity to distinguish himself and become the No. 1 hero until after the next election.

This is an indictment, not only of the party in power, but of the very soul of the President, who, for all his sol disant humanitarianism, has played politics with the lives of thousands of fine Americans. Lucile Goddard.

WHERE THE MONEY COMES FROM.

Oconto, Wis., Feb. 4.—A recent press report covers a dispute between Sen. Butler and Sen. Guffey in which Butler stated that this country was conducting a $6,000,000,000 New Deal boondoggle in Latin America.

Guffey struck back at Butler by saying that "federal expenditures got Butler's home state of Nebraska out of the red." Just where does Sen. Guffey figure the federal government got the money to give to the state of Nebraska in the first place? As Rep. Sumners of Texas [who has brains] recently stated—"We have been tapping the sources of state revenue and sending the revenue back to Washington, then Washington has been sending it back to the states—loaded down with federal power." SETS MARCH 20 AS TRIAL DATE OF MRS. DILLING

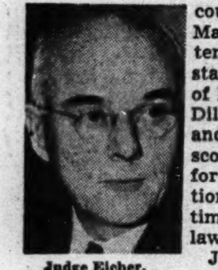
Co-Defendant to Call In Kimmel and Short.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher of the District of Columbia court today set March 20 as the tentative date for starting the trial of Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling, Chicago, and more than a score of others for alleged violation of the war time sedition laws.



Judge Eicher.

Judge Eicher announced the tentative date after it had been requested by James J. Laughlin, Washington attorney representing Edward James Smythe, New York City, a defendant. Laughlin asked that the trial be set so he could take the necessary legal steps to assure the appearance of Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short as witnesses.

Plans to Force "Real Story."

Kimmel and Short were in command at Pearl Harbor when the Japanese made their sneak attack Dec. 7, 1941. Both subsequently were retired from active duty. They have been blamed for dereliction of duty but have never been brought to trial.

Laughlin has announced that Kimmel and Short will be subpenaed to tell the "full story" of the Pearl Harbor attack in open court. Their version never has been made known.

One of the sedition charges against the defendants is that they spread stories that President Roosevelt and other government officials "sold out" the country and the Japanese attack was "deliberately invited" to plunge the country into war.

Laughlin said it was his aim in calling Kimmel and Short as witnesses to show what "the state of preparedness was at that time and what it could have been."

Hints It May Be Dropped.

Judge Eicher hesitated to set a specific date for the trial, observing that he was "unable at the present time to say whether or not there will be a trial." He said he had before him motions to quash the third indictment brought by the government against the defendants, and until he rules on this motion, there is no assurance there will be a trial.

Judge Eicher upheld the government's motion to strike Laughlin's plea to inspect the minutes of the grand jury that returned the indictment.

He overruled Laughlin's contention that the indictment was invalid because the district attorney is not a resident of the District of Columbia, but of Bangor, Me.

Lois de Lafayette Washburn and Frank W. Clark were arraigned. When they refused to plead, Judge Eicher entered pleas of not guilty for them but gave their counsel permission to file a motion to withdraw.

SEN. BREWSTER RAPS ROOSEVELT STAND ON SOLDIER VOTING BILL

Lorain, O., Feb. 10 (AP).—Sen. Brewster [R., Me.] tonight criticized the Roosevelt administration for "not making up its mind" on the soldier vote issue and advocated a state ballot for service men and women.

Speaking at the Lorain County Lincoln day dinner, Brewster declared 43 state governors favored the state ballot system. He said the proposed federal ballot was "just a blank sheet of paper."

The senator, one of a group which toured world battle fronts last fall, asserted "our kid glove diplomats who are as totally unprepared in their field as the military forces were at the outbreak of hostilities, are far behind representatives of other nations in the knowledge of the intricate problems of post-war planning." He said he believed the Republican party would turn to Ohio for a Presidential candidate and named Gov. Bricker as a favored party standard bearer.

CITY GUARDING AGAINST INDIANA TYPHOID WAVE

Despite a typhoid fever epidemic of 150 cases in 15 northern Indiana counties where 293 farms selling milk to the Chicago market are located, local health officials yesterday said there is no danger of the disease spreading to Chicago.

As precautionary measures, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, ordered eight dairy inspectors to the area in Warsaw, Miami, and Huntington counties to work with Indiana state health officials and ordered extra precautions in pasteurizing milk in all local dairies serviced by the area.

The epidemic, William J. Guerin, chief sanitary officer of the local health department, said, is believed to have been caused by uncooked food distributed from one of the Indiana cities in the locality and contaminated by a plant employe who is a carrier.

SOLDIER BALLOT CONFERENCE HAS 5 ON EACH SIDE

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—State ballot supporters today smashed an administration effort to pack the senate conference committee with federal ballot advocates in the senate-house soldier vote dispute. The debate embraced everything from senate precedent and ethics to the short pants once worn by Majority Leader Barkley [D., Ky.] and the recent marriage of Sen. Bridges [R., N. H.]. Sen. McKeller [D., Tenn.] confessed his age, 75, for the first time in senators' memory. And Sen. Connally [D., Tex.] handed a burning rebuke to Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.], an author of the federal plan.

Sen. McKellar.

Tonight the whole soldier vote controversy was in the hands of senate and house conferees, who will soon schedule a meeting. Rep. Rankin [D., Miss.], leader of the house fight for the state ballot, predicted that the house conferees would never accept the federal plan.

May Push Taft Plan.

There was conjecture that the senate conferees might try to win a compromise on the plan of Sen. Taft [R., O.] which would authorize use of the short or bob-tailed federal ballot only in cases where service personnel fail to receive state ballots.

Selection of the senate conference committee brought on a major battle. Barkley and the administration forces demanded the appointment of the elections subcommittee of six senators who approved the federal ballot plan for submission to the senate. This group consisted of four in favor of the federal plan and two against.

This would have given the administration federal ballot advocates four senate votes to one for the state ballot, since Sen. Bridges, one of the subcommittee members and a state ballot supporter, is on his honeymoon.

Asks Seniority Selection.

McKellar insisted that the conferees be appointed on the basis of committee seniority, which would have made the odds only three to two in favor of the federal ballot supporters. McKellar threatened to call for a vote on the conferees.

After a furious debate, Barkley yielded and suggested the appointment of Senators Green [D., R. I.], Hatch [D., N. M.], Austin [R., Vt.], Connally, and Butler [R., Neb.].

The first three are federal ballot advocates and the others are state ballot supporters. The senate unanimously accepted the appointments. In the discussion that preceded McKellar said that Bridges could not be summoned back from his honeymoon to be a conferee. This brought an outburst of congratulations for the absent senator, and discussion of his wedding that became embarrassing.

Connally Raps Lucas.

Lucas mentioned that Connally would be appointed under McKellar's plan.

Connally replied that he did not wish to be a conferee but said he would fairly represent the senate and not "sell out" if chosen. When Lucas tried to soothe him, Connally shouted:

"I'm not mad. I lay the blame for what the senator from Illinois said on his failure to appreciate the ethics of the situation."

McKellar is the senate's No. 2 man in point of service, but he has never made a point of telling his age. When he and Barkley clashed McKellar commented:

"I wouldn't know. I didn't get here until after the majority leader."

"The senator from Tennessee came here when I was in short pants," Barkley replied.

"Then you must have been wearing short britches when you were 34," commented McKellar.

"I've looked in vain for the senator's age in the congressional directory," responded Barkley, who is 66. "Mine's there but he doesn't put his in."

"I'm 75," said McKellar.

"Well," Barkley wound up, "I came to the house in 1911 in long pants. But the senator from Tennessee has been trying to pull them off ever since."

Some one in the gallery whispered: "He's doing it again."

CHICAGO'S FEBRUARY RELIEF LOAD, 36,400 CASES, IS NEW LOW

The Chicago relief load dropped to 36,400 cases, lowest in history, in February, George J. Klupar, commissioner of the Chicago welfare administration reported yesterday. This was a decrease of 1,161 from the December figure. Cases have decreased for 41 consecutive months, Klupar said. There were 315 new applicants last month and 107 of these were the result of illness in families. Five grants were made because wage earners entered military service.

Jackson, who said their purpose is "to register our protest with the Republican party that it shall not nominate Wendell Willkie for President."

Says He'll Be Nominated.

Baker, Ore., Feb. 10 (AP).—Wendell Willkie predicted in a brief speech from a railroad car here last night that he would be nominated for the Presidency. The defeated 1940 G. O. P. candidate is on a tour of western states.

"I'm going to be nominated for the Presidency of the United States on the Republican ticket," he said without elaboration.

BRANDS F. D. R.'S BALLOT PLAN AS PART OF A PLOT

Kingsport, Tenn., Feb. 10 (AP).—Sen. Butler [R., Neb.] tonight accused President Roosevelt of attempting to "intimidate" congress into approving a federal war ballot and he said such tactics are "part and parcel of a well organized movement in this country to destroy congress."

In an address at a Lincoln birthday dinner here, Butler said there was "an amazing irresponsibility" about the President's statement that a state absentee ballot measure passed by the house was a "fraud on the American people."

Butler, who supported a state ballot amendment, declared the President's statement was made "with a view to intimidating the legislative branch to vote the proposal which he wanted and which I hereby characterize as the fraud."

35 CIO STRIKERS QUIT PICKET LINE TO RESUME JOBS

War Plant Says 'No' to Union Demand.

While more strikers left picket lines to return to work at the Automatic Transportation company, a war plant fully engaged in the manufacture of bomb and munitions handling equipment for the navy, other pickets appeared yesterday outside the plant gates at 101 W. 101st st. They carried signs reading "The U. S. Government Will Defend Our Rights," "United We Stand—V for Victory," and "Twyman Lies to Workers."

Patrick Greathouse, CIO-UAW international representative in charge of organizing the plant, said that he has "continually pleaded with the strikers to return to their jobs, but we don't have anything to offer them to prompt their return."

Demand Recognition.

He said the strikers have vowed not to go back until the company agrees to recognize local 68 as the collective bargaining agent, and until Elmer F. Twyman, plant general manager, withdraws his threat "to fire all the leaders of the plot which resulted in the strike."

Late yesterday Twyman received a telegram from Greathouse offering to "meet and bargain at any time." Twyman replied that "the national and regional war labor boards, the national labor relations board, and other government agencies have not ruled that we should bargain with your union on behalf of all our employes."

Denies CIO Has Majority.

"The UAW-CIO does not represent a majority of our employes," Twyman's reply continued. "We have tried to induce the NLRB to pass on your claims that you represent a majority of our employes, but you have fought against having that claim passed upon—obviously because you know your claim is false and would fail."

Twyman announced that 35 more strikers returned to work yesterday to join the more than 500 workers who have remained at their jobs since the strike started Monday morning. The plant normally employs 700.

DECLARES U. S. AGENCIES PUSH AFL, CIO RAIDS

Independent Leader Asks Protection.

Government agencies are fostering attempted raids on the membership of independent unions by locals of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations, Thomas M. Law, president of the independent Automotive Workers Industrial Union, Inc., charged yesterday in letters to every member of congress.

He demanded that congress protect the rights of the 47 millions of workers he says are not members of the two big international unions by controling the "agencies of our government that are now conspiring with selfish interests" to divest these people of their rights.

Contract Since 1937.

The Automotive Workers Industrial union was organized at the Diamond T Motor Car company plant in Chicago and has had a contract with the company, now engaged in war production, since 1937. It has 3,000 members and is affiliated with the Confederated Unions of America, which is composed of independent unions with a membership of about 200,000.

"No one has disputed that the provisions of our contract are the best secured by any labor organization in this area," Law wrote. "Nevertheless, we are constantly being harassed by government agencies which are fostering attempted raids by the various locals of the CIO and the AFL upon our membership."

Condition a "Disgrace."

Law wrote that the situation with his union was similar to that of the Mechanical Educational Society of America, which last week called a strike in Toledo and Detroit because of alleged interference in its contractual relations with employers by the national labor relations board.

"We believe it is a disgrace that this should be tolerated in a nation fighting for the preservation of democracy," Law continued. "We have more than 800 members now in the military forces fighting for the principles involved in the four freedoms. Certainly it is not encouraging to those men and women that, while they are on the battlefields thruout the world defending these principles, they should be vulnerable to losing them at home.

Ask Protection of Rights.

"America has always believed in protecting minorities when they are being oppressed by any vicious, contemptible forces that know no code of ethics. May we implore you as a standard bearer for the 47 million working people of America and their families, who are not now members of the AFL or the CIO, to protect them on one of the most sacred rights of life—the right in a job to earn a living for themselves and those dependent upon them?"

Friend of the Yanks' Kin

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

[This department answers questions covering problems related to the social service of relatives of service men, both in the column and by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent with inquiries to Sally Joy Brown.]

Mrs. L. A. asks: "My son-in-law is soon to be drafted, and we have heard a number of conflicting statements concerning the amounts his wife can receive in aid. Some say that the service man's entire salary of $50 goes to the dependent in the first month. Is that true?"

ANSWER: No. On the contrary, at the present time, the government pays the entire $50 which makes up the family allowance for the wife. After the first month the service man is expected to contribute $22 a month from his salary, the government adds $28, making a total of $50 a wife can receive.

Mrs. O. M. writes: "I am a widow and have been receiving a family allowance from my only son who is in service. I have just learned that I am in need of a serious operation, which I cannot possibly afford on my present allowance of $37 a month. Can you advise me of any source of assistance? My son is in the army."

ANSWER: Consult the Army Emergency Relief society, room 1109, 20 North Wacker dr.

Mrs. W. G. writes: "My husband is a staff sergeant. I have been living with him at his post in a western state. He now expects to be sent overseas, and I plan to return to the state of Illinois to live with my parents. Can you inform me about the availability of free maternity care in Illinois?"

ANSWER: Free maternity care is provided in this state, but it is limited to the wives of service men in the four lowest pay grades. If you husband is a staff sergeant you would not be eligible for that type of care. In case of financial need, consult the Army Emergency Relief officer at the camp nearest your home.

W. J. A. writes: "Can you advise me as to whether there is an army regulation which prohibits the wife of an army officer from working?"

ANSWER: To the best of my knowledge there is no such regulation. Many army wives have taken employment of all kinds. The army expects its officers to provide support for their wives, but there is nothing to prevent women from accepting work during the present emergency.

WMC ANNOUNCES 5 POINT CHICAGO LABOR PROGRAM

Drastic Controls Go Into Effect Next Week.

Nine hundred Chicago plant executives and business leaders were told yesterday by Lester Brown, area man power director, what they will have to do to keep the city out of a No. 1 labor shortage area classification or to get it out if the city is put into that grouping March 1.

Brown and 15 other government, army, navy, and business leaders spoke at the initial meeting of the war mobilization committee, formed by William H. Spencer, regional war man power director, in the Morrison hotel. The group will strive to recruit new workers in industry, to get better use of present employes, and to cut down turnover in critical plants.

Program Starts Next Week.

Brown's program, which the committee, with 30 industry and 18 district subcommittees, will start putting into effect next week, calls for the following moves:

1. Application of employment quotas and ceilings, limiting each industry to a fixed percentage of available new workers, and each plant in the industry to a fixed share, based on the urgency of products as determined by the army, navy, and maritime commission.

2. Immediate extension of the 48 hour week, or a longer one, to all war-useful or essential businesses and industries. Technically, the city went on the 48 hour week Jan. 16, but all plants reporting release schedules in anticipation of such a move, or asking exemption, are deemed in compliance. Brown said actual compliance must be effected within the next few weeks.

Thousands Must Transfer.

3. "Large numbers" of workers in unessential or unclassified businesses must transfer to war plant work. Brown said there are 700,000 men and women workers in these categories, and that "many thousands" must be induced to switch to essential work.

4. Plants must provide jobs for and recruit housewives, students, and part time workers on special shifts.

5. Community facilities for shopping at night, day nurseries, daylong school care, plus additional housing and transportation, "must be an integral part of the program," Brown said.

Urges Protecting Seniority.

Comdr. R. J. Twyman, 9th naval district civilian personnel officer, told the executives that racial prejudices would have to be abandoned and that federal, county, and municipal employes should be released to industry, their jobs to be filled by women. He also said workers in nonessential industries would have to be promised job and seniority security in their present work if they are to be induced to go into war plants.

Lawrence Appley, executive director of the war man power commission, said that accurate determination of labor supply and demand will have to be completed before Chicago's March 1 classification is made. Brown said a survey, in which the chief executive of each of 700 major plants will be asked to verify and sign his firm's labor report, will be completed and in Washington Feb. 25.

FORT SHERIDAN PROBES ESCAPE OF 6 PRISONERS

Maj. O. W. Croucher, post inspector at Fort Sheridan, yesterday began an investigation of the escape of six prisoners from the post's guardhouse as a search was pressed for the four who remained at large.

After breaking out of the guardhouse Wednesday night, three of the soldiers subsequently slugged Capt. Ralph K. Ebersole of the 1672 service unit and kidnaped him and his wife. They were forced to drive the soldiers into the country where the fugitives got out of the car and fled.

Two of the men were recaptured within a few hours. They are William R. Butler, 21, of 1154 Van Buren st., who is under 10 year military sentence at Fort Jackson, S. C., and William E. Lasley, 21, of Hopkins, Mo., who was being held for Camp Claiborne, La.

Those still being sought are John Bremer Jr., 16, of 4657 Adams st.; Lewis C. Kline, 22, of Milwaukee; Jay T. Buckner, 24, of Milwaukee, and William Johnson, 16, Negro, of 4127 Michigan av.

2,000 Foundry Workers End Strikes in 25 Plants

Two thousand foundry workers who went on strike Monday in 25 Chicago area iron foundries manufacturing war materials returned to work yesterday morning, Joseph M. Jacobs, attorney for the AFL foundry workers' union, said. The men struck in protest of a war labor board decision denying them a $2.40 weekly wage increase. They returned to work after the WLB promised to reconsider their demands.

FRACTURES ANKLE IN FALL.

Mrs. Agnes Hauffe, 39, of 1101 Cornelia av., a binder in a printing concern, slipped in front of 3421 N. Clark st. last night and broke an ankle.

WIFE OF DAIRY OWNER GUARDED AFTER THREATS

Judge Orders Accounts of Husband Held.

Two special deputy sheriffs moved into the home of Mrs. Katherine Pacini Lencione, 48, of 7601 Clyde av., yesterday on a order of Circuit Judge Robert J. Dunne to protect her against threats allegedly made by her husband, Julius Lencione, 56, whom she sued for separate maintenance.

Judge Dunne also issued an order tying up Lencione's bank accounts and restraining him from disposing of any assets of the Arctic Ice Cream company, 8508 Commercial av., which the couple own.

Tells of Bomb Threats.

Mrs. Lencione and her attorney, Robert E. Cantwell Jr., told the court that Lencione had threatened to bomb and burn the Lencione home and to kill his wife with a knife or gun. Their housekeeper and others in the house once had to restrain Lencione when he threatened to kill her, Mrs. Lencione said.

The suit, which charged cruelty, set forth that Lencione owned a dairy firm worth about $5,000 when they were married in 1915.

Helped Develop Concern.

She helped build the concern and develop its brand of ice cream until the firm was sold to the Borden company for $747,000 in Borden stock, her suit stated. She said she and her husband sold $314,000 of the stock to found the Arctic company in 1934. She worked there until 18 months ago when her husband refused to let her work longer, she said.

Judge Dunne's order assigned the deputy sheriffs to Mrs. Lencione until further notice. It was expected this would be at least until next week when Lencione will report for an alimony hearing and the court can examine his attitude toward his wife.

SUPERIOR COURT SANITY HEARINGS RULED ILLEGAL

The Superior and Circuit courts have no authority to conduct general insanity trials, the Appellate court ruled in an opinion on file yesterday. The opinion also reversed findings in the will construction suit over the million dollar estate of the late Edward G. Cowdery, former president of the People's Gas Light and Coke company.

Miss Corene Cowdery, a daughter, had filed the suit thru her attorney, Charles R. Aiken, against her sister, Mrs. Charles Willard, of Highland Park. One of the issues was $8,000 accumulated income which Mrs. Willard claimed. During the litigation, a brother, Chester Cowdery, was given a sanity hearing, and found sane. In the end, Judge John C. Lewe, Superior court trial judge, ruled against Miss Cowdery.

Judge Lewe awarded the $8,000 to Mrs. Willard, ruled that Miss Cowdery sued in bad faith, and assessed her $12,000 in lawyer fees and costs. The Appellate court held Miss Cowdery was entitled to half of the $8,000, found she sued in good faith, invalidated the $12,000 fees and costs, and declared that Judge Lewe erred in holding a sanity hearing for the brother.

Lt. McCormick to Be Married Here Tomorrow

BY JUDITH CASS.

MEMBERS of the family and a few intimate friends are being hastily invited by telephone to the marriage of Lt. Roger S. McCormick of the army air forces and Miss Annette Walsh McClaran, which is to take place at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel of St. Chrysostom's church, the Rev. Dudley S. Stark officiating. A small reception will follow, which the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. James W. McClaran of 708 Highland av., Jackson, Tenn., and the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, are giving in the McCormicks' Lake View av. apartment.

The wedding had been planned to take place at Lt. McCormick's army post, Selman field, Monroe, La., but when he suddenly received a week-end leave it was decided to have the wedding here. Dr. and Mrs. McClaran, the bride, her sister, Miss Hilda McClaran, who is to be maid of honor, and several Jackson relatives and friends are arriving this morning and will be staying at the Ambassador East hotel.

Lt. McCormick may arrive tonight in time for a dinner the McCormicks are giving at the Racquet club, but the chances are that he will not be able to come until tomorrow morning. Miss Jeannette Hurley is giving a luncheon today at the Woman's Athletic club for Miss McClaran.

Lt. McCormick has asked his father to serve as best man. One of Lt. McCormick's brothers, Lt. C. Deering McCormick, is on active duty with the navy, but the other, Brooks McCormick, and his wife will be in the family circle at the wedding.

Lt. McCormick and his bride will be at home in Monroe.

Other Wedding News.

March 10 is the date set for the marriage in New York of Miss Carol Montgomery, daughter of Mrs. Frederick Dorsey Montgomery, and Jens G. Mowinckel of New York and Bergen, Norway. Mr. Mowinckel and his bride will live in Ardsley-on-the-Hudson, N. Y. Mrs. James R. Montgomery and her daughter, Mrs. E. Stewart Skidmore, will go east for the ceremony.

Because Sgt. Arthur Tomlin Goodman Jr. was unable to obtain a furlough to go east for his marriage to Miss Edith Burnham Russell, his mother and aunt, Mrs. Jasper King of Winnetka, and the bride's parents, the Kenneth Graves Russells of Bronxville, N. Y., made the trip to Seattle, Wash., for the wedding. The ceremony took place Jan. 29 in the Congregational church in Seattle, with a reception following in the Olympic hotel. Sgt. Goodman is a grandson of Mrs. Lester Goodman and the late Mr. Goodman of Chicago and of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. Lindsay Ricketts. His parents now live in New York.

Here and There.

Asserts Yanks Will Ask More Church Unity

The same coöperation from the local church as was given by the chaplains in service will be expected by men and women returning home from war service.

This is the opinion of the Rev. Ivan M. Gould of Philadelphia, secretary of the Service Men's Christian league, who is attending sessions of the 22d annual meeting of the International Council of Religious Education at the Stevens hotel.

The league is operating more than 1,000 units on all battlefronts. Dr. Gould told the council that the men and women in uniform not only have learned coöperation in the nondenominational ministry of chaplains, but they also have been trained in coöperation for their front line tasks. When they come home, he said, they will expect churches to coöperate in their spiritual leadership.

"Churches also must expect to provide religious education programs that include returning soldiers and sailors to help relieve the 'class consciousness' of those who have been set apart by their uniform," Dr. Gould said. "There is no doubt that these men and women will be thinking of a realistic religion; one that is not afraid to stand up and be counted."

The Aquin guild of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine announces a lecture, "Casualties on the Home Front," by the Rev. Ralph A. Gallagher, S. J., of Loyola university, Sunday afternoon at 3:30 at the La Salle hotel. The subject refers to juvenile delinquency, a sociological field in which Father Gallagher is an accepted authority. The guild is made up of more than 1,000 Chicagoans engaged in the teaching profession.

The Rev. Dr. J. Harry Cotton, president of Presbyterian [formerly McCormick] Theological seminary, will be the principal speaker tonight at the annual dinner of the Chicago Bible society, at 32 West Randolph street. The society distributed 412,022 Bibles and portions of the Scriptures during 1943, valued at $66,427. Dr. Robert T. Taylor, secretary of the society, will report on the work of the society during the year.

Editors Finish New Testament Text Revision

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The revised American standard version of the New Testament, first standard Protestant revision undertaken since the 1870s, is now complete and in the hands of final editors and will be delivered to publishers this fall. But it will not be published because of shortage of paper.

This was announced yesterday by Dean Luther A. Weigle of Yale divinity school, chairman of the committee on revision. The revision was initiated in 1929, but actual work was delayed by depression conditions until 1937. The Old Testament will require about four more years of work by the committee, which represents the scholarship of 42 communions.

The International Council of Religious Education, in annual session in the Stevens hotel this week, holds the copyright on the American standard version and authorized the organization of the committee of scholars for its revision.

Dean Weigle explained the reasons for a new revision of the standard versions begun in the 1870s and published first in 1881, with the American standard version appearing in 1901. First among these was the fact that an entire new grammar of New Testament Greek has been evolved by scholars since the versions of 1881 and 1901. Earlier scholars followed the grammar of classical Greek, which antedated the New Testament by several centuries.

Greek had changed in those centuries, Dean Weigle explained, but added that the New Testament was the only literature available to earlier translators of the later period until fragments of papyri more recently were found buried in Egypt.

Dean Weigle said several hundred words appeared in the New Testament not found in classical Greek. Beyond this there were grammatical constructions not found in the literature of the Attic age. Many earlier scholars believed that a divine language had been created to convey the Christian revelation.

When it was discovered, however, that bills, notes, receipts, school boys' letters home, social correspondence, and the like were written in the language of the New Testament, scholars concluded that the sacred book had merely been written in the common language of the general New Testament period. It was the language of the street, of commerce, and of ordinary transactions—what might be called "the newspaper language" of the period.

The Yale dean cited the necessity of using the new rules of grammar and the new vocabulary if the correct biblical meaning were to be conveyed to the English reader. The translators of the 1881 and 1901 versions did not have access to that grammar nor understanding of the new vocabulary, thus often clouding the idiomatic meanings.

Another reason given was that the earlier standard versions followed the literal style of translation with the exact meaning of each word translated over into English, and in the Greek sentence order. Dean Weigle said the old requirement was something like the interlined "pony" surreptitiously used by school boys in their Latin lessons. But, he added, the interlined literal translation is not considered now to be good translation. The King James version translators, he said, were able to produce the great literature of the Bible because they were not following the interlined, literal style.

In this respect, Dean Weigle said, the present revision committee looks back to the King James version, and, inasfar as is possible, from the scholarly standpoint, the King James version, with its grandeur of literary style, will be followed.

[The difference between a version and a revision is that a version is based on a critical text which has been built up by scholarship, while a revision represents necessary changes in a version. The King James version was based on the Vulgate Latin Bible; the 1881 version on Westcott and Hort's critical text.]

Discovery of important new manuscripts of portions of the Bible since 1881 was ascribed as another reason for the revision. Dean Weigle said Von Sodden's critical text, together with the Westcott and Hort, was followed in the present revision, with the committee using its best judgment concerning newly found manuscripts.

Dean Weigle said the familiar thee's, thou's, and thine's will be missing from the revision, except where God is addressed in prayer.

Thru the Looking Glass

One of the things you might plan for this week-end if you're tired and jittery and looking pretty ghoulish is a good, old fashioned hike out in the country. That way lies more in the way of restoration for your jaded nerves and taut muscles and sallow complexion than you'll find in jars and bottles. We recommend it to all working women, especially, who are cooped in offices or factories all day and who are too weary at night to do more than manicure their nails, wash their gloves, and tumble into bed.

We recommend it, too, to the women who are housebound from one end of the week to the other. Take the children or leave them at home. If you take them, they'll have so much fun skipping along the countryside they see so infrequently that they won't bother you. Start early and walk long and leisurely, thru the kind of country that rests your eye and your spirit. A couple of hours of it will do you a world of good. You'll sleep better than you would after a more usual day in the house—and your eyes will be brighter for days.

Dress warmly, but don't bundle up too much. Wear comfortable shoes. Hike in a businesslike fashion for a spell, with back straight and abdominal muscles held in. Then stroll for a spell. And take nice, deep breaths as you go along.

A good hike is a wonderful blues chaser as well as a beauty builder. Your troubles will take on a different, brighter aspect if you take them out of doors and walk off your fretfulness. An afternoon of the unaccustomed exercise and the fresh air will be much, much better for you even than a day of rest in the house.

Harpist Vito and Orchestra Are Acclaimed

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

Twentieth century music—tho not all of it of the most modern variety—was on the stands of the Chicago Symphony orchestra for last night's concert. The orchestra and Désiré Defauw were there in toto—the audience was not, many empty seats testifying to the power of weather over music.

On the face of it the Passacaglia of Anton von Webern, a modernist of most horrendous repute, promised excitement. But the Opus 1 tacked onto the title gave a clew, as the piece is his first orchestral composition and was written as far back as 1908. About the only revolutionary thing about the Passacaglia is that it is written in 2/4 instead of 3/4 time. It generates moods briefly and sketchily and its scoring bears the mark of a master hand. In style it looks both forward and backward—to the rear to Richard Strauss' many voiced habits of orchestration, ahead to some of the harmonic and melodic asperities of years to come. It was an interesting, if brief, moment and one was persuaded that it was well played.

Out of the ranks for the next number stepped the evening's soloist, the orchestra's fine harpist, Joseph Vito. The repertoire of his instrument is sadly limited and there was cause for gratitude that he chose one of the most fetching harp compositions, the Introduction and Allegro of Maurice Ravel.

He played it superbly. Mr. Vito's playing differs from that of most of his colleagues in its virility. His fingers have something of the steely grasp of Horowitz, and like that magnificent pianist, he, too, can clothe them in velvet. Mr. Defauw tendered him courteous consideration in the accompaniment, tho it was an error of judgment to employ, contrary to the composer's specifications, the entire string section.

It was good to hear next even a fragment of one of the towering orchestra scores of all time—Salomé's Dance of the Seven Veils from Strauss' opera. The episode was not entirely a happy one. Mr. Defauw read the smouldering score with disconcerting literalness. Languor, terror, passion did not enter into his interpretative scheme. It was almost as if he had politely agreed, because of the turn in the weather, to let the lady retain her last veil or two, in spite of history and Oscar Wilde.

To close, Shostakovich's Fifth symphony was belatedly added to the Chicago Symphony repertoire, some seven years after it started its triumphal world career. Mr. Defauw's conception did the piece justice on the whole, reaching a peak in the well projected desolation of the slow movement.

Urges Cancer Clinic Here Become Model for National Project

Mrs. Harold V. Milligan, national commander of the women's field army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, yesterday recommended that the cancer prevention clinic at Women's and Children's hospital be studied as a pattern for a national project. She spoke at the closing session of a two day regional conference of the field army in the Palmer House.

The operation of the cancer prevention clinic, opened only last May, was outlined earlier by Mrs. Arthur I. Edison representing the women's field army in Illinois. She reported 275 women had received complete examinations up to Jan. 1, with 11 positive cases of cancer and 15 suspected cases found.

The clinic, staffed by women doctors, is entirely diagnostic. Appointments are made thru the women's field army office at 48 W. Division st., and the nominal fee charged for three visits is to cover laboratory work.

His Post-Date Chatter Kills All Romance

BY MAUREEN DALY.

on the SOLID side

And then take the interesting case of Mr. J. W. [short for Junior Wolf]. He was the tall, dark, and handy type of fellow with whom every girl would like to go out and with whom every girl would go out—well, at least the first time.

And that first evening was always a success, for he was a good dancer, interesting to talk to, and fun to be with; a fine hunk of man generally. But that was the first evening—there was rarely a second date. The fellow in question was always anxious for a retake, but all the gals he dated began to "hear" about him, and themselves the very next day, and promptly that affair was just so much cold potatoes. For young jackson talked too much.

Not that he meant any harm [he was an honest and upright joe] but he liked to exaggerate. He wanted every one to think he was a big dealer. He had a romeo complex, and after each date, when he got together with the other boys, he began shooting the ferdinand about what a smooth operator he was; how all the pretty little gals were mad for him.

To hear him talk [and he did!] he had more girls swooning for him than Sinatra. And if a honeychile so much as winked at him accidentally or smiled at him in the hall at school, he spread the story 'round that she was torching for him, but good! And it wasn't exactly what he said but the way he said it that made his dates sound like ready hedys up for grabs. Because the sweet stuffs didn't like that kind of story about themselves making the rounds, they crossed him off their lists—and J. W. found that all his dates were one night stands.

Moral: He who talks less, lasts longer.

When you're enjoying the savory goodness of a properly prepared pot roast it's difficult to believe you're eating an economy cut of meat. Whether it's the chuck, heel of the round, rump, brisket, or some other unglamorous piece of beef, you may be sure that the secret of its tenderness lies in the cooking procedure.

A slow, simmering temperature is the only prescription for a pot roast, but you may choose the flavor variation which pleases the family most. Pot roast is a good source of supply, too, for tomorrow's meal. Try the leftovers in a crusty, browned hash, curried with fluffy rice, or ground for stuffed cabbage rolls. The sliced meat also may be tucked into lunchbox sandwiches.

General Method for Pot Roasts.

Buy beef chuck, rump, or other pot roast, preferably boned and rolled at the meat market. Wipe with a damp cloth, dredge with flour, and brown on top of the stove in a heavy pan in which a small amount of fat has been melted. When browned, sprinkle well with salt and pepper, add ¼ to ½ cup liquid, and cover the pan. Let cook very slowly until the meat is tender. This may be done either in the oven or on top of the stove. Allow 30 to 35 minutes per pound of meat, and add more liquid in small amounts as necessary.

Sweet-Sour Pot Roast.

Rump or chuck pot roast
Flour, salt, pepper, fat
1 medium onion
½ bay leaf
3 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup vinegar
½ cup hot water

Dredge meat in flour, season with salt and pepper, and brown well on all sides in hot fat. Slice onion over meat. Add bay leaf, sugar, and part of the vinegar and water, which have been combined. Cover and cook slowly in the oven or on top of the stove until meat is tender, about three hours. As liquid evaporates, add more of the vinegar and water combination.

Chili Pot Roast.

3 pounds beef chuck or other pot roast
2½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons drippings
Clove or garlic
3 tablespoons minced parsley or carrot tops
¼ cup chili sauce
1 cup water
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Rub meat with salt and pepper, adding flour, if you like, for quicker browning. Brown in hot fat on all sides. Add garlic clove to pan while meat is browning and remove it after five minutes. Add parsley, chili sauce, Worcestershire sauce, and a small amount of the water. Cover tightly and let cook over low heat until tender, adding the rest of the water in small portions as it cooks off. Turn meat occasionally while cooking. Cooking time will be approximately three hours, or perhaps longer. Remove meat to hot platter and make gravy by thickening the liquid in the pan with flour smoothed to a paste with water.

Marinated Pot Roast De Luxe.

4 pounds beef rump
2 tablespoons vinegar
½ teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon allspice
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon salt
Flour, salt, pepper, fat or browning
1 bay leaf
1 onion
Vegetables as desired
¼ cup brandy
¼ cup dry white wine

Make a paste of vinegar, spices, pepper, and salt. Rub meat well with this mixture and let stand overnight. Dredge with flour seasoned with salt and pepper, and brown all over in hot fat. Add 2 cups hot water and the bay leaf and onion. Cover and cook gently for about 3 or 4 hours, or until meat is tender. Vegetables such as potatoes, carrots, celery or turnips may be added about 45 minutes before the meat is done. Add brandy and wine in last half hour of cooking.

Pot Roast Italian Style.

½ cup fat or drippings
1 onion, chopped
1 clove garlic
1 green pepper, chopped
2 pounds beef [heel of round]
⅔ cup water
1 cup cooked tomatoes
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 bay leaf
4 whole cloves
½ pound spaghetti
Grated Parmesan or American cheese

Add onion, garlic, and green pepper to hot fat, and when lightly browned add the meat. Brown on all sides and add water, tomatoes, and seasonings. Simmer gently for three hours. Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender; drain and add to meat mixture. Let cook together for 10 minutes. Serve on platter around meat. Sprinkle cheese over the sauce from pan and pour over spaghetti.

Spareribs, Chinese Style

Spareribs, done up Chinese style, save points required for the usual barbecue sauce. Buy three pounds of ribs (only 3 points) to serve five persons generously. Make sauce by mixing 1 cup bouillon or chicken or veal stock, ⅓ cup honey, 2 tablespoons soy sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons vinegar. Roast spareribs 1½ hours in 325 degree oven, uncovered, basting them as they roast with Chinese sauce. Cooked carrots and turnips are pictured with the ribs.

Wise Parents Teach Child Good Habits

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Habit. Lots of things have been said about it such as: An act performed three times has become a habit; habit can be our slave; we become, as we live, creatures of habit.

Yet when all is said and done, what it amounts to is that a bad habit becomes our master, while a good habit serves us.

One of the arguments in favor of desirable habits is that they save us mental and physical energy. Acts of habit take little toll of us compared with the things we decide upon and then consciously do. Habit forms a smooth track easily traversed.

Such an argument isn't needed by some persons; their tendency is to make a set pattern of every activity of their days—indeed, of their lives. Any disruption of it is a major catastrophe. It is not that sort of habit I am thinking of today, but rather the habit that is a lubricant for the doing of daily necessary things.

Begin when the children are little, babies even, with the formation of good habits, and you will save yourself and them much strain and talk. There are many simple general ones desirable to cultivate [including all those connected with the daily physical routines].

Many of these habits, besides being useful, help to instill character traits such as a feeling of helpfulness and considerateness. There's the habit of putting away toys. There's the habit of picking up after themselves when any messy work has been done. Hanging up clothes, cleaning the bathtub, and brushing teeth are good habits to get started early, altho the unbroken rule should not be enforced with young children.

But the number of good habits is legion, and it may be discouraging to list those we want our children to acquire. The point is a simple one after all. Help your children, as they gradually gain the ability, to do certain necessary things as habits, without constant explanation or friction, and you will find the machinery of life lubricated for you all.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

The Satisfied Employee.

A number of war plants, eager to keep their employees at their jobs, have instituted exit interviews. The best results have come when the exit interview is handled by a woman counselor functioning separately but harmoniously in coöperation with the personnel department. Often, then, adjustments can be made. A girl dissatisfied with one type of work can be transferred to another; a woman, unpleasantly situated with her immediate co-workers, can be assigned to a different department; a worker quitting because of the pressure of personal worries finds a sympathetic, helpful listener.

The outcome is a benefit to all concerned. In many cases the company keeps its employee and the employee keeps her job. In smaller firms some such service should be performed by a qualified person even tho she may not be exactly in the role of counselor. For, it is important to know why people quit.

We all are accustomed to emphasis on the "satisfied customer." Today, industrial problems focus attention on the satisfied employee who, quite likely, may be the satisfied customer of tomorrow. Meanwhile, far sighted management tries to keep both on the satisfied side.

Locutional Lament.

White collar girls, come and help me weep!
Fellow femme workers, your sympathy heap
On a stricken steno whose office woes
Only a sister typist knows;
My boss refuses to practice mnemonics
But insists on saying: "Electrionics."

ROWLEY NIEKAMP.

The boss from a Chicago office who, in Florida, sent a crate of oranges and grapefruit to the office staff and, upon receipt of thank you notes [of poetry and prose] promptly sent back 10 corsages of flowers made of sea shells tinted in natural colors, which gave rise to more poetry from his self-styled "Follies Girls."

The "Ain't Nature Grand" note from P. H., who noted a girl on the bus who had quit her job to entertain two visiting gobs. Passing the lake front she made a discovery. "Look," she said excitedly, "all them waves are comin' in—and none goin' out!"

Feminine Firsts.

The first woman to head Smith college since its beginning in 1875 was Mrs. Dwight Morrow, who was made acting president after the retirement of Dr. William Allan Neilson in 1930. It was Mrs. Morrow who organized the first United States Women's Relief unit to go to France in the last war—and went to France with it. . . . The first woman on the research staff of Illinois Institute of Technology is Frances Estes. . . . The first woman to receive the soldier's medal is 2d Lt. Edith Greenwood, given the award last June for removing patients safely when a hospital diet kitchen exploded. . . . The founder of the army nurse corps as now organized was Dr. Anita Newcombe McGee.

visiting her daughter, Joan, will arrive in Chicago Sunday to spend a few days with her parents, the Arthur Meekers. On her way home she will stop over in Colorado Springs, Colo., where her son, Lt. Arthur Gray, is stationed.

Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter are enjoying the sunshine at Sarasota, Fla., where they have taken a house for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin F. Selfridge are spending a month at the Snake Tree ranch in Palm Springs, Cal.

Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. Paul Holman Faust [Mary Carnall] became the parents of their fifth child and fourth daughter Wednesday in St. Francis hospital in Evanston. The baby, who has been named Carol Carnall, and her sisters and brother—Mary Anne, Judy, Paul Jr., and Kitty—are grandchildren of the Paul Fausts of Evanston and of the Donald Carnalls of the Edgewater Beach. Lt. Comdr. Faust is serving with the navy in the south Pacific.

On the Calendar.

The All-Nations booth, which has been doing a rushing business in war bonds and stamps since it was opened in the Commonwealth Edison building, will present a gay Russian show between noon and 1 p. m. tomorrow. At that time the "Kolokolehika" [belles] will appear under the direction of Nicolai Popov. Each day a different nation takes over the booth and sponsors a new show in costume. Since Jan. 10 the booth, under the auspices of Mrs. Donald F. McPherson, assisted by Mrs. Lucy Lamar, has taken orders for nearly 2 million dollars.

Young people who attend the Fortnightly parties at the Fortnightly will dance from 8 o'clock to midnight tonight at the club. Hostesses at the third party in the series will be Mrs. Theodore Robinson Jr., Mrs. Arthur M. Wirtz, Mrs. Charles M. McKenna, Mrs. William Tracy Alden, and Mrs. Wayne Wills.

After two postponements because of mild weather the Winter club finally will hold its annual skating carnival this week-end. Tonight about a dozen expert young skaters will compete for skating championships. Nearly 200 children will turn out in costume at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow for races and prizes for the best ensembles.

Chase House will give its annual benefit, a dessert-bridge party, at 1 p. m. today at the Episcopal settlement and day nursery, which has been serving underprivileged families on the west side for the last 24 years. Mrs. John D. Kemper of Glen Ellyn is chairman of the Chase House auxiliary.

British Vice Consul and Mrs. Hubert Norman Pullar will be the special guests today at the English Speaking union's weekly tea. Serving as hostess will be Miss Mary Nixon.

Dr. W. E. Garrison, new president of the Cliff Dwellers, will speak on "Religion and Empire" tonight at the club. A regular club dinner will be served at 6:30.

Fashion Lists Iris Among Its Leading Colors

BY REA SEEGER.

Gray is the favorite spring color, but next to it is a super-flattering mauve, a tint called iris. It's one of the smoothest violet shades imaginable, for it teams with navy, with brown, beige, leaf green, gold, certain blue toned reds, and black . . . thus providing one of the most versatile of background colors.

You'll find two piece suits that are separable, thereby making possible the mix and match racket with other skirts and jackets. There are long, short, and medium length topcoats of the same lovely color to complete a three piece ensemble or to wear as part of a three color combination of dark iris coat, lighter toned jacket, and a contrasting color skirt.

This iris shade is as effective a basic color as gray and almost as perfect as navy blue. Yellow is one of the gayest and most springlike of contrasts, from jonquil shades to deep old gold. Lime green, leaf green, and chartreuse are other colors that do plenty to accentuate this early spring mauve.

Soft, fine wool is the first fabric to charm early shoppers, but rayons, cottons, and the various fancy mixtures and textures in plain and printed rayons are scheduled for early arrival. A few are available now.

If you still stick to a gray color scheme, this is a spring to indulge, for there never have been such true shades and tones of gray, and so many different fabrics from which to choose. Thin summer woolens, stunning basket weaves for coats, striped effects, checks, and light and dark mixtures achieved with an even weave of black and white yarn thread are but a few of the shopping ideas.

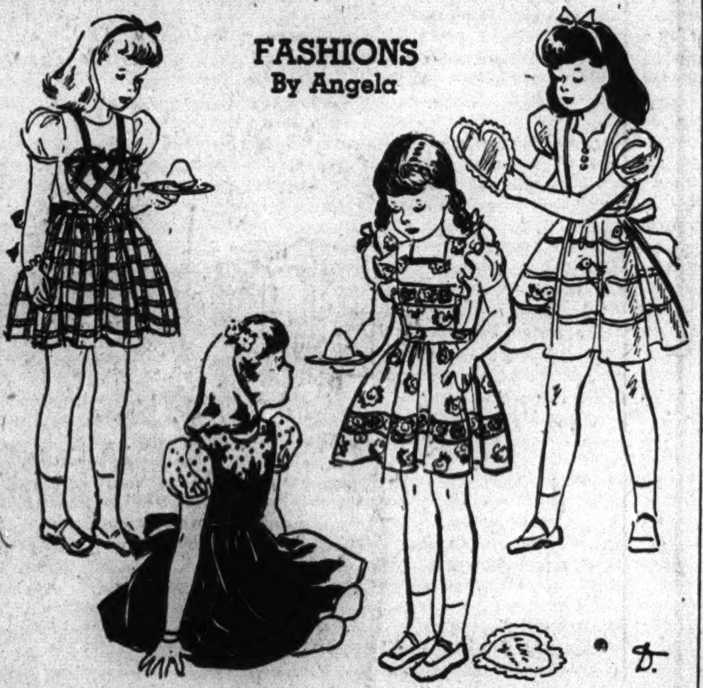
FASHIONS

By Angela



Valentines in the form of captivating dresses, pinafores, and aprons are delightful little love tokens for the "best girls" from 3 to 6½. Sketched are four of many styles in a variety of materials on sale in a Chicago store. All are modestly priced and well within the budget allowance.

A cunning apron for the young party hostess [top left] is of checked cotton with a tiny heart shaped bib and pretty velvet suspenders. A butterfly bow ties the apron in back. It is available in blue, brown, and green checks with matching velvet suspenders.

A crisp, flowered chintz pinafore [bottom right] has all the attributes to make the heart of a tiny mite happy. A band of vivid flowers is appliqued across the front of the bodice and above the hem of the skirt. A dainty white dimity blouse [which is sold separately] completes the ensemble.

Another utterly desirable dress for the valentine party-goer is the powder blue cotton trimmed with white [top right]. Narrow bands of cotton braid are stitched around the skirt, creating a perfect perch for fat baby robins which are appliqued. This same braid forms a suspender effect on the bodice. The well cut sweetheart neckline is accented with pearl buttons matching the shade of the dress. Fastened in the back, it ties with a bow at the waistline.

"I blush to admit that my partner and I were in the East-West seats when this bidding took place:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	2 diam.	2 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Double
Redouble	Pass	Pass	Pass

"We took exactly one trick, the club ace, so our opponents could [and did!] gloat over a score of 930 points. Now for the questions: [1] Was East's two diamond overcall okay? [2] Was West's double of four spades justified after that overcall? [3] Should East have run from the redouble to five diamonds?"

Answering the questions in order: [1] East's overcall was horrible! The mere fact that East could take a lot of diamond tricks did not make his bid any more pointed. Surely, with his flat distribution and seven hopeless losers East did not hope to "go anywhere," and there is no other good reason for the vulnerable overcall of a nonvulnerable opening bid. [2] West's double of four spades was extremely sporty, at best, even tho West had the right to expect substantial values in his partner's hand. Considering North's jump to four spades, the king in West's hand had a highly putative value. It is fair to say that the double was not good—except by comparison with East's two diamond bid. [3] It made little difference what East did at this point—his side was in so deep that salvage operations were impossible. A five diamond runout would not have been exactly cheap!

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 10.—Just as Harry Carey signed to do the Broadway play "Out of This World," which Jack Golden produces and George Seaton wrote, he was offered the part of Gen. Chennault in "God Is My Co-Pilot" at Warners. Had to turn it down. Play opens in April. Elizabeth Patterson plays opposite him. I hope it's another "Our Town" and after its run they'll let Harry and Elizabeth do the picture. . . . Well, well! Paramount's dusting off Noel Coward's "Design for Living," which Miriam Hopkins, Freddie March, and Gary Cooper made in the dim, dark past. Now if the studio only brings it up to date and lets Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, and Dottie Lamour make those unnatural roles natural, it would have another "Road to Utopia"—maybe! . . . Jack Oakie is first one set for Universal's musical "Hip Hip Hooray," which Arthur Rubin directs and John Grand produces. Oakie gets only plums here, but still refuses to do camp shows or entertain men in service.

About Town.

Danny Kaye will be here to catch premiere of "Up in Arms" March 3. . . . "The Hitler Gang" is being rushed into a March 15 release. . . . Ray Milland and four girls arrived safely in the South Pacific. While he's gone, Fred MacMurray is looking over ranch properties they may buy together. . . . Walter Huston is off to his Porterville ranch and a big cattle roundup. . . . Adeline De Walt Reynolds is the "pin-up grandmother" of Corp. William Miller in Alaska. . . . Vic McLaglen, asked by a writer if all good looking men were conceited, replied, "How should I know? I'm not." . . . Marlene Dietrich is packing her glad rags for a trip overseas to entertain soldiers.

Miss Him Already.

H. Allen Smith left with a suitcase full of material for his new Hollywood book. Buddy De Sylva has written a foreword, which starts off: "Remember that swarm of locusts which destroyed everything in 'Good Earth'? Well, that's what H. Allen Smith is like. I tried to steer him right at Paramount, but discovered nobody can. But he's a great guy,"—and goes on from there. When I printed name of Smith's tome, "Like Elephants, I Remember," his New York publisher read it, wired him, "Title impossible. It makes sense." So he asked me to think of a title for it that didn't. Why not "Cucumbers"—they have warts, too?

Ready to Go.

Abbott and Costello got script of "Harum Scarum" from Metro yesterday. They're crazy about it. The boys get stranded in Persia and all involved as detectives trying to help somebody get back his throne in a mythical country. . . . Gloria Jean formed an orchestra of kids her own age—seven boys and two girls. Besides vocalizing, Gloria also beats the band. . . . David Selznick lost a mighty good man in Mitchell Rawson. Nobody keeps a public relations job with David long. . . . Chili Williams and Jimmy Ritz are having more laughs.

Too Bad.

Surprised while watching "Jane Eyre" that there was no producer listed. Most pictures have three or four all trying to grab the credit. Orson Welles' name should have been up there. Peggy Ann Garner stole the picture while she was in it. It's a natural for Joan Fontaine. She's lovely. I liked Orson in some scenes, but his part cried aloud for Jack Barrymore of 15 years ago. Orson lacks that tenderness mixed with sadistic brutality that the part required. It should have been a swooneroo like "Wuthering Heights." It wasn't.

Fun Thinking About It.

Wonder why Howard Dietz doesn't try to persuade Warners to let him have Ann Sheridan for his musical version of "Rain." Then she could stay in New York near Steve Hannagan and return here as a big star. Howard tells me the new version will be much more revealing than the play Jeanne Eagels made famous. . . . Looks like Jack Skirball's got a hit in "Jacobowsky and the Colonel" with Annabella and Louis Calhern. Opens in New York March 12. . . . Twentieth Century isn't worried about getting 1,500 extras for the Wilson picture at the Shrine auditorium next week, but about feeding them. . . . George Raft cabled Virginia Maples: "Well, safe, all my love and kisses" from sunny Italy. . . . Tom Connors' daughter, Kay, has a new contract at Twentieth.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

The first statement of Gov. Green to the housewives of Illinois regarding the urgency of increased fat salvage yesterday was presented to Thomas J. McHugh, executive secretary of the war production board's general salvage branch.

"As governor of Illinois, I urge all housewives and meat dealers of the state to redouble their efforts to salvage used household fats," Gov. Green's statement says. "A larger portion of the used fats is necessary for the production of explosives, medical preparations, and essential civilian commodities.

"Fats now are the nation's No. 1 critical salvage material. We are not saving enough for our military uses. If we do not increase our supply of fats, we will deprive our soldiers of needed ammunition, medical equipment, and chemical preparations necessary to speed the winning of the war.

"For every pound of used household fats not saved, a soldier on the battlefields will be deprived of 150 machine gun bullets. For every five pounds of used kitchen fats not saved, a sailor fighting submarines will be deprived of a 100 pound depth bomb charge.

"The recently instituted plan to give two additional brown ration points for each pound of used household fats is a splendid one, and should be an added incentive to the thrifty and patriotic housewives of Illinois.

"In the past, whenever the nation has called for an all-out effort, Illinois never has failed to respond. As governor, I urge the wholehearted coöperation of all citizens in the intensified program for the saving of an additional amount of used household fats."

Members of the American Women's Voluntary Services will participate in two events tomorrow.

Women of the Chicago metropolitan unit will assist the Chicago Heart association's Valentine seal sale by manning booths at six hospitals—Passavant, St. Luke's, Presbyterian, Children's Memorial, Mount Sinai, and Mercy. The sale, which was opened Jan. 3 to raise money for the association's campaign against heart disease, will end Monday.

The AWVS Chinese unit will have a Valentine dancing and games party for service men and women at 8 p.m. at the Chinatown hospitality center, 224 W. Cermak rd. Mrs. Ann Leong is chairman of the center. Committee chairmen for the party are Miss Margaret Shiu and Miss Jean Moy.

Thru its volunteer chairman, Mrs. Edwin W. Eisendrath, the Red Cross home service corps of the Chicago chapter is making an appeal for many more case workers who can serve at least two days a week in day time hours.

The corps is a clearing house for troubles besetting the families of service men. The problems of missing persons, death, and illness, as well as social and financial adjustments, are tactfully handled by members of the corps, which is the Red Cross link between the service men and their families left at home.

A new class will begin Feb. 22 to train volunteers. Applicants must have had two years of college study, or the equivalent in social service experience. Registrations will be accepted at home service headquarters, 616 S. Michigan av., and at central headquarters, 529 S. Wabash av.

INSTALMENT XXIX.

FINGERPRINTS DISCUSSED.

Miss Silver had filled several pages in the exercise book when there was a knock on the door. She said: "Come in!" and, looking up, saw a girl of about 16 in a short black dress, white apron, and frilled cap. When she saw Miss Silver in her dressing gown, she said, "Beg pardon, miss," and stopped dead.

"That will be quite all right," said Miss Silver. "You have come to turn down the bed? What is your name?"

"Polly, miss—Polly Parsons."

"This is a sad New Year," said Miss Silver.

"O, yes, miss—it's ever so dreadful, isn't it?"

"Does your work take you into the study at all, Polly?"

The girl had her back to her, bending forward to turn the bedclothes down. Right round to the roots of the short brown hair with its curled ends Miss Silver saw the color run in a hearty blush.

"Only to make the fire up, miss, when they're at dinner. Mr. Lane's busy then."

"O, yes, miss."

"And you went in as usual last night to make up the fire?"

"Yes, miss."

She met a kind look and an authoritative:

"Try, Polly."

Miss Silver smiled.

"Then you probably looked at the clock. You would if you were afraid of being late. What time was it?"

"Just on nine, miss."

"Was every one still in the dining room then?"

"The ladies come out as I got round by the door going thru to the study."

"And how long were you in the study?"

"I'd the fire to see to, miss."

Miss Silver continued to look at her. Polly continued to blush. At the sound of a step in the passage she gulped and made for the door. On the threshold she mumbled out something that was evidently meant for an apology. The words "Louisa" and "the other bottles" were intelligible. The door shut on her. She could be heard running down the passage.

Miss Silver said, "Dear me!"

Col. Bostock, Vyner, and Miss Silver were in the study next morning. A fire burned brightly on the hearth.

Supt. Vyner sat at the table. The statements which he had allowed Miss Silver to read lay where she had just placed them at his left hand.

Col. Bostock had drawn an upright chair to the far side of the writing table.

"You were very kindly going to tell me about the fingerprints, superintendent."

Vyner said, "Yes." He turned in his chair to face her across the corner of the table. "Of course, in a family business like this you're liable to get everybody's finger prints everywhere, and you can't say there's anything proved by finding them. Take the handle of this door, for instance—it's just a smudge. Lane, Mr. Pearson, Mr. Wray, and Mrs. Wray all handled it that evening, besides Mr. Paradine himself."

"And the girl who made up the fire," said Miss Silver.

Vyner said, O, yes."

"She was in here at about 9 o'clock."

"'Hm! Too early to be of any value. All the othere were after 9," said Col. Bostock. "We know that."

"Well then," said Vyner, "it's the same pretty well everywhere. Lane, this girl Polly, Mr. Paradine, Mr. Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. Wray—there are prints from all of them. And all we get out of that is that the girl had been at this drawer. Mr. Paradine kept sweets there, and I should say she's been at them.

"I haven't said anything to her about it. But there we are—we're out to catch a murderer, and all we get is a kid stealing sweets. Well, not quite all, because there are Mr. Paradine's prints, and they're not quite so easy to explain. There are his and Mr. Richard's on the chair and on the edge of the writing table, and Mr. Mark's on the little pocket diary. Now Mr. Richard, he dropped in to see Miss Paradine in the late afternoon—that's certain. And he says he looked in on his uncle in the study when he was going away. We've only his word for it, but it's likely enough, and it would explain his prints.

"But Mr. Mark Paradine—well, there's no explaining his. He wasn't here all day Wednesday, or the day before, or the day before that. He arrived for dinner on New Year's eve, but he didn't see his uncle then because Mr. Paradine was closeted with Mr. Wray, and he says, and every one else says, that he didn't go anywhere near the study after dinner. He went away with Mr. Richard at a quarter to ten, and he went back to his flat in Birleton mansions. But after that, he says, he went out for a walk. The constable on duty at the bridge saw him cross over in the direction of the River house at about 10:20. It was bright moonlight then, and he knows him by sight. Mr. Mark says he walked a bit along the road and then came back. He wasn't seen coming back, but Harding came off duty at half past ten, and the man who relieved him is a newcomer and wouldn't take that much notice. It seems to me the only time Mr. Mark could have made those prints was after 10:20, when Harding saw him going in the direction of the River house."

"Who let him in?" said Col. Bostock. "Lane didn't."

"The door wasn't bolted, sir. Mr. Mark and Mr. Richard lived here until a few years ago. Nothing more likely than that they still have latchkeys. Or if he hadn't, Mr. Mark could have come round on the terrace and knocked at the glass door. Every one in the family knew that Mr. Paradine was waiting up till 12."

Col. Bostock said, "Shocking business."

"Yes, sir. But that's when those prints were made—some time after 10:20 on Wednesday night. There's no other time they could have been made."

DEFEAT SENATE COMPROMISE ON SUBSIDY REPEAL

Taft Plan Lost 63 to 15; Final Vote Near.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10 (AP).—Administration leaders, refusing to compromise with critics of food subsidies, today helped beat down in the senate a proposal for a $950,000,000 ceiling on yearly government spending designed to hold down consumer grocery bills.

At the same time they virtually conceded senate passage of the Bankhead anti-subsidy bill and pinned their hopes for continuation of the administrations' program on sustaining an anticipated veto by President Roosevelt.

A final vote on the Bankhead bill was deferred at least until tomorrow, however, when the senate failed to reach a vote on one of the last remaining amendments—the Aiken-La Follette food stamp proposal to limit federal aid to low income families.

Resume Debate Today.

Consideration of the legislation will be resumed tomorrow under a debate limitation restricting speeches to 20 minutes.

The $950,000,000 ceiling was advanced as a compromise by Sen. Taft [R., O.] and was defeated, 63 to 15. In addition to the ceiling, the Ohio senator proposed a ban on "roll-back" type subsidies, now being paid on meat and butter, and abolition of feed subsidy payments.

The administration's own plan, calling for a $1,500,000,000 limit on subsidy payments this year, was defeated yesterday.

While generally known as the Bankhead bill, the measure now before the senate is technically a house passed measure which was amended in the senate agriculture committee to embody the views of Sen. Bankhead [D., Ala.]. It would end consumer subsidies next June 30.

Exempt Sugar Growers.

Before turning down the Taft proposal the senate adopted an amendment by Sen. Clark [D., Idaho] exempting benefits to sugar cane and sugar beet growers and purchases of domestic wool by the CCC from subsidy termination.

Also adopted was an amendment by Senators Eastland [D., Miss.] and McClellan [D., Ark.] which would require the war food administration and the office of price administration to adjust prices of milk to compensate for increased feed, labor, and other production costs since Jan. 1, 1941.

Sen. Pepper [D., Fla.] served notice he will attempt to attach amendments to the bill relaxing wage controls and boosting benefits for dependents of service men. Sen. Clark [D., Mo.] announced he will propose broadening the ban to abolish so-called "support prices" for farm products.

CITY DUMPS GET TONS OF FOOD IN PRODUCE GLUT

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 10 [Special].—The office of price administration today urged wholesalers and retailers to slash the price of fruits and vegetables in an effort to induce the public to buy more and relieve the glut that has tied up 427 railroad cars and resulted in tons of produce being consigned to city dumps, rotting in cars and on siding platforms.

The appeal was issued after the American Association of Railroads placed an embargo on 11 commission merchants, barring them from receiving any more cars until those now on sidings are unloaded, and at the same time declared a new set of demurrage rates, effective tomorrow, to prevent a recurrence of the practice of using freight cars for storage when they are needed for war uses.

Included in shipments of perishables reaching the city without an adequate market were 75 carloads of potatoes, 41 of cabbage, 51 of celery, 17 of spinach, and 35 of carrots. The war food administration announced it was conducting a survey to determine if the agency should come to the aid of dealers to help dispose of the prpduce.

The blaze started in the repair shop in the rear and spread to the roof of an adjoining two story dwelling but was quickly extinguished.

THE QUESTION.

What is uppermost in your mind when purchasing a war bond?

WHERE ASKED.

THE ANSWERS.

Allie Leivo, switchboard receptionist, 4639 Magnolia av.—It's a good investment. When you think of all that it does, especially after reading the Death March of Bataan stories in THE TRIBUNE, it makes you realize that their dollars are the best ammunition civilians have at hand.

Christ Fritzler, elevator starter, 3103 N. Kedzie av.—You should go out and buy all the bonds you can to end the war quickly and to bring our boys back soon. That's what I think about when I buy a bond. You see, I have a boy 18 in the army, and I hope for the day when he can be back home with his two brothers and sister.

Mary Fiore, stenographer, 1306 Grenshaw st.—When I buy a bond I regret it as the best I can do to bring my brother and my fiance home safely and quickly. I buy it hoping peace will come to the world again soon. My system is to keep up purchases regularly on a pay roll plan.

William Silberberg, structural engineer, 808 Junior terr.—Every little bit I do helps out in the war effort to some degree. It may be a minute part, but thousands of minute parts put together can make an amount that means something. I believe every one should buy what he can.

Louise Johnson, switchboard operator, 1317 W. 97th st.—A bond is another section of a ticket to transport our men back home again. It's also a patriotic way to save money. I believe, too, that it's one way I can help the 1-As in my family. My husband, Raymond, is one of them.

Charles T. Wesson, safety and security auditor, 7106 Eberhart av.—I'd just as soon give my money to help. It's one way I have of showing that a person of draft age can do his bit. There are men who want to go to war but can't. I'd like to be fighting in the front lines, but I'm not doing that, and the next best thing is to buy bonds.

OPA GETS USED CAR PRICE LIST READY IN CASE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10 (AP).—The office of price administration has completed a plan for price ceilings on used cars and will decide in two or three weeks whether to put it into effect.

The plan, as outlined to dealer representatives, calls for establishment of maximum prices at average January, 1944, prices. An interoffice news letter of the National Automobile Dealers' association says three sets of prices are proposed—one covering sales in the midwest, one for the far west, and the third for the southeast and northeast.

The proposed plan would determine January, 1944, prices on the basis of averaged guidebook figures. Dealers would be allowed to sell reconditioned and guaranteed cars at that level while cars sold on an "as is" basis would be marked down 20 per cent.

JOINT RETURNS OPTIONAL FOR MAN AND WIFE

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

A privilege accorded a husband and wife, but no other taxpayers, is the right to file either a joint income tax return or separate returns. Substantial tax savings sometimes are realized by filing a joint return, but in many cases separate returns are more advantageous. Frequently the only way to determine which is best is to compute the tax liability by both methods.

A husband and wife must be living together at the end of the year to be eligible to file a joint return on the long form 1040. If a couple was divorced, or if one spouse died during the year, a joint return could not be filed. However, if their combined gross income did not exceed $3,000 for 1943, and was derived solely from salary, wages, or other compensation for personal services, dividends, interest, and annuities, a joint return could be filed on the short form 1040A provided the husband and wife were living together on July 1, 1943.

Either Is Responsible.

A husband and wife are considered to be living together, for income tax purposes, if they are involuntarily separated. Examples of involuntary separation are the absence of one spouse in military or naval service, and the confining of one spouse to an asylum or sanitarium.

A joint return must be signed by both husband and wife, and the liability for any tax due is joint and several. Either spouse can be held responsible for payment of the full amount of the tax.

A married couple may elect to file jointly or separately regardless of the method they used in previous returns and regardless of whether their declarations of estimated tax for the year were joint or separate.

Exemption Pro-Rated.

When a 1943 return has been filed either jointly or separately, an amended return may not be filed on a different basis unless it is filed on or before March 15, 1944. If separate returns are filed and either spouse uses the long form 1040, the other spouse is not permitted to use the short form.

If a joint return is filed by a couple who married during the year, the personal exemption of each during the period prior to marriage is allowed even tho one may have had no income. The personal exemption must be prorated according to the number of months during which the couple was married, and the period for which they were single, as explained in the third article of this series. On separate returns the personal exemption allowed married couples may be divided between the husband and wife in any way they agree upon.

[The discussion of joint returns will be continued tomorrow.]

ALLMAN DENIES SUSPENDED COPS REINSTATEMENT

Police Commissioner Allman yesterday rejected the pleas for reinstatement of Eugene Barry and Thomas Connelly, suspended police captains awaiting hearings before the police trial board. He said no action in their cases will be taken until after the charges are disposed of. Earlier, the civil service commission continued indefinitely the charges against Barry and Connelly and two other suspended captains, Patrick Crotty and Louis Klatzco, until the trial of Walter F. Healy, suspended captain of the Hyde Park station, is completed. Motions to quash the charges against the captains awaiting trial have been taken under advisement by the commission.

OHIO STATE OUT TO STOP IOWA'S QUINTET TONIGHT

Badgers Meet Hoosiers; N. U. at Illinois.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

This is the night the Western conference has awaited for Ohio State to assay the merits of Iowa's basketball men in the first game of a series on the Buckeyes' court. It is the opinion of Iowa's rivals, and their hope, that Ohio State will end Iowa's perfect record and knock the Hawkeyes out of the conference leadership.

If Ohio State can upset Iowa twice, the conference race will become a grand scramble with Purdue, Northwestern, Wisconsin, Ohio State, and Iowa in the competition. Purdue, with one defeat in eight games, is not scheduled in the conference this week, but will play Wabash in Lafayette tonight. Wisconsin, defeated twice, meets lowly Indiana tonight and tomorrow night, while Northwestern, beaten once, is an outstanding contender if the Wildcats can whip Illinois tonight in Champaign.

Ohio State Must Win Twice.

Ohio State has lost to Northwestern and Purdue. Consequently the Buckeyes must win twice from Iowa to keep alive title hopes. Perhaps, the wish has been father to the thought that Ohio State will trounce Iowa decisively. While the Hawkeyes have scored seven victories over second division teams, they have steadily improved and in Dave Danner and Dick Ives they have sharpshooters who should not be discounted easily.

Ives has scored 134 points and Danner has 125. They are second and third, respectively, in conference shooting but actually are first and second in that Tom King of Michigan, who has made 137 points, has played in 10 games.

Danner, an all-state high school player from Iowa City, is 6 feet tall. He played left end on the football team, and is considered a master of all basketball fundamentals. Ives is 6 feet 1 inch, and is fast and a clever ball handler. Chief scoring support for this pair of forwards is Lloyd Herwig, 6 foot 3 inch center.

Postels, Spencer at Guards.

Ned Postels, Mankato, Minn., a regular forward last year at South Dakota State, and Jack Spencer of Davenport, Ia., are Iowa's starting guards. These men are 6 feet 3 inches in height, which belies the argument that Ohio State will have complete control of rebounds.

Arnold Risen, Ohio State's 6 foot 8 inch center, and Jack Dugger and Don Grate, the forwards, constitute the Buckeyes' strength under the backboard. They rank fifth, tenth, and fourth, respectively, in conference scoring for Ohio State's eight games. Bob Bowen, leading guard, is ninth.

Hoosiers Have Chance to Win.

While Wisconsin probably has every right to anticipate two triumphs over Indiana, since the Hoosiers have lost seven games, it should be pointed out that Indiana was only beaten two points by Michigan last Saturday night. On their own floor the Hoosiers conceivably may win and one victory would be disastrous to the Badgers.

Northwestern must trounce Illinois to stay in the race, but has performed almost as indifferently on Illinois' floor as it has at Wisconsin. The Badgers ended Northwestern's victory drive last week, altho they had been beaten badly in an earlier game in the Stadium. The Wildcats will have their complete strength tonight, but Illinois last night lost Don Delaney, its center, who was stricken with mumps and will be out for the season.

Gillespie at Center.

Responsibility for playing center for Illinois now falls solely upon Gordon Gillespie, 17, 6 foot, 2 inch freshman from Chicago's Kelvyn Park high.

Otto Graham ends his conference competition for Northwestern tonight, but will make a final appearance tomorrow night in the Stadium against Camp Grant. The first game of the Stadium double header matches Illinois and De Paul.

Graham will start naval aviation V-5 pilot-officer training Thursday at Colgate university, Hamilton, N. Y., it was announced yesteday by Lt. H. D. Penfield, senior member of the naval aviation cadet selection board in Chicago.

Denies Prep Investigation; Senn Drops 2

A. H. Pritzlaff, director of physical education for the Chicago public school system, last night denied an investigation of eligibility of prep basketball players was being made by his department following the report that two north side high schools had barred players for participating in an unauthorized tournament in violation of City league rules.

"The schools are taking care of the situation themselves," Pritzlaff said. "A protest to my department isn't necessary as long as the schools are living up to the rules. There will be no investigation until it is needed."

Pritzlaff was asked for a statement when it was confirmed by Harry Leighton, Senn basketball coach, that two players had been dropped at that school for participation in the unauthorized tournament and when Amundsen athletic officials said they believed such a step, affecting four players, had been taken at their school.

Pritzlaff said he expected an official report would be made to his department that such action had been taken at Senn and Amundsen, but that he could not predict when it would be filed.

A rule of the Public High School league provides that no member of a high school team may represent another organization in his sport while competing in that sport for his school.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Peter De Simone, a tousle-haired 18 year old from Chicago's near west side, has a couple of important dates within the next few days. Tomorrow morning Pete will report for his draft physical examination with a contingent from board 39, 2124 West Van Buren st. On Monday night he will be on hand for a little business in the Chicago finals of the Golden Gloves tournament in the Marigold Gardens, Grace st. and Broadway.

Pete regards both appointments as equally vital. He has been looking forward to the service call for a month, hankering to become a coast guardsman. But he also has been anticipating with great eagerness his Golden Gloves argument in the 126 pound side of the open division.

Kick Wins in First Meeting.

There's a reason for Pete's determination to win the Chicago title. It lies in the fact that his opponent for the featherweight championship in the Marigold ring will be Louis Kick, the Libertyville farmer boy who will be the north side's 126 pound candidate.

It won't be the first meeting between Pete and Lou. Last fall, in the semi-finals of the Catholic Youth organization tourney, they put on the most bitterly contested bout of the semi-finals before Kick was awarded a decision. Pete is of the firm conviction that he can reverse that result come Monday night.

The pairings in the open division of this year's finals at Marigold offer a program of potential thrillers. There's the duel between Herb Mashino and Henry Sumi, both of Japanese ancestry, in the bantamweight class. Then the fans will see two stanch foes of other bouts at each other in the Jimmy Sarenella-Jackie Boyd flyweight contest. And, of course, Charley Kucharz and Billy Love, 175 pound rivals in the past, are expected to produce another outstanding clash.

Promise Spirited Fight.

Yet, for all that these promise to be in the most spirited Golden Gloves tempo, the C. Y. O. fans who saw that autumnal semi-final between De Simone and Kick look for it to be Monday night's real fight. Both boys are noted for their diligence in training. Kick follows up his labors at the Marellbar stock farm with regular workouts in the Libertyville Boys' club. On the other hand, Lou Radzienda and Dick Fitzpatrick of the C. Y. O. nominate young De Simone as their most faithful training hand. Until a month ago, when his father, Louis, a night watchman, advised him to take a vacation against his call to service, Pete worked for a west side roofing concern. The long hours, however, didn't prevent him from appearing as late as 8 p. m., begging Fitzpatrick to permit him to work out.

Detroit Spots New York First Goal.

New York, Feb. 10 (AP).—The Detroit Red Wings piled up an 8 to 3 score on the Rangers tonight after spotting the National Hockey league's cellar dwellers the first goal.

The fistic fireworks that had been predicted didn't appear except in a brief exchange between Harold Jackson and Bryan Hextall.

Major and Minor Penalty.

A crowd of 12,932, obviously expecting rough action, cheered everybody check until the Ranger defense fell apart and gave the Wings a 5 to 2 lead just before the only scrap broke out.

That fight was the result of some high sticking by Jackson, who drew both a minor and major penalty as a result, and it ended without interference by officials or the other players.

Only 2 Assists for Howe.

Syd Howe, who scored a record six goals in the last Ranger-Detroit contest, was able to pick up only a pair of assists tonight, but his mates on Detroit's No. 1 line accounted for five tallies.

BYRD WINS IN BEST BALL AND COLLECTS $112.50

Byrd played with three amateur partners [as did most of the pros] and fired a 68. Two of his amateur pals, Lt. E. T. Carruthers of Randolph field and Mark Wright of San Antonio, sliced seven strokes off this figure for a best ball 61, Byrd collecting $112.50 for this daily double of the golf course. Carruthers made a winning combination the hard way—with a hole-in-one on No. 18.

Brackenridge's par 71 was equalled or bettered 15 times in the field of 240 golfers. Byrd, Ray Hill of Randolph field, and Pete Cooper of Gainesville, Fla., each boasted a 68, while one tournament favorite, Byron Nelson of Toledo, had a 69. The other favorite, Harold [Jug] McSpaden of Philadelphia, ran into trouble on No. 9 for a devastating seven and game in with a total of 73.

The tournament starts tomorrow with $5,000 in war bonds going to the winners in the 72 hole test.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Boston Bruins beat the Blackhawks, 5 to 4, last night before 10,032 blizzard braving fans when Bep Guidolin scored with only six seconds to go in a game which the Hawks had tied after trailing 4 to 1 at the start of the third period.

The score came within two minutes after Guidolin had entered the stands with Pat Egan to engage in a series of fist fights with spectators.

Referee King Clancy, hooted during most of the game because of his apparent confusion, put Egan in the penalty box for two minutes for "high sticking," but assessed no penalty against Guidolin. Elated over the break, Guidolin played furiously and deserved the winning goal, scored just as Egan was returning to the ice.

Three Fights in Third Period.

The occasion on which the players entered the stands to attack apparently overheated Hawk partisans, was but one of three fights in the third period. Clancy assessed no penalties for the other two—in fact he called no penalties on Chicago thruout the entire game.

The sad outcome dropped the Hawks out of their fourth place tie with the Bruins and right now our fellows are not in the eligibility circle for the Stanley cup playoffs.

Going into the very rough final period the Hawks were trailing 4 to 1, their count being due to a solo by Clint Smith in 13:36 of the first period.

A goal by Fido Purpur, assisted by Johnny Gottselig and Cully Dahlstrom in 5:56 of the third period, shaved the Boston lead to 4 to 2.

Bentley Scores No. 3.

Shortly after Purpur's goal, Al Palazari drew the first penalty of the evening and while he was locked up Doug Bentley, assisted by Earl Seibert and George Allen, scored the Hawks' third goal in 7:42.

In 8:51, Gottselig took the puck from Mush March and Dahlstrom and sent a long backhanded shot past Goalie Bert Gardiner to tie the score at 4 all.

Each side battled hard with the aforesaid fights punctuating the proceedings. With Egan off, the Hawks pressed but the Bruins broke away just as the game seemed a certain tie. Bentley broke his stick and while he was going to the bench to get another one Guidolin, assisted by Norm Calladine and Herb Cain, broke the game and league tie.

Bruins Score Two in Hurry.

The game was going into the last five minutes of the opening period before the first score was accomplished. Then the Bruins scored twice in 29 seconds. Tommy Brennan, assisted by Guidolin and Clapper, broke the scoreless tie in 15:35 and Buzz Boll, assisted by Art Jackson and Cain, made it 2 to 0 at 16:04.

After listening to the fans hoot Referee Clancy during the first half of the second period, Smith gave the Hawks a chance for their first joyous hollering when he scored on a beautiful solo dash in 13:36. Then, in 14:32 of this second period, Russ Kopek, Allan Rittinger, and Clapper went down the rink in alignment and Kopek scored on a nice team maneuver.

The Bruins' fourth goal was made by Egan. Jackson and Cain both got assists on this one which was timed at 16:10. That made the score 4 to 1. You've been told the story the rest of the way.

The Old Order Passes.

Battles may be lost and empires fall to dust,
Yet honor be theirs who taste defeat,
When valor is judged by the compassion shown
The stricken foe who cringes at our feet.
The warrior, weary of the day's ordeal,
The stench of death, the endless miles of mud,
Feels but compassion for the hapless foe
Who meets his steel, and falls, and sheds his blood.

On such a basis were the old wars fought,
Ne'er for the weakling, yet, thru smoke and din
Some obscure corner of the battlefield oft' saw
And honor somehow managed to survive
These conflagrations, by the war gods fanned,
When the vanquished laid their smoking guns aside
And rose to clasp the victor's outstretched hand.

But that was a war, or two, away,
Before Bataan . . . or Lidice.

BOWEN JUNIORS BEATEN, 35-32, BY HYDE PARK

Overtime Battle Results in Seventh Victory.

The Hyde Park High junior basketball team defeated Bowen, 35 to 32, in an overtime game yesterday in the latter's gymnasium to take over second place in the south section City league race.

It was the seventh victory in eight starts for the Hyde Park quintet, while Bowen suffered its second loss in eight encounters.

Bowen led, 14 to 13, at half time, and a 13 point rally by Hyde Park in the third period gave the visitors a 26 to 20 advantage.

10 in Final Period.

Bowen came back to score 10 points in the final period while Hyde Park was being held to four to tie the count at the conclusion of the fourth period at 30 all.

The extra session was made necessary when Al Kurry scored the tying basket in the last 15 seconds of play. Hyde Park made five points to two for Bowen in the overtime.

Gage Park seniors scored three points in the last 40 seconds of play against Lindblom to hand the latter its first defeat in seven games.

Zubrzycki High Man.

Chester Zubrzycki scored a field goal and free throw for the three points, and was high point man with seven baskets and six free throws.

Farragut turned back Harrison, 30 to 26, to take the section lead with seven victories and one loss.

In a west section senior battle moved up from today, the Austin seniors triumphed, 38 to 33, over Crane Tech on the Austin floor for their seventh consecutive victory. Lineups:

FOOTBALL HAS PROVED WORTH, DECLARES ELIOT

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 10 [Special].—"Football proved its worth in 1943. There's no reason to doubt that it will do so again in 1944," Ray Eliot, head football coach at the University of Illinois, said today.

"In retrospect, victories, defeats, worries, and hardships of the 1943 football season fade into the background, especially when we realize the pattern we set and the lessons we learned about carrying on during war time."

"Many people predicted the end of football competition with advent of the war," Eliot said. "Others foresaw collapse in the game thru overmatching—service teams versus freshmen. Some schools dropped football for lack of material or other reasons.

Game Proves Importance.

"But, we kept going with the thought uppermost that if football is beneficial and stimulating to boys in peace time, it must be just as important in war time, regardless of obstacles. That has been proved to the satisfaction of every one.

"Games last season were interesting, aggressive, and spirited. The freshmen made up somewhat in spirit and determination what was lacking in experience. To be sure, lopsided scores occurred, but they happen every year and can't be classified entirely as products of a war time athletic program."

Coach Eliot listed three major objectives which football realized during 1943, factors which he says can be achieved again in 1944 regardless of war status. They are:

Those eligible athletes who went into service were in much better physical condition, perhaps six months ahead of the non-sports competitors in their training. Hundreds of athletes are bearing this out in every part of the world.

Opportunity To Play Provided.

The young men in school today were not deprived of opportunity to compete in college football.

Those schools which have remained true to the spirit of their programs of competitive athletics are helping to preserve a portion of the life for which both the athletes and the spectators are fighting—sports as a part of college life.

"When we consider these gains made in 1943, we can't view that season with anything but optimism. The true story is not in the record books," Eliot observes. "It's in the hearts of kids like 17 year old, 147 pound Eddie Bray and 158 pound Eddie McGovern, and their teammates over the nation who played the game with every ounce of energy in them."

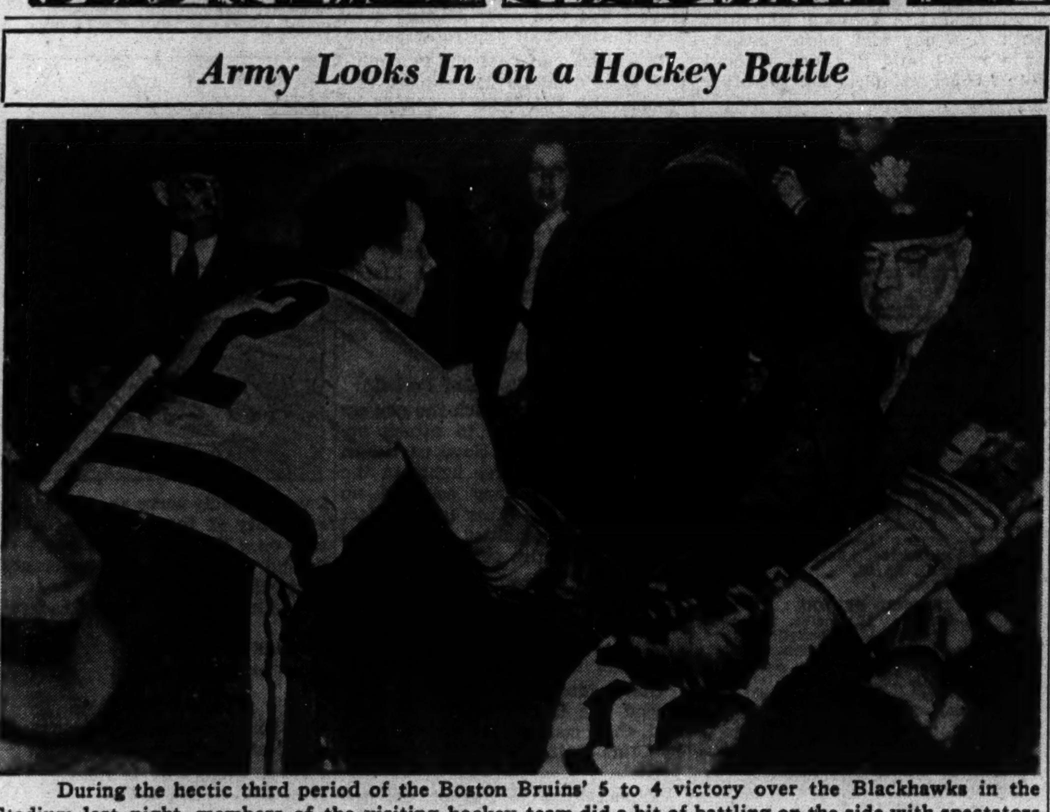
Army Looks In on a Hockey Battle



During the hectic third period of the Boston Bruins' 5 to 4 victory over the Blackhawks in the Stadium last night, members of the visiting hockey team did a bit of battling on the side with spectators in the stands. Here at left is Pat Egan and at right is Bep Guidolin in pursuit of a spectator who had swung at Pat, missed, and retreated. An army officer stands his ground. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

See Trouble for Adams and Elkhart Fives

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 10 [Special].—South Bend John Adams and Elkhart, linked in a tie for first place, will continue their quest for the eastern division basketball championship of the Northern Indiana High School conference tomorrow night, and if results fit the form sheet the two teams will meet here on Feb. 18 for the title.

However, Adams and Elkhart will play away from home and against teams which have shown vast improvement in recent games. Adams journeys to Nappanee and Elkhart travels to Goshen with observers predicting that the time is ripe for Goshen and Nappanee to deliver upsets. In the event Elkhart and Adams lose La Porte will join them again in a three way tie for first. La Porte, until Central whipped it last night, stood a chance to win or at least share the title.

Nappanee has proved strong in all home games this season, and Adams, forced to play without the services of Robert McIntyre, ace scoring guard who was inducted into the army this week, may find the host club a bit too tough to handle. Goshen, also potent at home, will seek to avenge a 35 to 25 defeat administered by Elkhart recently. South Bend Riley will entertain Michigan City in the final conference game scheduled tomorrow night.

Yale's 'Pudge' Now Follower of Baseball

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 10 (AP).—W. W. [Pudge] Heffelfinger, Yale's football star of more than a half century ago and now 76, confesses he has deserted the sport that brought him all-American recognition on Walter Camp's team in 1889 for baseball.

Pudge Heffelfinger.

Of course, he adds, he hasn't forgotten football, but he says he would "walk quite a ways" to see a baseball game—"a little farther than for a football game."

To see him now you would place him as a man in his late '50s or early '60s. He has plenty of vigor left — nearly as much as he had in 1916 when in helping Tad Jones point Yale for a coming game he laid out five men in three plays during a scrimmage.

Still Willing to Square Off.

"I'm a pretty old man," replied the former football great, "but I'm not afraid of you." The legislators refused to permit the pair to prove their claims.

Heffelfinger attributes his good health to sports activities as a youth and to his constant interest in them since. He has abandoned strenuous sports for hikes near his Lake Minnetonka home and for golf.

Interested in Politics.

Most of his time now, he says, is spent on the job as a county commissioner, a post he has held for 20 years. He's much interested in politics and is looking forward to this year's campaign even tho he's not seeking any office for himself. He tried for congress twice a few years back and failed — that was enough, he adds.

At Yale between 1888 and 1891, Heffelfinger was famous as the first guard in football to run interference from that position. Six feet, 3 inches tall and weighing 210 pounds, Heffelfinger's standout play brought him Camp's all-America designation three successive years, starting in 1889.

He had quite a record in other sports, too, and was the first at Yale to win major letters in four sports — crew, track, baseball, and football.

TAX BILL CURBS EVASIONS THRU CONSOLIDATION

Hits Mergers Made After Oct. 8, 1940.

BY EDWIN NICHOLS.

A jarring note has been introduced into some of the supposedly happy corporate unions of recent years by a provision of the new tax bill awaiting President Roosevelt's action. Some of these mergers, involving businesses wholly unrelated in their fields of activity, were believed to have been inspired by a desire to decrease tax liability either by reducing consolidated profits subject to tax or by increasing the invested property base for figuring the excess profits tax credit.

The new measure stipulates that tax deductions resulting from corporate control obtained after Oct. 8, 1940, will not be allowed "if the principal purpose of such acquisition is evasion or avoidance of federal income or excess profits taxes by securing the benefit of a deduction, credit, or other allowance" which the taxpayer otherwise would not enjoy.

Limitation Not Retroactive.

With the excess profits tax rate at 90 per cent [raised to 95 per cent in the new act], corporate mergers came into fairly wide use during 1942 and 1943 as a means of enlarging the tax credit base, causing comment that "the excess profits tax is making strange bedfellows." Now these matings, where tax deductions were the principal objective, instead of continuing as advantageous as originally expected, are in danger of turning out to be misalliances in some cases.

The new limitation on tax credits, however, even in the case of corporate control acquired after Oct. 8, 1940, will not be retroactive, according to present interpretations; that is, it would apply only to taxable years beginning after Dec. 31, 1943.

Inasmuch as tax returns are not public property, the effect of some of the mergers of recent years upon taxes of companies concerned cannot be determined, and the purpose of the mergers, in the absence of official explanations, can only be surmised.

Consolidated Dearborn Purchase.

One corporate alliance which attracted attention in this connection was the acquisition by Consolidated Dearborn corporation of the stock of Lear Avia, Inc., in April, 1943. Consolidated Dearborn, which originated as the Manhattan-Dearborn and Lawbeck corporations in Chicago, is a real estate investment company, with a relatively large invested capital base but generally unprofitable operations. Lear Avia is an aviation equipment and accessory manufacturing company with headquarters at Piqua, O., which had a net income of $2,561,000 in 1942. Its annual business volume at the time of Consolidated Dearborn's stock purchase was reported to be 25 to 30 million dollars.

Other realty company mergers attracted attention. During 1943, the 20 Wacker Drive Building corporation acquired the La Salle Industrial Finance corporation and Continental Industrial Engineers, Inc. Also during 1943, the General Finance corporation purchased all the common stock and a part of the preferred stock of 20 Wacker Drive Building corporation. In New York, an east side building corporation tied up with a Park av. building company.

Other Companies Acquired.

Commercial Investment Trust corporation, with lessened demand for its sales financing operations in the automobile and other fields, in 1942 purchased the Holtzer-Cabot Electric company, Boston, Mass., and the Micro Switch corporation, Freeport, Ill. Commercial Credit corporation likewise in that year bought approximately 100 per cent of the capital stocks of several manufacturing companies in different lines, largely engaged in war production. It paid $8,762,746 for a reported net worth on the books of $9,323,192.

GRAINS DECLINE AS SNOW BRINGS DROP IN DEMAND

A heavy snowfall over the winter wheat belt which preceded a cold wave and a resultant easing in the demand for cash wheat and oats brought about fairly general selling in late trading yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat broke ¾ to 1¼ cents a bushel from the top and closed ⅛ to ¾ cent lower. Rye was off ⅝ to 1⅛ cents. Oats declined ⅛ to ⅝ cent. Barley was ⅛ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher.

FARM BENEFITS HIKED.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10 (AP).—Benefit payments totalling 290 million dollars will be available this year to farmers who comply with recommended farming practices designed to increase acreage yields of food crops, pastures, and grazing lands. Last year's payments totaled 194 million.

Elevated, City Far Apart on Price for Line

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Discussions yesterday at a meeting of negotiating committees seeking a price at which the city would purchase the elevated lines were followed by an announcement that the prospective buyers and sellers were millions of dollars away from agreement.

Estimating roughly, the first offer by the city would have given the present investors about 5 million dollars to divide. A suggestion from representatives of the company, if accepted, would leave some 20 millions for the investors, perhaps more.

Depends on Purchase Price.

Mayor Kelly's plan for a merger of the elevated and surface lines with the Chicago Motor Coach company, to make a unified system under municipal ownership, has been described as depending on purchases of the properties at "reasonable commercial" prices.

The first bid for the L was 11 million dollars, with the company required to clear up or compromise tax delinquency of 8 millions or more and to pay other liabilities, which include a city claim of $1,700,000 for compensation. The investors were to keep the real estate, valued variously at from 1 to 3 millions.

Would Double City's Cost.

Altho the L representatives would not make a counter-offer, it was suggested at the meeting that if an offer of 18½ millions were made, with the L to be relieved of the back taxes and compensation claims, the negotiators would recommend acceptance by the investors. Experts figured this proposal would at least double the cost to the city.

The investor group indicated a belief that the cash on hand would be enough to pay current bills and reorganization expense, and that the city could clear away the back taxes at much less than the face value.

Status Is Indefinite.

Surface lines attorneys reported they still were engaged in investigation of the city's proposal that they sell for 83 million dollars; they had nothing definite in the way of a counter offer.

The negotiators are to report any progress to Federal District Judge Igoe today. Ald. Quinn [50th], who announced the apparent impasse with the L people, said that the council committee on local transportation would take up the matter Monday.

SWIFT'S SALES SET NEW HIGH NEAR 1½ BILLION

Sales of Swift & Co. in 1943 established a new record of $1,490,016,635, John Holmes, president, reported yesterday. Agricultural producers received 77.7 per cent as payments for farm commodities. Employes received 10.3 per cent compared with 9.8 per cent in 1942. Costs of supplies, transportation, taxes, and other expenses left earnings of 1.2 per cent, of which 0.6 per cent was reinvested in the business.

Average employment was about 72,500 persons. The total of wages and salaries was 10.6 per cent larger than that of 1942 and 37 per cent larger than the average for the last five years.

HOG PRICES STEADY, ALTHO ONLY HALF OF SUPPLY IS TRADED

Only slightly more than half of the hogs offered in the Chicago stock yards yesterday were sold. An estimated 34,000 head, including 17,000 held over from Wednesday, were in commission firms' pens at the start of trading. About 16,000 "government weights" were unsold at the close.

Most of the hogs brought steady prices, and a shortage of packing sows resulted in a slight price rise in that class.

Both the top and average prices remained unchanged at $13.75 and $13.40 a hundred pounds, with the $13.40 level equal to the highest average in six weeks. The top was paid mostly for best loads of 200 to 290 pounders, altho occasional lots up to 330 pounds reached the floor.

Cattle were unchanged and lambs were weak to 10 cents lower.

Rubber Firm's Sales at Peak; Profit Climbs

Record sales and substantially increased earnings were listed yesterday in the 1943 report of the United States Rubber company sent stockholders by F. B. Davis Jr., chairman. He said increased output of war products and essential civilian items in the company's own plants had boosted sales to $442,271,343, a volume 45 per cent above the 1942 figure.

Sales of six munitions and three synthetic rubber plants owned by the government and operated by the company were not included in the totals.

Net earnings were $14,163,554, equal to $5.09 a share on common stock, compared with $8,381,011 and $1.82 a share in 1942. Direct taxes totaled $59,193,095, against $26,473,955 the preceding year.

Westinghouse Sales Set Peak.

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company also set a new sales record last year and reported net profits of $22,355,300, equal to $6.97 a share on combined preferred and common stocks, against 1942 profits of $17,366,841, or $5.41 a share.

Chairman A. W. Robertson said sales billed were 47 per cent ahead of 1942 and amounted to $714,305,303 "after voluntary price reductions in line with our renegotiation agreement in 1942."

"Altho some 320 million dollars of war orders were canceled during 1943 due to changing conditions in the conduct of the war, $958,967,057 of new orders were entered on the company's books and at the end of the year the backlog of unfilled orders amounted to $885,708,065," Robertson said.

Backlog Enough For Year.

Evenly distributed thruout the company's plants, the unfilled orders would provide a little more than a year's work at the present rate of production, he said. The 1943 federal tax bill was $82,008,429, or 52 per cent more than in 1942. The company had 115,000 employes at the end of the year, against 97,000 in 1942, and 48,000 in 1939.

Sales of F. W. Woolworth company went to a new peak in 1943 for the fifth consecutive year and amounted to $439,009,003. The chain store system had net profits of $21,951,965, equal to $2.26 a share on common stock, compared with $23,538,739, or $2.43 a share in 1942. The report attributed the lower earnings to increased operating costs.

RailMen Deny Obstruction to Better Trains

Charges made in Washington yesterday by Assistant Atty. Gen. Berge that the western railroads thru joint action blocked technical progress and that the Pullman companies thru monopolistic tactics held up railroad improvements were denied yesterday by railway and Pullman executives in Chicago.

Charles E. Johnston, chairman of the Western Association of Railway Executives, said the Berge charges were an old story already answered by leaders of American railroading.

David A. Crawford, president of the Pullman company, asserted that his organization, far from restraining adoption of streamlined equipment, actually had pioneered its development and operation.

An official of a major railroad termed Berge's statement highly unethical, because it came at a time when the courts have the Pullman monopoly case.

Rivalry Suppressed in West.

Various railroad agreements and practices have "almost totally suppressed" competition west of the Mississippi river, curtailed new services and prevented rate reductions, Berge told a senate subcommittee which is studying war mobilization problems.

The justice department aid particularly attacked the so-called "western agreement" among lines operating west of the Mississippi. This agreement, he alleged, was entered into to avoid "practices which will dissipate railroads' earnings in the western district," and remained in force more than 10 years "when it was reputedly canceled by the signatory railroads after the department of justice, having just discovered its existence, addressed an inquiry to the western commissioner."

Berge further criticized the Pullman company for restraining "the adoption of new transportation equipment." Pullman did this, he said, by informing the Burlington and the Santa Fe it would refuse, in line with company policy, to operate any sleeping cars other than those of its own manufacture. The two railroads, he said, had ordered sleeping cars from the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company. Pullman agreed to operate cars already delivered, but blocked any further deliveries, he said.

Discussed Last Summer.

"The whole matter of the western commissioner agreement was gone into last summer in hearings before the senate committee on interstate commerce," Johnston said. "At that time similar charges were made by the anti-trust division of the department of justice which were completely answered by Director of Defense Transportation Eastman, R. V. Fletcher, vice president of the Association of American Railroads, and the statement of W. Averill Harriman, which was read into the record.

"The charge that the railroads have retarded technological development is wholly unfounded. Railroads led in the development and use of both air conditioned passenger equipment and streamlined lightweight passenger trains and diesel locomotives. The western agreement was merely the commissioner's outline to afford sound and orderly programs of improvement and resulted in promoting rather than retarding development."

Johnston said that when the validity of the contract was challenged last year it was promptly canceled.

Besides bringing out the first streamlined train, Crawford said that in a 10 year period, which included the depression, Pullman invested more than 80 million dollars in air conditioning, modernizing, and adding to its fleet. Of this amount, $47,191,625 was invested in 609 lightweight sleeping cars.

EMPLOYE-BOSS RELATIONS HELD ONLY WAR FLAW

The one sour note in the amazing war production record accomplished by labor and management is industrial relations, Ralph A. Bard, assistant secretary of the navy, said last night in a speech read by Rear Adm. Charles Fisher before the American Management association's conference on industrial relations in the Palmer House.

"My challenge to you is that victory is going to require a lot more courage, a lot more hard work, and a lot more industrial relation statesmanship," Bard said. "The greatest single need is more industrial relation brains."

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10 (AP).—Net income of Class 1 railroads in 1943 totaled $897,800,000, compared with $901,712,558 in 1942, the Association of American Railroads reported today.

ICKES' ARABIAN PIPE LINE IS HIT TWICE IN HOUSE

'Is It Global WPA?' Asks Rep. Fish.

BY LAURENCE BURD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Interior Secretary Ickes' plan to build a 1,250 mile oil pipe line in the middle east at taxpayers' expense was attacked in the house today by Rep. Fish [R., N. Y.]. He demanded that "not one dime be spent on this imperialistic project unless Ickes proves his case before congress."

Meanwhile, Rep. Rogers [R., Mass.] introduced a resolution calling for full disclosure from Ickes of the scope and purpose of the project, including benefits, if any, it will bring to the United States in the form of more petroleum products.

Fish charged Ickes made the deal for the pipe line, which would run from the Persian gulf to the Mediterranean, without any authority from congress, altho, he added, it will cost 130 to 165 million dollars, according to the secretary's own estimates. Fish said the project smacks of "national socialism or fascism."

"Is It Global WPA?"

"Members of congress are entitled to the facts about this," Fish told the house. "Is this part of the administration's new global WPA? Or is it secret diplomacy, or Ickes diplomacy, or dollar diplomacy?

"I ask why, if we are going to build a pipe line, we should build it in the Arabian sands instead of in this country, where one is needed? It sounds like an Arabian Night's dream—or perhaps just a pipe dream.

"The eastern seaboard is short of gasoline and oil. We need another pipe line from Texas to the east coast. I don't know how many Arabians will use Ickes' line, but I know 40 million Americans would benefit from another one in this country."

Result of Teheran Parley?

Fish suggested that the Persian project was conceived at the Teheran or Cairo conference and said, if so, that it is the only concrete announcement to come from those conferences, which, he added, were cloaked in mystery behind fences and armed guards.

The pipe line, Fish continued, will not increase the share of oil for war to be provided by England or Russia, because, he explained, it will carry petroleum from middle east reserves of three American oil companies.

Rep. Coffee [D., Wash.] reminded the house that Ickes' chief lieutenants on petroleum matters are former executives of large domestic oil companies.

Rep. Knutson [R., Minn.] entered the discussion, reminding the house that the army is throwing 130 million dollars into the Canol oil project in Canada. Then, in reference to the Persian line, he added, "Perhaps one damn fool action calls for another."

But Ickes Denounced That.

The house also was reminded by Rep. Crawford [R., Mich.] that Ickes denounced the Canol project, but "has turned around and launched his own foreign oil development in the same mysterious manner."

The pipe line project was assailed in the senate yesterday and Ickes is scheduled to appear before a senate interstate commerce subcommittee next Tuesday for questioning about it. At his press conference today Ickes refused to discuss the transaction, but said Sen. Moore [R., Okla.], a member of the committee who has criticized it, should disqualify himself from the hearing because "he has already "tried and convicted me."

Today's house discussion came up in connection with a bill which would authorize Ickes to have an additional assistant secretary at $9,000 a year. He now has one undersecretary and two assistants. A vote was delayed until the next house session Monday.

Western Electric Leases Part of Eau Claire Plant

The Western Electric company, which several weeks ago took over a plant at Lincoln, Neb., to expand production of the war communications equipment being turned out in its Chicago and other plants, yesterday announced the leasing of part of the Eau Claire, Wis., ordnance plant, where the manufacture of munitions was discontinued late last year. The step was planned to expand farther the company's production capacity.

Sykes Urges Relaxed Price Controls to Prevent Inflation

Wilfred Sykes.

Wilfred Sykes, president of the Inland Steel company, yesterday warned "we will have inflation unless the administration devotes itself to sound economics rather than to keeping an eye on the forthcoming election." Sykes spoke before a luncheon of the Steel Founders' Society of America in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

The administration must call a halt to further demands of pressure groups instead of trying to cover up its submission by a confusion of statements, he said.

Burden on New Deal.

"If we have inflation it will be the sole responsibility of the administration," he asserted. "We are now so completely regulated in all our private and business lives that it would be disastrous to immediately eliminate all restrictions. To prevent inflation price controls must be relaxed gradually until the supply of goods can approximate the demand. But when that point has been reached, then all restrictions should and must be ended.

"We may have reasonable doubts as to the administration's ability to prevent post-war inflation. We have been fed the false and deceitful 'no strike' pledges by the AFL and the CIO as a basis of government labor policy. Perhaps policy is not the right word, as that conveys the impression of some definite line of action.

Tells of Mishandled Cases.

"The administration has displayed nothing but incompetence in its handling of this problem. I have only to remind you of the administration's handling of the coal situation, the railroad wage cases, and the question of retroactive pay for steel workers. In all cases the President has taken about the most effective course to destroy any authority of the boards he has appointed.

"But in wages, as goes steel so will the nation. All industry soon will follow the same path, and prices must rise."

Commenting on free enterprise and the tax structure, Sykes said earnings put back into business should be at least substantially free from taxation.

"They create more jobs not only by the expenditure of such sums for capital goods but the increased facilities create more permanent employment," he said. "The survival of the small business man depends on his right to retain and preserve the fruits of his labor."

U.S. Recruits Labor for Job Losing Area

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 10 [Special].—Attention was attracted here today to the paradox of federal agencies spending public money to recruit labor for San Francisco navy yards at a time when unemployment is increasing in California.

Also in contradiction to the situation here was the assertion of Rear Adm. E. S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission, in Washington, D. C., today that man power shortages and job turnover among experienced workers threaten defeat of 1944 ship production goals.

This was especially confusing here when put alongside recent disclosures that bay area ship yards had discharged 3,000 employes in the last month. Henry Kaiser's Richmond ship yards reported that 12,000 of 90,000 workers will have to shift jobs and that half of the first 3,000 interviewed had quit.

Charges Man Power Wastes.

The CIO International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's union charged last week in a letter to President Roosevelt that "there is great inefficiency and waste of man power" in the Oakland naval supply depot.

Figures concerning unemployment in the state, existing in the midst of the government labor recruitment, were provided by the state department of employment in a report to Gov. Warren.

The report said that unemployment insurance benefits paid in the state had increased 48 per cent in the month of December, for a total of $494,287, nearly $160,000 more than was collected during that month. In San Francisco the number of new claims for unemployment insurance benefits jumped 57 per cent in January. In Oakland, across the bay, the claims leaped 102 per cent.

Blames It on Square Pegs.

Floyd Byrnes, head of the United States employment service here, thru which all workers must get clearance before obtaining new jobs, said:

"It's a case of too many square pegs trying to fit into round holes. There are jobs here for everybody, but not the kind of jobs to satisfy everybody."

His view that more workers are leaving the bay area than are coming in was also held by Harry Kranz, regional director of the United States civil service commission. Kranz is engaged in a nationwide labor recruiting campaign for the navy yards at Hunters Point, Mare Island, Alameda air station, and Terminal Island in Southern California.

WMC'S DRAFT POLICY ON WOODCUTTERS IS ASSAILED AT HEARING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—The house military affairs committee was told today that the war man power commission has refused to order deferments for woodcutters to relieve the paper shortage because WMC officials believe such action would send too many cutters into the woods.

This report on WMC's position was made by E. W. Tinker, executive secretary of the American Pulp and Paper association. He said his organization has repeatedly emphasized to WMC the growing seriousness of the paper shortage, but has received little response.

The committee is holding hearings on a bill by Rep. Philbin [D., Mass.] to require draft deferments for all persons engaged in timber cutting and other logging operations as a move to increase paper supplies for military and other essential uses.

Tinker said the WMC has taken the "peculiar" position of ruling that pulpwood production [for paper products] is essential as an industry and at the same time failing to hold that woodcutters deserve deferments as essential workers.

ACT TO BOOST U. S. IMPORT OF RUSSIAN PULP

New York, Feb. 10 (AP).—The American Newspaper Publishers' association reported today it had been informed by the war production board that all efforts were being made to obtain more pulpwood from Russia to ease the paper shortage.

The A. N. P. A. said Harold Boeschenstein, head of the WPB forest products bureau, had advised that:

"We are doing all we can to get more pulpwood and more lumber and we are satisfied the Russians are eager to send us all they can. The problem is an entirely practical one of labor shortage."

CHICAGO PLANT OF ALCOA WILL BOOST OUTPUT

More Steel?

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10 (AP).—The war production board was reported tonight to have allotted at least 25 per cent more steel for civilian use in the second quarter of the year than in the present quarter. The increase will be used to "produce more of the consumed goods which are now permitted, but scarce," informed officials said.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Production at the aluminum rolling mill near La Grange, Ill., operated by the Aluminum Company of America, will be increased substantially to provide the light metal "skin" needed in the expanded aircraft program, Philip D. Wilson, director of the war production board's aluminum and magnesium division, said today. He also urged workers in aluminum sheet mills thruout the country to remain at their jobs and increase their output.

"We need much more aluminum sheet," Wilson said in dissipating rumors of a surplus and forthcoming curtailments in production. "The new mill near Chicago will have a lot of work and I urge Chicagoans not to hesitate in taking jobs at the plant. Later in the year we may have to use the full capacity of the plant. The man power need at the mill is large.

Needs Are Emphasized.

Wilson warned aluminum sheet producers that their output must be stepped up if this year's requirements of the aircraft program are to be met. He emphasized that the airframe weight scheduled for production this year is 60 per cent ahead of the 1943 program.

"Just because there has been a reduction in aluminum pig [raw metal] production, a misunderstanding has arisen concerning our need for sheet," he said. "This is unfortunate, since there is no surplus in sheet. It is essential that steps be taken not only to meet current increases in sheet requirements but also to prepare for greatly expanded requirements of this product expected later in the year."

Mills' Supplies Are Low.

Wilson referred to the recent closing of 18 aluminum ingot production lines. He said reports of these shutdowns led to false reports that there is an oversupply of fabricated aluminum products. He said there is no surplus of the sheets, forgings, and other aluminum items needed in the military program.

Wilson said mill inventories of sheet aluminum amount to less than 15 days' supplies at the present rate of consumption. No report is available on the supply of sheets in the hands of consumers, such as aircraft plants.

Spiking reports that more copper would be released to civilian production, the combined raw materials board, an offshoot of the WPB, urged that restrictions on copper consumption be retained.

The board's warning against cutting copper production was interpreted by WPB as assurance that marginal mines would not be closed.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR RAILS RUNS STOCKS HIGHER

Pleasing Profit Reports Support Carriers.

New York, Feb. 10 (AP).—Rail stocks were favorites in today's market advance altho a few utilities and scattered industrial specialties managed to move higher.

Carriers, buoyed by pleasing 1943 income statements, debt reductions, and optimism regarding dividends, were in front at the start and, attracting wider and faster bidding in the final hour, finished with gains of fractions to more than a point.

Early buying reluctance in most cases was attributed to thoughts of important foreign developments over the coming lengthy week-end—major markets will recess Saturday for the Lincoln's birthday holiday—and the cloudy domestic situation. A little short covering served as a prop, based on the idea the recent substantial decline may turn into a rebound on worthwhile news.

RAIL BONDS RISE STEEPLY.

New York, Feb. 10 (AP).—Secondary rail bonds made another series of fairly steep advances in today's market, many popular issues climbing fractions to more than 3 points.

Rail bonds as measured by the Associated Press average were up 0.5 at 84.7, the highest level since the fall of 1937. Activity picked up with increasing bidding and turnover had a face value of $19,475,200 against $17,098,200 yesterday.

Prominent were Chicago and Alton 3s, up 1⅝ at 28½ on sales of $967,000 par value. Heavily dealt in were loans of the Milwaukee road, up fractions to 1½ points, of the Missouri Pacific, which showed fractional gains, and of the Baltimore and Ohio with gains of 2 to 3¼ points.

CHICAGO LIST RISES.

Five new 1943-'44 peaks were registered as prices moved higher on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Issues at new highs were: Consumers Company A, up 1; Consumers company B, up ⅛; Northwest Bancorporation up ¾; Wisconsin Bankshares, up ¼; Muskegon Motor Specialties A, up 2.
